(PAGE 348): So paatshah(u) shaahaan put(i) Sahib(u) Nanak rehun(u) rajayee. 1.

NOTE: It is the same holy Shabad as Paurri number 27 in Jap(u) Ji and under “So Dur” on page 6 of SGGS with very minor changes in spellings of some words with no change in the meaning as a whole.

NOTE 1: Every religion has its own beliefs about Waheguru's residence and the entrance to His residence, where He looks after His creation. For example, Muslims believe that there are 14 skies in the universe – seven above and seven below the earth; and Allah resides in the Seventh Sky, while other saints and holy men reside in the sixth sky, and common men reside in the fifth or lower skies. Christians have a similar belief that God lives somewhere high in the sky in paradise with pearly gates. You might have seen pictures of Jesus' resurrection on the third day after the crucifixion, showing him being taken up into the sky, his hand held by God, out of the clouds. The idea in the picture reflects the Christian belief that God lives in the sky. Hindus do not believe in a single God; rather, they believe in a multitude of gods and goddesses who are all shown to live on the tops of mountains or in some mythical paradise. The Hindus also believe that there is a god for everything, including air, water, fire, precious stones, and metals. The king of all gods, Ind (or Indra), lives in paradise, also somewhere in the sky.

However, Sikhism does not believe in any such paradise. In this holy Shabad, Guru Nanak Sahib clarifies His conception of Waheguru's residence. He professes that Waheguru is present in each part (even in each particle) of the universe invisibly, but shows His presence only where His praise is sung (or where He is remembered) and has no particular residence. However, no one can describe His mysterious ways by which He controls the whole universe and looks after His creation.

NOTE 2: Since Waheguru is the Master of the entire universe, He is revered as the King of kings. Usually, kings have musicians in their courts, so most people believe that there must be many, many musicians in Waheguru's Court or Paradise. Hindus also believe that there are two accountants – Chit(u) and Goopt(u) – riding on the shoulders of each human being to keep continuous written records of their deeds. The mythical god Indra (Ind) is believed to be the king of all gods and therefore the ruler of paradise. But the Guru Granth Sahib does not recognize any gods.

NOTE 3: Singing Waheguru's praise also implies obeying His Command, Will or His Laws.

Word Meaning: Ek Onkar = only one uniform Supreme Being (Living Power). Satnam(u) = His existence is (Huqam, Laws are) eternal. Kerta = creator. Purakh = living power. Nirbhuou = fearless (because He has no superior, and is above the effects of Maya). Nirvaiyr(u) = has no enemity with anyone (is fully just). Akal Moorut(i) = time has no effect on His persona. Ajooni = never takes any life form. Saiybhun(g) = self-illuminated. Gur Persad(i)) = can be realized only by the grace of the Guru (this fact is reiterated in hundreds of holy Shabads in Sri Guru Granth Sahib).

Dur(u) = door; entrance. Smaalay = looks after. vaajay Naad = music produced by musical instruments. vaavanhaaray = musicians. Raag Purie = varieties of music. Baisuntar(u) = fire. Raja Dherm(u) = Dhermraj = Angel of justice. Suvaaray = decorated. Jutee = celibate. Sutee = with high moral character. Suntokhi = content. Veer Kraaray. = gallants. Mohiniyaan = mind-captivating; pretty. Muchh = this world. Pyaalay = worlds beneath the earth. Ruttan = jewels; noble qualities. Khaani chaaray = the four sources of production of life (live birth, eggs, vegetation, from air under ripe conditions). Khund, Mundal Verbhunda = parts of the universe. Ruttay = imbued. Ruchna = creation. Rungi Rungi Bhaanti = of different kinds.

MEANING: There is only one Supreme Being, which is uniformly present everywhere. Eternal is his existence (Huqam; Laws); He is a living power and is the creator of the universe; He is fearless (as he has no superior, and is above the effects of Maya), and delivers perfect justice; time has no effect on His persona (He does not change in any way with time); He never takes any life form; is Self-illuminated, and can be realized only by the grace of the Guru.

