One finds complete peace as both the aspects of birth and death come to an end with Waheguru's Naam. 1.
With continuous pondering on Waheguru's Naam, I have found out that Waheguru's worship is supreme and perfect (to be one with Him). All other means are incomplete (unsuccessful) without Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 2.62.85.

Waheguru, the Guru, and Waheguru's Naam are all eternal. I sing praise of the immortal Waheguru with deep love and reverence. 1. Waheguru is physically inaccessible, incomprehensible, and is the basis of all hearts (living beings); nobody can find the end to His limits. Sing praise of the Lord, whose ends are not known, oh Nanak. 2.63.86.

I love the Guru, and He likes me; He has severed all my worldly bonds and enabled me to connect with Waheguru by meditating on His Naam. My precious human life has been purified, and all my wishes have been fulfilled. 1.
The individual, whom Waheguru is kind to, sings His praise. I am a sacrifice for my Waheguru, and I sing His praise all day and night, oh Nanak. 2.64. 87.

MEANING: I consider my life to be successful only if I have had Waheguru's sight. Please, be kind to me, and show me Your holy sight by erasing the line of my illusions in my fate, oh, my beloved and mind-captivating Waheguru. Pause.

No peace is produced (I do not acquire any peace of mind) by simply uttering Your Naam and listening to it in a ritualistic way; there is no spiritual achievement without love and reverence for You, oh Lord. Disregarding Waheguru, those who wish for other luxuries of life have their faces blackened (they incur disgrace). 1.
The devotee, who has the wealth of the Naam of Waheguru, which is the source of all comforts, does not recognize any other faith. He is captivated by the holy sight of Waheguru and stays fully absorbed in Him. Waheguru especially fulfills all his needs, oh Nanak. 2.65.88.

All other knowledge without Waheguru is hollow, and the efforts to achieve it become worthless; they rather tighten one's bonds with Maya. On the other hand, the individual who worships Waheguru with a fully focused mind enjoys all comforts and achieves freedom from the suffering of rebirths. 1. I have come to Your shelter; kindly donate me the gift of Your Naam, oh the Perfect and the source of all comforts, Waheguru. I survive by reciting Waheguru's Naam, and because of this, my ego has been eradicated, oh Nanak. 2.66.89.

MEANING: Only that person is truly wise who develops attachment for the origin of everything, Waheguru. Only that person is the true leader and truly wealthy who becomes intoxicated with the love for Waheguru. Pause.

But the individual who does not realize his true benefit (which is spirituality, and not wealth) and deceives people is not wise; he is, in fact, foolish. Such an individual does not remember the attractive Waheguru, and, ignoring his true objective, he engages in affairs which are against his real interests (union with Waheguru). 1.

Only that individual is shrewd, intelligent, educated, valiant (who fights against the five demons), and wise, who recites Waheguru's Naam in the company of the Guru. Also, he is approved by Waheguru, oh Nanak. 2.67.90.

They accumulate the wealth and the jewels of Waheguru's Naam, which they stitch to their body and mind (never forget). They dye their mind madder red (which never fades) with their love for Waheguru, and stay intoxicated (blissful) with Waheguru's sweet Naam. 1. They stay deeply absorbed in Waheguru's Naam like the fish which is engrossed in the enjoyment of water. Just like the rain-bird, which gets contentment only by drinking the first rain-drop, Waheguru's devotees get contentment only after drinking a drop of Waheguru's Naam-Amrit, oh Nanak. 2.68.91.

MEANING: Without Waheguru's Naam, the man behaves like a ghoul (which has no spirituality). Whatever he does or has done binds him more strongly to Maya. Pause.
By serving (worshipping) anyone other than Waheguru, his life is spent in vain. He does not realize what (sad) situation he will be in when the Angel of Death takes his life away. 1.
I am Your slave, kindly, protect me (from the attacks of Maya), oh the compassionate Waheguru, which You always are. My Waheguru is the treasure (source) of all comforts, and the company of the Guru is my wealth and property. 2.69.92.

They listen to Waheguru's praise with their ears, and recite His Naam – this is the character (routine) of the holy saints. Waheguru's lotus-like Feet are (His Naam is) permanently present in their heart, which they worship, and which is the basis of their life. 1.
You are very kind to the weak, so please, be benevolent to me, and listen to my (Nanak's) prayer. I wish that I should always recite Your Naam – which is the treasure for me – and sacrifice myself for You, oh, Waheguru. 2.70.93.

They do not develop any love for Waheguru, but love wealth so much that they accumulate it by using countless (all possible) means. But, like the earthen vessel used to hold water, which can break at any time, it does not take any time for the man to die (and leave wealth behind). 1. I, Nanak, am in Your shelter, and do not recognize anybody other than You, oh Waheguru. I survive (my mind blooms) by listening to the praise of the individual who is a devotee only of Waheguru, and serves Him like a slave (obeys His Will without any complaint). I make efforts to have Waheguru's Sight, but that happens only with His benevolence. 1.