(Guru Nanak says), Oh Waheguru! People wonder what kind of entrance Your residence has, and what kind of residence You reside in where You look after all Your Creation. Even though I am unable to describe the exact nature of Your residence, You are omnipresent, and there are countless musical instruments and countless musicians who play them to produce many different types of lilting tunes (naad). There are many different types of lyrics and their subcategories (puries), and countless singers to sing them. (The gods of) air, water, and fire all sing Your praise, and so does the Angel of justice, on Your doorsteps. Chit(u) and Goopt(u), who are believed to keep written records of the deeds of humans, sing Your Praise with their recordings being analyzed by Dherm Raj - the Angel of justice. Many Shivas and Brahmas, etc., and many Parbatis sing Your praise as a result of which they are decorated (find respect) in Your Court. Sitting on their thrones, many Indras (Ind) along with other gods, also sing Your praise at Your door. The Sidh yogis sing Your praise in their meditation, and the holy men (sadh) sing Your praise by pondering on Your magnanimity.
The celibate, men with high character, and the contented (santokhi), and the gallant (who have conquered their mind), all sing Your praise. In all eras, the learned (pundits), the great sages (rukheesur), and the Vedas, sing Your praise. Even the beautiful (mythical) fairies of the paradise, of the earth (muchh) and of the underworld (payaal), having charming beauties, sing Your praise. Gods of jewels (wealth) created by You, sing Your praise, and so do the sixty-eight holy places believed to be made holy by the gods. The powerful valiant (jodh) and the intrepid (maha bal soora) sing Your praise, and so do the living beings from all four sources (mammals, eggs, vegetation, and the ones which grow under optimum conditions) of reproduction.
The skies, the galaxies, and the whole universe, supported by You, sing Your praise. Only those devotees sing Your Praise whom You like (are approved by You), and who are imbued in Your affection, and enjoy singing it. I do not know, and cannot imagine how many more sing Your praise. Only the Master Waheguru is eternal (Sach Sahib Saacha) and so is His greatness or justice (naayee). The Creator has always existed, will exist in future, and will never go away (will live forever). He has created the universe with countless varieties of different living beings and bodies, and has created attractions of different types (Maya) for them. He enjoys and looks after His Creation as He pleases. He will do whatever He chooses, and nobody has the power to suggest any modifications (huqam na kerna jaayee).
(Guru Nanak Sahib advises) That rather than wasting time and energy to find the secrets and the limits (because nobody will ever be able to do so) of Waheguru, who is the real Emperor of emperors, the man should simply sing His praise and obey His Will (rajaayee). 1.1.

Word Meaning: Purakh(u) Nirunjun(u) = Waheguru, who is above the effects of Maya. Agumma = (physically) beyond reach. Aparaa = limitless. Dhiyaveh(i) = recite Naam (remember). Sirjunhaara = creator. Jea = living beings. Dataara = provider. Sant-hou = oh, holy men. Dookh Visaarunhaara= destroyer of suffering (Waheguru). Tthakur(u) = Master; Lord. Sayvuk(u) = personal attendant. Junt = living being. Vichaara = helpless.
1 Ghut untar(i) = in every heart (body). Niruntar(i) = continuous. Smaana = mixed completely; present. Choaj Vidaana = amazing acts. Bhoogta = user; one who enjoys. Uver(u) = somebody else. Jaana = recognize. Parbrahm = beyond reach. Bayunt(u) = limitless. Vakhaana = describe. Koorbaana = sacrifice. 2. Joog(u) Meh(i) = in the world. Sookhvaasi = live in comfort. Mukut(u) = free from the bonds of maya. Jum ki Phaasi = the noose of the Angel of death. Nirbhuou = fearless (Waheguru). Bhou = fear. Guvaasi = eliminate. Hur(i) Roop(i) Smaasi = be one with Waheguru. Dhunn(u) = great; worthy of praise. Bul(i) = sacrifice myself. 3. Bhugut(i) Bhundaar = treasures of worship. Slaahun(i) = sing praise. Unik = Unayk = countless. Pooja = worship. Tup(u) Taapeh(i) = meditate by torturing self. . Simrit(i) Shaast = Hindu holy books. Khut(u) Kerm = six deeds

(to study and to teach; to perform yagna and to motivate others to do the same; to donate and accept donations). Bhulay = approved. Bhaaveh(i) = liked. Bhugvanta = Waheguru. 4. Aad(i) = from the very beginning; the origin. Uprumpur (u) = farther and farther (with no end). Kerta = Creator. Jayvud(u) = as large. Nihchul = everlasting. Bhaavaiy = to Your liking (as per Your wishes). Vertaiy = happens; takes place. Srishut(i) = universe. Sirj(i) = after creating. Goyee = destroys. Jaanoyee = one who knows. 5.

MEANING: Waheguru, which pervades the whole universe, is above the effects of Maya. He is beyond limits. Everybody thinks of You (recites Your Naam), oh, the perfect creator, Waheguru! All living beings are Yours (created by You), and You are their provider. Always remember Waheguru, which is the destroyer of all discomforts, oh holy men! (Being present in all life) Waheguru Himself is the Lord, and Himself the server. The living being is helpless (has no control). 1. You are present in each and every body all the time and thus are mixed with the entire universe (everything is a part of Yours). But these are Your amazing ways: some people are donors, while others are beggars, oh Waheguru. (Being present in everybody) You, Yourself, are the provider and Yourself the user. I do not recognize anybody other than you (who can play these roles), oh my Lord! You are the greatest of all, and I am unable to describe all Your noble qualities. I simply wish to sacrifice my life for those who remember You (sing Your praise), oh the limitless Waheguru. 2.

Those who sing Your praise lead a comfortable life in this world, oh my Lord! They are able to break the bonds of Maya, thereby escaping the noose of the Angel of death (they become free from reincarnating). Those who recite the Naam (sing praise) of the fearless Lord get rid of all fears, and they are absorbed in Waheguru to become “one” with Him. They are worthy of praise, and I wish to sacrifice my life for them. 3.

There are countless treasures full of Your worship (there are countless devotees who have been enabled by You for Your worship), oh my Lord! And there are countless devotees who sing Your praise for Your countless forms. Also, countless people worship you in various ways, whether through meditation or self-affliction. There are countless others who study the Hindu holy books and perform the six recognized rituals (to study and to teach; to perform yagna and motivate others to do the same; to donate and to accept donations). However, only those devotees are approved by my Lord whom He likes. 4.

You are the root (origin) of everything, and are the creator, oh my limitless Waheguru! Nobody else can rival You. You are the only one who has always been there through the eons, and You are the everlasting creator. Only those events take place in the universe which you desire, and only that happens, which You cause (to happen). You create the entire universe, and destroy it at Your Will. The devotee, Nanak, simply sings praise of the Creator who knows everything. 5.2.

Word Meaning: Deettha = on seeing. Keemut(i) = value; worth; measurements. Smaayay = absorbed. 1 Gehir = deep. Gumbheera = never changing (without any emotion). Gooni Guheera = source of noble qualities. Kay Vudd = how large? Cheera = Huqam(u); creation. Pause. Soorteen = meditators Soort(i) = meditated (to determine the secrets of God). Keemut(i) = evaluators. Keemut(i) = value; worth. Giyani = scholars; having Divine Knowledge. Dhiyani = concentrators. Gur Gur Haayee = are recognized gurus. Til(u) = sesame seed (extremely small). Vudiyaayee = greatness. 2 Sat = high moral character, noble deeds. Tup = physical suffering (to please some god). Sidhaan Poorkhaan = of the Sidh yogis. Kerm(i) = kindness. Tthaak(u) ruhayeeyan = kept restricted. 3 Baychaara = poor; unable; helpless. Bhundaara = treasures. Chaara = competition. Sach(u) = God; Waheguru. Svaarunhaara= decorator; granting success. 4.
MEANING: After hearing from various sources, everyone says that Waheguru (His creation) is very large. If someone were actually able to see Him (His creation), how large would he find Him!! Nobody could actually evaluate (find the size) of His creation, and thus nobody can describe His vastness. Those who try get simply absorbed in amazement in You (lost in your magnanimity, and cannot find any limits), oh Waheguru! 1. You are unfathomable, are the treasure of all good qualities, and never change; nobody knows how large Your creation is, oh, my great Master! Pause. All the meditators meditate (to find Your ends), and all the evaluators try to evaluate You, and find your limits (but to no avail). The people with some Divine Knowledge, the people with deep concentrations, and the recognized gurus (by some people) try, but cannot describe even a tiny amount of Your splendour, oh Lord. 2. All the noble deeds, all sorts of self-afflicted sufferings to please You, and other religious rituals (do not result in any success to find Your limits). All good qualities, including the glory (due to limited supernatural powers) of the Sidh yogis, come from You by Your kindness. If You do not want someone to have those, they will stay undelivered (they will not acquire them). 3. You are the treasure of all the praiseworthy qualities, oh Waheguru! And nobody can describe them. They are all helpless. If you impart Your good qualities to someone, nobody can match (rival) him. Only You have the ability to adorn individuals (of Your choice) with noble qualities. 4.1.