I can have His Sight only with the grace of the Guru, and will not recognize anybody else. I am Waheguru's slave, and pray to Him that He gives me the gift of the opportunity to wash the feet of the Guru (serve Him with love and reverence), oh Nanak. 2.74.97.

MEANING: I survive by singing Waheguru's praise, and pray to Him that He becomes kind to me so that I never forget Him. Pause.
My mind, body, and wealth are all given by You, and there is no other shelter for me. I pray to You that I should lead my life the way You please, and be fully content to eat and wear what You provide, oh Waheguru. 1. I am a sacrifice for the company of the Guru because of which one does not take rebirths.
I am Guru's slave, and have come to His shelter; I will be happy the way He runs my life (guides me in life), oh Nanak. 2.75.98.

MEANING: Waheguru's Naam is the source of supreme bliss, oh my mind. All other rituals are worthless, rooted in Maya and as useless as dust. Pause.
One's attachment to his household is like a deep and dark pit of Maya in which he becomes immoral while enjoying sensual pleasures, and which becomes the basis of the immensely dark hell. He gets exhausted by going through countless life forms again and again. 1.
With folded hands, I pray to Waheguru, who loves His worship (devotees), and who purifies the immoral, to be kind to the humble me, and to salvage me in the shelter of the Guru, oh Nanak. 2.76. 99.

All my wishes have been fulfilled, the fire of my desires has been put out, and all my griefs and sufferings have ended. My mind, body, and soul have been contented by singing praise of the immortal Waheguru. 1.

The intoxication of my wealth, my lust, rage, greed, and my jealousy for others has all been eradicated in the shelter of the Guru. The lover of His worship (worshippers), and the destroyer of all fears – Waheguru- is my mother and my father now, oh Nanak. 2.77.100.

Word Meaning: Aatur(u) = in suffering. Triput(i) = contented. Kookri = dog-like. It(u) Bikhiya = these poisonous wishes. Chhaar = dust-like; worthless. Pause. Ttugauri = mind-captivating. Aap(i) = (Waheguru) Himself. Bhoolaayo = misled. Baaro Baar = again, and again. Simrun(u) = remembering. Jum Kunkur = assistants of the Angel of death. Khooaar = humiliates. 1. Deen = helpless. Dookh-Bhunjun = the destroyer of all troubles (God). Ravaar = dust of the feet. Daas(u) = slave; devotee. Ders(u) = Sight. Jaachaiy = begs for. Ravaar = dust of the feet. 2.

MEANING: The world suffers without Waheguru's Naam. Man is greedy like a dog, and his poisonous worldly wishes never get fulfilled, and he continues to be attracted to them, which are as worthless as dust. Pause.

But it is not entirely man's fault because Waheguru Himself has misled him by subjecting him to the magic of the mind-captivating Maya, which results in his taking rebirths again and again. He does not recite Waheguru's Naam – not even for a moment – as a result of which he suffers humiliation at the hands of the assistants of the Angel of death. 1.

Please, be kind to this slave of Yours, and grant me the opportunity to serve Your holy saints like a slave, oh, the destroyer of all suffering, Waheguru. I, Nanak, am a slave of Yours, and beg for Your holy sight, which is the basis of my body and mind, oh Lord. 2.78.101.

Word Meaning: Maiyla = filthy. Bhoolaaya = misled. Bikhaiy Tthugauri = the mind-captivating poisonous Maya. Peaou = by feeding. Pause. Bhermutau = wandering through. Buhou Bhaati = in many ways (forms). Thit(i) = stability; peace. Nuhhi Kub-hoon = never. Sehj(i) = in a peaceful state. Bhaytiya = met; got connected with. Shaakut(u) = Maya-worshipper. 1. Sumruth = omnipotent. Daatay = oh, the Provider. Agumm = inaccessible. Apaar = endless. Bhuvjul = the world-sea. 2.

MEANING: Without Waheguru's Naam, man's soul (mind) is filthy. But he cannot be fully blamed for his filthy thinking, because Waheguru misleads him by feeding him the poisonous, mind-captivating attractions of Maya. Pause.

He wanders through countless life forms and never achieves stability (peace by connecting with Waheguru). The Maya-worshipper never connects with the Guru in his peaceful state of mind and continues to be born and to die. 1.

I have come to the shelter of the omnipotent, the inaccessible, and the endless Waheguru with the supplication that He protects me in every which way. I, Nanak, am Your slave, and have come to Your shelter to be ferried across the world-sea, oh Waheguru. 2.79. 102.

Word Meaning: Rumun Kuou = to recite (sing). Goon Baad = chanting of virtues. Sooaad = enjoy taste. Pause. Achoot Abinaashi = immortal. Binsay = ended. Maad = intoxication. Sehj = peacefulness. Unhud Dhoon(i) = Divine music. Bikhaad = disputes; conflicts. 1. Sunkaadik = like Sunuk (the four sons of Brahma). Brahmaadik = like Brahma. Sook = a sage. Prehlaad = a child devotee of Waheguru. Amiyo = Amrit. Munohar = mind-captivating. Bismaad = amazement. 2.

MEANING: There is only one thing to sing and to discuss - and that is Waheguru's virtues (His gifts) - for which the company of the Guru is the perfect place where the sweetness of Waheguru's Amrit Naam can be enjoyed. Pause.

By remembering only the immortal Waheguru (reciting His Naam), one overcomes the intoxication (ego) of the enjoyments of Maya (gets his worldly desires eradicated). One attains a high spiritual state, feels blissful, and feels as if he is listening to an auto-playing Divine melody. Also, his internal conflicts are fully resolved, and he never suffers from them again.1.

All four sons of Brahma, and gods like Brahma, sing Waheguru's praise, and so do the Sage, Sook, and the child devotee, Prehlad. By drinking the mind-captivating sweet Naam-Amrit of Waheguru, and reciting it, I am lost in the state of amazement, oh Nanak. 2.80.103.

Word Meaning: Koat = forts; heaps. Raiyni = nights. Thukut = exhaust. Chhoat = emancipation. Pause. Bujjur = rock; mountain. Bikh = (spiritually) poisonous. Biyaadhi = ailments. Poat = package. Ooghur Guyyiyaan = came to the surface. Khineh(i) Bheetur(i) = in a moment. Jumeh(i) = the Angel of death. Graasay = grabbed. Jhoat = hair. 1. Pusoo = animals. Prayt = evil spirit. Oosht = camel. Gerdhubh = donkey. Layt = suffers humiliation. Bhuj(u) = remember. Phayt = hurt; punishment. 2.

MEANING: The man commits heaps of sins, and he never gets tired of committing them day and night, from which he cannot ever find emancipation. Pause.

He carries a mountain-like load of the poisonous Maya's sins, like a fatal illness. All his secret sins come to the surface as soon as the Angel of Death grabs him by the hair. 1.

He suffers humiliation as he wanders among countless animal life forms, evil spirits, camels, donkeys, and others. So, recite Waheguru's Naam in the shelter of the Guru, and you will never suffer any such punishment, oh Nanak. 2.81.104.

Word Meaning: Bisoo = poisonous (Maya). Gutaak = swallows. Servun = ears. Hootiyo = get tired. Tut Ghaat = that moment. Pause. Anaath = helpless. Runjaan(i) = by hurting. Oodur = belly; stomach. Pokheh(i) = nourishes. Guyyiya Haat(i) = recedes; goes away; quits company. Kilbikh = sins. Puchhutaaveh(i) = repents. Chhaant(i) = drop; quit. 1. Ninduk(u) = vilifier; slanderer. Jumdooteen = assistants of the Angel of death. Sunghaariyo = kill; grab. Moond Oopur(i) = on the head. Mutaak = hit. Kutaari = knife. Phaat = to injure.

MEANING: The spiritually blind man gulps (wastes no time to lavishly enjoy) the poisonous sensual pleasures to the extent that his eyes, ears, and his body, all get tired of such enjoyments, and he loses his breath at that moment (he enjoys until his death). Pause.

He nourishes his body by hurting (looting) the helpless, and even that wealth leaves him at the end. He commits sins and repents, but cannot quit committing such sins. 1.

Eventually, the villain is killed by the agents of death when they hit him on the head. Such a person injures his mind with his own knife (immoral acts), oh Nanak. 2.82.105.

Word Meaning: Tooti = is terminated; is not fulfilled. Ninduk = vilifier. Udh Beech = in the middle. Baymookh = who does not listen to the Guru. Aayay Puhounchi = arrives. Meech = (spiritual) death. Pause. Na Baiysun(u) Paavaiy = is not welcome. Eehaan = here; in this world. Aagaiy = in the next world. Bhoonchaiy = bears the consequences. Bhemaavaiy = is taken through. 1. Pergut Bhuyya = becomes infamous. Khundeen Brahmundeean = in the whole universe. Paaya = reaps the rewards. Anund Mungul = blissfulness, and joyfulness. 2.

MEANING: Waheguru is the guardian of His devotee; the vilifier, who does not recognize the greatness of the Guru, meets with his spiritual death. His wish to vilify the Guru is never successful, and his hopes are terminated in the middle. Pause.

Nobody listens to what he says, and he is not welcome anywhere. He suffers in this world and suffers in hell as he is taken through many life forms in the next world. 1.

He becomes infamous in the whole universe and reaps the rewards of his sinful deeds. I have come to the shelter of the Fearless Creator, and feel the bliss and joy by singing His praise, oh Nanak. 2.83.106.

Sehj(u) = high spiritual state. Oopjiyo = acquires; attains. Biyohaar(i) = nature. App Per Ka = his own (useful), and of others (harmful). Kaam = lust. Kroadheh(i) = in rage. Jaar(i) = burns; suffers heartache. 1. Biyaapiyo = affects. Taar(i) = salvage. Churn Kumul = Waheguru (His Naam). Bulohaar(i) = sacrifice. 2.