Word meaning: Visraiy = on forgetting. Bhookh = appetite; urge; desire. Oot(u) = bhookhaiy = because of that urge. Dookh = discomfort. 1 Visraiy = lose from memory. Saacha Sahib(u) = (union with) the True Master. Saachaiy Naayay= by (reciting) the True Name. Pause. Til(u) = (the size of a) sesame seed. Aakh(i) Tthukkay = exhausted describing. Keemut(i) = value. Ghaat(i) = loss (in greatness). 2 Soag(u) = mourning (causing grief). Chookaiy = miss (discontinue). Bhoag(u) = food. Goon(u) = good quality; ability. Ehou = (only in) Waheguru. Hoar(i) naahi koyay = nobody else. 3
Jay vudd = as large (great). Tay vudd = the same size. Daat(i) = largesse. Khusm(u) = Master. Visareh(i) = forget. Kumjaat = Snaat(i) = low caste, ignoble. 4.

MEANING: Even though it is very difficult to recite the True (Waheguru's) Naam (with full concentration and dedication), I am spiritually alive only when I recite Waheguru's Naam, and experience spiritual death when I forget it. I wish that I experienced the appetite (strong desire) for Waheguru's Naam all the time, because this appetite eats away (kills) all the discomforts. 1. How can I (I cannot afford to) forget the True Naam of Waheguru, oh my mother! The True Master can be realized only by reciting His Naam (singing His praise). Pause. Many people have exhausted themselves in evaluating (describing) the splendour of God, but they have not been able to describe even a small part of Him (have been badly unsuccessful). Even if everybody joined together to describe Him, there will be no change in Him – He will become neither bigger nor smaller. 2.
The Master never dies, and thus does not cause any grief to anyone. He never stops being the provider. Only He has this unique ability; nobody else will ever have it. 3.
His largesse is as great as He Himself is. (It is His kindness) that He has created nights after days. Anybody who forgets such a benevolent Master is ignoble. Also ignoble is the person who does not recite His Naam (sing His praise), oh Nanak. 4.3.

Jay kisaiy dayay, vukhaanaiy Nanak(u), aagaiy poochh na layay. 4.3.