MEANING: Man's fire of desires affects him in many different ways, but his desires never get fulfilled by any means, and he has to lose in the end. Pause.

With the fire of desires burning in his mind, he never attains peace, comforts, or a high spiritual state. This is the nature of human desires (how they work). Under their influence, the man is unable to distinguish between what truly is his (useful for him - Waheguru) and what is not his (harmful for him - Maya); he just burns in the fire of lust and rage. 1.

The world of Maya is the source of all discomforts, so I have come to the shelter of Waheguru, who has lotus-like feet; as His slave, I pray to Him that He ferry me across the world-sea. I am always a sacrifice for Him, oh Nanak. 2.84.107.

The limitless Lord of everybody is fully present in the waters, on the land, and in the sky. I have drunk (taken in) Waheguru's Naam-Amrit, and find all other perceived sweet tastes to be actually bitter, oh Nanak. 2.96.119.

The sins of those who recite Waheguru's Naam in the company of the Guru get destroyed. They are highly fortunate, and their birth into the world is successful (welcomed) as they merge with Waheguru. 1. Some people wish for the four valuable substances and the 18 supernatural powers, but the holy saints are above all such petty things. I am a slave of such holy saints and wish for the dust of their feet (to serve them humbly) because one finds salvation by taking their shelter, oh Nanak. 2.97.120.

You are limitless, and Your transcendence cannot be comprehended, oh Lord. My mind has been pierced with the deep affection and reverence for Waheguru's Feet (Naam), which I have enshrined in my heart, considering it my complete wealth. 1.

The Vedas, the Puranas, and the Simritis emphasize the holy Shabad (Waheguru's Naam), and the holy saints recite it with their tongue. One swims across the world-sea by reciting the Naam; all other advice on this subject is worthless, oh Nanak. 2.98.121.

I have noticed your nature with my own eyes that you do not stay at any one place. You have not spared anyone (from exhorting them to commit immoral acts) other than the holy saints who are in the shelter of Waheguru. 1. You have captivated all the living beings; only the holy saints comprehend the reality of your nature. With His benevolence, Waheguru has embraced me as His own, and a strong yearning for His holy sight has sprouted in my mind. By singing His praise in the company of the Guru, all my expectations from any other have been crushed (ended). 1.

The Guru has pulled me out of the wilderness of the world-forest (where I was spiritually lost), and has put me on the path leading to union with Waheguru. (With Guru's grace), I have acquired the jewel-like Waheguru, and all my sins have run away with Waheguru's holy sight, oh Nanak. 2.100.123.

Now, Waheguru is life, pride, dignity, father, sons, close relatives, wealth, and everything, for me. The human body, which is made of bones, is shameful and is like a worm of feces which recognizes any other power than Waheguru. 1.

Because of my previous attachment with Waheguru, the destroyer of all suffering, Lord, became kind to the humble me. I have come to the shelter of Waheguru, the treasure and

All one's sins are washed away with the thought of Waheguru's holy sight. The sprouting of immoral acts, which keep him in the cycle of births and deaths, is destroyed. 1.

But some rare devotee, who has it prewritten in his fate, sings praise of the Creator and the eternal Waheguru, oh Nanak. 2.102.125.

So, the man should worship (sing praise of) the Lord in the shelter of the Guru (or the holy saints) when all his sins get destroyed disgracefully. A devotee, who embeds Waheguru's lotus-like Feet (His Naam) in his heart, does not suffer from births and deaths again. 1.

Niyaaro = fully detached. Maatung = elephant. Mut(i) Ahunkaar = egoistic thinking. 3. Ker Joar(i) = with folded (clasped) hands. Purakh = living power. Apaar = endless. 4.

MEANING: Recite Waheguru's Naam; all other ritualistic deeds are worthless, oh man. Man's fire of his ego and his worldly attachments does not go out, and the world is always in the jaws of spiritual death. Pause.

The life of the unaware man is spent in eating, drinking, laughing (enjoying), and sleeping. (Because of his such behaviour), He is taken care of by the Angel of death, and he burns in the fire of hell-like womb of his mother when he wanders through many life forms. 1.

Ignoring everything else, He commits sins and performs ignoble deeds like defrauding and vilifying others. Without Satguru, he does not realize the grave darkness of his rage (jealousy) and his worldly attachments. 2.

He is robbed of his noble qualities under the influence of the mind-captivating, poisonous Maya, and never thinks of the Creator (Waheguru). With egoistic thinking, the man behaves like a swollen-headed elephant and does not realize that Waheguru is hidden in his body and is fully detached from worldly affairs. 3.

Waheguru's Naam is the basis of the life of holy saints, and Waheguru protects them fully with His benevolence. With folded hands (very humbly), I, too, have come to the shelter of the living power of the limitless Waheguru, oh Nanak. 4.1.129.