Word Meaning: Maangut = beggar. Kook = cry for help. Dheeruk = consolation; support. Dhukkay = kick out; not grant request. Vudaayee = respect. 1.
Joat(i) = level of spiritual enlightenment. Jaati = caste. Aagaiy = Waheguru's Court. Pause Oolaahmay = complaints. Chit(i) Dhuray = to keep in mind; to ponder on. Kernhaar(u) = Kartar(u) = Creator and controller. Moohtaaji = dependence; subservience. 2.
Dayay = provides; looks after. Doormut(i) = evil thinking. Muneh(i) = prevents. 3.
Uvree = others. Saach(i) = His Naam. Vukhaanaiy = says. 4.
MEANING: If a beggar cries for help at Waheguru's door (prays with full devotion and concentration) and He listens to it, He accords the beggar some respect simply by listening to him, whether He accepts or does not grant the request. 1. One thing must be clear to all of us: Waheguru recognizes (gives credit) only to the level of an individual's spiritual enlightenment, totally disregarding his caste in this world. Caste carries no importance in Waheguru's Court. Pause.
Waheguru Himself makes individuals do (good or bad deeds) whatever they do, and He does everything Himself. He also listens to individuals' complaints and ponders them. When one recognizes that Waheguru is the creator of the universe and also controls everything, then why should the devotee be dependent on (or subservient to) the world? (He discharges his obligations, but leaves the results to Waheguru). 2. Waheguru Himself creates the world and looks after it. He also prevents the ignoble thinking of his devotees. With Guru's grace, He makes the heart of His devotee His dwelling, as a result of which, all the darkness of ignorance is dispelled, and all the troubles of the devotee vanish. 3. Waheguru gives His Naam only to those of His liking (who deserve it), and the undeserving do not receive it. But once He gives His Naam to someone, He never questions him again (about his deeds) (because that individual will never commit any immoral deed again), oh Nanak. 4.3.

Word Meaning: Taal = cymbal. Mudeeray = anklets with bells. Ghut = heart; mind. Ghaat = path. Doaluk = drum. Vaajeh = play. Naarud(u) = capricious mind. Kul(i) Ka Bhaaou = the effect of Kulyug. Jutee = celibates. Sutee = having high morals. 1. Vit-houn = for. Jaan(u) = omniscient. Pause. Taam(i) = only then. Khusm Puchhaanaiy = makes a connection with Waheguru. 2. Dershun(i) = (at the) sight of. Duyya = compassion.

Luyay Ditay = taking and giving (bribery). Huth(i) Hoyay = have (money) in hand. Kuhaiy = in the name of. 3
Moorut(i) = appearance. Kerni = deeds. Phoorman = orders. Mehmaan = visitor. 4
MEANING: (The whole world is dancing to the tune of Maya), in which the flighty ideas of mind serve as cymbals, and the anklets, and the attractions of the world play the role of musical instruments. The capricious mind is dancing at the hands of Maya (who is a puppet). This is what you call the effect of the present era – Kalyug. There is no place for high morals and noble character in the world. 1. I would love to sacrifice my life for Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. The whole world is blinded by Maya; only Waheguru is the one who knows everything (including the deceitful effects of Maya). Pause. A disciple loves his guru only if he gets his living expenses from him (the guru) (this is an effect of Kalyug). Even if a man lives for hundreds of years and gets enough to eat (and to enjoy), it is worthless without Waheguru's Naam. Only that day gets approved for the devotee by Waheguru on which he remembers Him. 2. The person in charge of a service operation shows no compassion unless he is given money, even in the face of the needy person's difficult situation. Even the ruler (or the judge) does not deliver justice unless he is paid, and nobody does anything in the name of Allah. (This is Kalyug). 3. The man has only the looks of a human being (but has no humanity), oh Nanak. His acts are like those of a dog who obeys his master for food and shelter. A man receives some respect in Waheguru's Court only if, by the grace of the Guru, he behaves like a short-time visitor in this world, oh Nanak. 4.4.

Word Meaning: Shabad(u) = Huqam (Waheguru). Soorut(i) = hearing; focus attention; devotion. Dhoon(i) = sound; concentration of thoughts. [See Sidh(i) Gosht(i): Shabad(u) Guru Soorut(i) Dhoon(i) chayla]. Roop(u) = creation. Kaaya = body. Rusna = tongue. Busna = to relish by the tongue. Uver(u) = other. 1. Layvaiy Dayay = gives and takes away (life). Vigsaiy = feels overjoyed; heart blooms. Nedr(i) = sight of kindness. 2.
Vertaiy = display of behaviour. Taiyso = depending upon the behaviour. 3.
Kul(i) = the present era (which is considered the worst among the four eons); the world. Kulvaali = the server of liquor. Mud = intoxication. Mutvaala = intoxicated; inebriated. Bupurra = poor; humble. 4.
MEANING: The whole universe is Your body, and wherever You are present, Your devotees focus their mind with love on You, oh Waheguru! Being present in everybody, it is You who is reciting Your Naam with the tongue, and enjoying its sweet essence, oh my Lord. There is none other like Him, oh my mother. 1. There is only one Lord of the universe – one and only one – oh my brothers. Pause. He Himself destroys the spirituality of the people, and Himself sets them free from the bonds of Maya; He Himself gives life to the living beings, and takes it away. He watches the World (looks after it) and feels overjoyed to do so, and casts His kind sight on His subjects. 2. Whatever is happening in the world is reflective of Waheguru's magnanimity. He is doing whatever needs to be done, and nobody else has any say in that. But still, a man is known by the deeds he performs. 3.