MEANING: You have become a slave to sensual pleasures; you should rather sing Waheguru's praise, which has priceless virtues, oh my soul. Just think what you will achieve when you worship Waheguru with Guru's Shabad! You will reach Waheguru's Residence (get connected with Him), and enjoy the great bliss of union with Him in His love! Pause. The world is like a dream, and all your possessions are false (short-lived). Why have you been captivated by your worldly attachments, oh my friend? Enshrine the love for the Dear (Waheguru) in your heart. 1.

Waheguru is always very kind and loves His whole creation. Why should we take an interest in anything else? We should stay intoxicated only in the love for Waheguru. When we have the fortune to join the company of the Guru, we sing Waheguru's praise, while meeting with the Angel of death becomes a thing of the past, oh Nanak. 2.1.130.

MEANING: People donate lots of gold and land (to undeserving people), and cleanse their bodies in countless different ways to purify their mind (with the belief that they will go to paradise), but no such deed comes even close to Waheguru's Naam, which one recites with affection. Pause. Some people recite all four Vedas with their tongue (from memory), listen to the 18 Puranas, and the six Shastras, but nothing can match the sweet sound of Waheguru's Naam when recited with deep love for Him. 1.

No personal commitment like fasting, three-time worship of idols, physical purity, going without food, preparing one's own meals without allowing anyone to touch them, rotating one's veins to keep the bowl clean, offering incense and flowers to the idol, and other related deeds carry no value in comparison to Waheguru's Naam. I humbly pray to Waheguru, who is kind to the helpless, that He shows me His holy Sight, which I may enjoy with my eyes. I am His slave, and find His Naam to be very sweet, oh Nanak. 2.2.131.

MEANING: Chant Waheguru's Naam, and enshrine it in your heart, oh my friend. Pause. Listening to Waheguru and reciting His Naam are the true deeds of atonement for the countless sins one commits. Taking the Guru's shelter makes one forsake one's egoistic glamour. 1. To express one's love for Waheguru's Naam all the time is the most pious deed among all the holy deeds, and it dispels all the worldly fears of the devotee and burns down all his sins. Those who make singing Waheguru's praise and listening to it part of their lifestyle become free from rebirths. Waheguru's Naam is the source of the supreme bliss, all well-being, comforts, and peace of mind. One has no fear (or worry) of the Angel of death when he remembers the omniscient Waheguru. It seduces people with its seductive behaviour when they feel that they are listening to the melodious clinking of the anklets of Maya with voluptuous beauty. MEANING: How can my mind find peace without Waheguru's Naam? If one firmly establishes His Naam in his heart, his sufferings over millions of eons are destroyed. Pause.

When one longs for His Naam, the holy Waheguru becomes His companion, and all his other worldly fears run away. One's love for Waheguru never fades and remains fresh, as his bad qualities, such as rage and worldly attachments, are burned away (eradicated). 1.

When one gives up his fickle thinking and acquires Waheguru, which is the destroyer of all fears in his heart, by focusing his mind on His Naam with Guru's Shabad, his thirst for all kinds of worldly substances is satisfied as he tastes Waheguru's sweet Naam, and Waheguru connects such a highly fortunate devotee with Him. 2.

Pondering on Guru's Shabad, all my fears and misgivings have been eradicated, and I do not acknowledge anyone else like Waheguru. 5. With the Advice of the Guru, I have realized the high spiritual state by killing the desires of my mind, which is greatly imbued in the sweetness of Waheguru's Naam. Now, I do not recognize any other power (god, or goddess) to be like Him. 6.
With the Advice of the Guru, I have made a connection with the "One" Waheguru, which is inaccessible, incomprehensible, and orphan (is not born out of any parents), and which never takes any living form. With my senses fully satisfied, my mind does not waver anymore and is pleased with itself. 7.
With Satguru's grace, I describe (sing) the virtues of the indescribable Waheguru, and say only those words in His praise which He makes me say. My Waheguru is always kind to the humble; I do not recognize any other power, oh Nanak. 8.2.

Word Meaning: Vudaayi = respect; dignity. Jaana = recognize. Mookt(u) Gut(i) = spiritual state of emancipation. Pause. Bhuou-Bhunjun = destroyer of fears. Jumkaal-Nikhunjun(u) = destroyer of death. Sayti = with. Liv Laayi = made connection by meditating. Jaata = recognized; made connection with. Sehjay = in the high spiritual state. 1. Bhojun(u) = meals. Nirunjun = above the effects of Maya (God). Pehnun = clothing. Nij Ghur(u) = one's real home (at Waheguru's Feet). Sayvin = serve. Sobha = praise; respect. 2. Munmukh(i) = follower of own mind. Boodh(i) Kaachi = shallow (low) wisdom. Dolaiy = wavers. Akuth(u) = indescribable. Kuhaani = praise. Nihchul(u) = stable; unwavering. Saachi Bani = Waheguru's praise. 3. Trung = waves; flights. Nivaaray = removed; eradicated. Sehj(i) Soobhaayay = without any special effort. 4. Mun Muraiy = kill mental desires. Ta = then. Mookto = emancipated. Sur(u) = pool. Saagur(u) = sea. 5. Rung(i) Raatay = imbued in love. Trishna = fire of desires. Nihkayvul = pure; without worldly attachments. Ruvviya = present; resides. Aatum Ram = Mooraari = God. 6. Mun(i) Bhaanay = liked. Doobidha = indecisiveness. Mehl(u) = Waheguru's Residence. Jhootthi = those who love the perishables. Uvgoon = demerits; ignoble qualities. 7. Kuthiyaiy = sing praise. Bani = Guru's Shabad in Waheguru's praise. Saach(i) = by reciting the Naam. Vukhaani = recite. 8.

MEANING: One earns respect everywhere with Waheguru's Naam, oh my mind. One attains the state of emancipation only with Waheguru's Naam; so. I do not acknowledge any other power than Him. Pause. Waheguru is the destroyer of all fears, including that of the Angel of Death. One connects with Him through the Guru's Shabad. One makes a connection with Waheguru, which is the source of all comforts, in the shelter of the Guru, and stays in the blissful (high spiritual state). 1. Waheguru's Naam is the (mental) food, the clothing, and the dignity for His devotees. They serve Him all the time, and attain the spiritual state where they stay connected with Him, and earn respect in His Court. 2.
The followers of their mind (worshippers of Maya) have shallow wisdom (thinking); their mind keeps wavering, and they do not sing praise of the indescribable Waheguru. The thinking of Guru's devotees is clear and stable (their minds do not waver), and with Guru's Amrit-like Bani (Shabad in praise of Waheguru), Waheguru's Naam takes dwelling in their mind. 3.
The flights of their mind come to an end with Guru's Shabad on their tongue, which they recite normally (without any special effort). We should always stay connected with our Guru (recite His Shabad), who is always connected with Waheguru, oh my friends. 4.
One becomes emancipated when he subdues his desires with the Guru's Shabad and remains connected to Waheguru. Waheguru's Naam is the ocean (source) of eternal purity; one should take a dip in it with love and reverence. 5.
The devotees, who contemplate on Guru's Shabad, get imbued in Waheguru's love, and kill their selfishness, ego, and the fire of their desires. The pure (fully detached) Waheguru resides in their hearts, and they see Him everywhere in the world. 6.

However, only those devotees serve You, and stay imbued in Your love, whom You like, oh Waheguru. Those who love the perishables suffer from indecisiveness (instability of mind) and cannot reach Waheguru's Residence, as they are overpowered by the attractions of Maya; they cannot make a distinction (choose) between the noble and the ignoble qualities. 7. If we sing praise of the indescribable Waheguru with the immortalizing Guru's Shabad, Guru's Bani, He, Himself connects His devotees with Him. They merge into Waheguru by singing His praise, and by reciting His Naam, oh Nanak. 8.1.

Word Meaning: Ut(i) = extremely. Kilvikh = sins. Bhunjun = destroyer. Aiko = the one and only (God). Deettha = saw; realized. Pause. Koat(i) = forts. Kotuntur = millions. Binaasun = are destroyed. Bhaaya = liked. Soojhiay = can think of. Boojhaaya = gave the understanding. 1. Praym Pudaaruth = the source of all love (Waheguru). Ghut(i) = in heart. Vussiya = embedded. Sehjay = in high spiritual state. Smaayi = absorbed. Rung(i) Chuloolay = dyed deeply. Sehj(i) Soobhaayi = naturally with love and reverence. 2. Nihkayvul(u) = pure; fully detached with Maya (God). Nudr(i) Kuray = casts sight on. Boojhaiy = understands. Kuthun = describe. Baiyraagi = deeply in love with (God). 8.

MEANING: Waheguru's Naam is the sweetest of all, oh my mind. I have seen (realized) the "One" and the only Waheguru in the shelter of the Guru, which is the destroyer of all the sins of millions of one's lives and all fears. Pause.

When one likes Waheguru from the depth of his heart, forts (powerful residences – mind) of millions of his sins are eradicated. Satguru has given me the understanding of the "One", and now, I cannot think of any other power worthy of my worship than Waheguru. 1.

The heart in which the source of all love, Waheguru, takes dwelling, stays in the high spiritual state without any special effort. The minds of those who are imbued in the love of Guru's Shabad are dyed deep in Waheguru's love, and they stay imbued in His love naturally with love and reverence. 2. Pondering on Guru's Shabad, their tongue is imbued in the sweetness of Waheguru's Naam, and is dyed deep in His love. With His Naam, the devotee makes connections with the Pure (Waheguru), and achieves peace of mind. 3.

The Pundits get exhausted reading their holy books, and so do the hermits while staying quiet for long times, and the followers of different sects get exhausted by wearing their sect's symbols (because they cannot realize Waheguru by any of such means). Waheguru can be realized only with Guru's grace when one ponders on His Shabad. 4.

When someone likes Guru's eternal Shabad (in Waheguru's praise), they get imbued in Waheguru's Naam, and the cycle of their rebirths gets terminated. One acquires eternal bliss by serving Satguru as he kills his selfishness and his ego with His Shabad. 5.

With Guru's eternal Shabad, a musical soothing sound grows in the mind of the devotee, and he gets connected with Waheguru in his meditation. With Guru's grace, the Naam of the inaccessible and the incomprehensible Waheguru, which is above the effects of Maya, takes dwelling in the devotee's mind. 6.

Even though the whole world operates under the Laws of Waheguru, some rare individuals recognize this and connect with Him. One realizes everything about Waheguru when he kills his desires with Guru's Shabad and establishes a day-and-night connection with Waheguru. 7. Only that devotee comes to know the secrets of the world whom Waheguru is benevolent to; nobody else can say anything about Waheguru. Those who get attached to Waheguru through Guru's Shabad and stay connected to Him are always detached from the world (and are in love with Waheguru), oh Nanak. 8.2.

Word Meaning: Akuth Kuhaani = indescribable praise of Waheguru. Virlaiy = rare. Pause. Gehr = unfathomable. Gumbheer = unchanging. Guheer = treasure. Puchhaaniya = recognized; made connection with. Buhou Bidh(i) = in many ways. Kerm Kureh(i) = perform rituals. Bhaayay Doojay = in love of the other. Buouraaniya = insane. 1. Naavaiy = bathe. Nirmul(u) = pure; pious. Maiyla = filthyl; impure. Mool(u) Na = not at all. Bherm(i) = illusions. Put(i) = dignity. 2. Drirraan = reiterate. firm up. Sungreh(i) = accumulate. Tiyaageen = forsake; give up. Sukhaayi = friend. 3. Kerm Bidhaata = carver of our fates. Naavay Laayay = exhorts to recite Naam. Boojhaiy = understands. 4. Bismaad(u) = amazing (world). Chaytay = remembers. Aavagaun = birth and death. Moakh Dooaara = the door to emancipation. 5. Soojhaiy = get the wisdom. Vigaareh(i) = ruin (their high morality) Sunjum Kerni = keeping the senses under control. Kirt(i) Kumaayi = objective of life. Aavun Jaan(u) Ruhaayi = birth-death cycle is terminated. 6. Saachaiy = pure (like Waheguru). Adhaara = basis. Doojaiy Bherm(i) = in the illusions of Maya. 7. Thaayay Puvvay = Paavaiy Laykhaiy = earn place; are duly rewarded. 8.

MEANING: Waheguru's virtues cannot be fully described, oh my mind. Only some rare devotees understand them with the grace of the Guru on whom Waheguru casts His kind sight. Pause. It is with Guru's Shabad that one recognizes (makes connection with) Waheguru, which is unfathomable, is never-changing, and is the treasure of all noble qualities. One is insane without Guru's Shabad, no matter how many other religious rituals he does perform because they are all rooted in Maya. 1.

Only that devotee is pure who takes dips in the pool of Waheguru's Naam-Amrit; such a devotee never gets filthy (impure due to sensual pleasures) again. Without Waheguru's Naam, the whole world is filthy, and misled by illusions of Maya, it loses its dignity. 2.

I have no idea what it is that I should firm up in my mind, what I should accumulate, and what I should forsake. I can only realize with the benevolence of Waheguru that it is only His Naam which is the true friend of man. 3.

But it is only with the benevolence of the eternal Waheguru, which is also the eternal Provider for all living beings, and is the carver of our fates, that a devotee of His liking begins to recite His Naam, and enshrine it in his heart. Only that devotee realizes this fact who is given this realization by Waheguru in the shelter of the Guru. 4.

Even after witnessing the amazing feats of Waheguru in nature, the world does not remember Him and is caught in the birth-death cycle. Only that individual comes to realize it who serves the Guru to reach the door of emancipation (to attain it). 5.

Those devotees who realize the importance of spirituality and of union with Waheguru never ruin their high morality. With Guru's Advice, they recite Waheguru's Naam and exercise control over their senses, which they believe is their main objective in life. With such a routine, the cycle of their births and deaths is terminated. 6.
The devotees who follow the path of righteousness (as advised by the Guru), and who have made Waheguru's Naam the basis of their life, become like Waheguru (are approved in His Court). On the other hand, the followers of their mind do not realize the importance of Waheguru's Naam and are misled by the illusions of Maya. 7.
(But such people cannot be blamed entirely for the path they choose) because it is Waheguru Himself, who enlightens His devotees in the shelter of the Guru, and watches His actions. The hard work of those devotees is rewarded who earn respect in Waheguru's Court (for their recitation of Waheguru's Naam), oh Nanak. 8.3.

MEANING: I have seen Your majesty, and am amazed to find that it is You who do everything, and make others do whatever You want them to do, and You are present everywhere. Pause. The claims of the rajas who believed they would reign forever were false, as many of them turned out to be paupers. But our Emperor (Waheguru) is the everlasting Sovereign, and all hearts sing His praise. 1.

Listen to the praise of the Emperor Waheguru; whoever sings it, reaches Him (becomes a part of Him), oh, the holy saints. The great Provider, Waheguru, is limitless and is higher (in transcendence) than the highest. 2. His splendour is such that all living bodies are connected with Him through their breaths (part of His Soul); He has stored fire in the wood; and He has kept water and land together (without one consuming the other). 3.

Every heart sings praise of the King, and every heart is zestful about Him. Another amazing thing is that He has created food for them before He even created them. 4.

I have learnt the eternal truth that, unlike the man who tries to show off his wisdom in many different ways, whatever Waheguru needs to do, He does it Himself quietly, and needs no advice from anyone else. 5. Waheguru protects His devotees in every way by embracing them as His own and gets them respect by implanting His Naam in their hearts. Those who show disrespect for Waheguru's devotees, He drowns them in the sea of Maya (gets them more engrossed in the poison of Maya). 6.

All the ignoble qualities of those who take shelter of the Guru are eradicated; watching such changes in them, Waheguru becomes very kind to them, and they swim across the world-sea. 7. I am very small and an ignoble person, whereas You are the Great Lord; what ability do I have to value Your greatness, oh Waheguru? Waheguru's Naam is the basis of my life, and my body and mind become peaceful to see the holy sight of the Guru, oh Nanak. 8.1.

Rus = sweet tastes. Maanay = enjoys. Bhog Ghutaanay = enjoys in every heart. Aan Beeya = any other. Theeya = becomes. Rungi = in all forms. Ikk Rungi = in the same form; uniformly. Araadhou = worship. Ghuree Mohtuk = in a short time. Bayla = time (to leave the world). Urb(u) = of very high value. Durb(u) = wealth. 2.

MEANING: Waheguru is present in every heart, yet He is fully detached from the worldly attractions, and the source of fearlessness is present everywhere. Just like the water waves, which seem to be different from the water, and yet are part of the water, with His expanse, Waheguru is present in every heart, and is yet fully detached. Being present in every heart, He enjoys all the sweet tastes of the world, and there is none like Him. The same Waheguru is present in many different forms and can be realized in the company of the holy saints. Forgetting everything else, I am fully absorbed in His thoughts like a fish is absorbed in the water, oh Nanak. The source of fearlessness (Waheguru) is seen everywhere. 1.

The omnipresent Waheguru is present everywhere (and knows everything), so how can I praise Him, or whom to compare with Him (there is nobody like Him). The mind-captivating and omnipresent Waheguru is attractive to every heart, but when He withdraws His support, everything becomes dust. The time of death can arrive anytime, so why not worship Him together, oh, the holy saints? No wealth or other valuables worth billions that we see accompany us at our death. I cannot sing His praise in any way or compare anybody else to Him; the only thing I wish to say is to recite Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 2.

Word Meaning: Heeou Araapoun = offer my heart. Dayhou Sundasha = deliver His Message (enlighten me). Keh Pervasha = where He enters (lives). Ung, Ung = every part of the body. Sookhdaayi = blissful. Brahmaayi = Waheguru. Thaan Thaanuntar = in every place. Mookta = free from all bonds. Joogta = mixed well. Churit = amazing feats. Mun Mohiyo = mind is captivated. 3.
Apunay Peh = to His devotee. Dhunn(u) = fortunate. Rida = heart. Sungaaya = with. Oolaas = excitement; joy. Loreenda = whom one was looking for. Naattha = disappeared. Voottha = took residence. Sehjaaya = in the peaceful state of mind. 4.
MEANING: I ask the holy saints (who have been connected with Waheguru), what my Lord looks like. I will offer my heart (mind) to them if they enlighten my mind as well with the Divine Knowledge. Enlighten my mind as to what my Waheguru looks like, and where He lives. Every part of my body feels blissful to learn that the omnipresent Waheguru lives everywhere in the world. Even though He is fully mixed (is present) in every heart, He is completely free of all worldly bonds. However, I am unable to tell what Waheguru looks like. I humbly ask the holy saints what my Waheguru looks like; my mind is captivated by His amazing feats, oh Nanak. 3.
With His benevolence, Waheguru comes to reside in the hearts of His devotees, and those hearts are highly fortunate where Waheguru sets His Feet (implants His Naam). Waheguru implants His Naam in His devotee's hearts through the Guru. The darkness of ignorance of those hearts is dispelled with Waheguru's Naam, and such hearts feel overjoyed when they are enlightened, and when they realize Waheguru whom they were longing for. All sufferings from such hearts run away, and comforts come to settle there. They feel great bliss when they attain a high spiritual state. I have realized the Perfect (and the omnipresent) Waheguru, who has come to reside in my heart (a devotee of His) with His benevolence, oh Nanak. 4.1.