Just like a server of liquor, Maya is enchanting people with its intoxicating attractions in this era of Kalyug, and the people, intoxicated by Maya, find this intoxicant very enjoyable and keep taking it. However, all these different attractions of Maya are different forms of Waheguru (His creations), as humble Nanak describes. 4.5.

Word Meaning: Vaaja = musical instruments. Mut(i) = thinking. Pukhaavuj = a pair of small drums; tabor. Anund = enjoyment; blissfulness. Chaaou = zest. Tup Taaou = self-affliction. It(u) rung(i) = in this (blissful) state. 1. Pooray Taal = to dance perfectly to the tune. Salaah = praise of Waheguru. Mah = in. Pause. Sat = service to humanity. Suntoakh = contentment. Taal = cymbals. Paiyreen Vaaja = anklet with bells. Nihaal = blissful. Naad(u) = music. Dooja Bhaaou = love for Maya. 2. Bhuou = fear (of God). Phayri = spinning while dancing. Neeta Neet = all the time. Laytun(i) = to lie down flat during dancing. Sooaah = dust. 3. Sikh Subha = holy congregation. Deekhiya = Guru's advice. Vayra Vayr = time, and again. 4.

NOTE: Many people worship their deities by singing their praise while dancing, but through this holy Shabad, Guru Nanak Sahib emphasizes a totally different kind of dance to please Waheguru.

MEANING: Make your noble thinking the musical instruments, and your love for Waheguru, the tabor (a pair of small drums). This is the real worship and the hard labour (comparable to self-affliction), to please Waheguru. This kind of dancing leads to blissfulness in one's mind, which always feels zestful. 1. Praise of Waheguru is the perfect dance, which is synchronous to the music of life; any other type of dancing may please your mind, and may provide temporary happiness (but has no spiritual worth). Pause.

Make service to others and contentment, the cymbals for music, and feeling always blissful, should be your anklets. Ridding yourself of discriminatory treatment of others should serve as a song of devotion and music. Such a blissful state will become your steps for dancing. 2. Keeping Waheguru's fear and His Naam in mind, whether you are sitting or standing (all the time), should serve as the spin in dancing; and remembering that our body is going to be a part of dust one day, should serve as lying flat on the floor as a part of dancing. Such a blissful state will become your steps as you dance. 3. One should attend the holy gathering with full faith and with the intent to receive advice so as to recite Waheguru's Naam in the shelter of the Guru (with focus on His Word), and to recite it again, and again should be the steps of dancing, oh Nanak. 4.6.

Word Meaning: Paun(u) = air. Bundh Keeya = put together. Andhulay = blind; ignorant. Dehsir(i) = Raavan = the king of Lanka, who is believed to have ten heads, and who had kidnapped Sita, the wife of god Rama. He was killed by Rama. Moond = head. Kiyya Vudda Bhuyya = what greatness did he achieve? 1. Oopma = praise. Poor(i) Ruhiya = pervading the whole universe. Pause. Joogut(i) = technique. Kaali was a huge snake living in the River Jamuna that was terrorizing the people. Krishna is said to have roped him (killed him). Nuth(i) = putting a string through a hole in the nose of domesticated animals to control them or overpower them. Purakh = male; husband. Joaroo = wife. Niruntar(u) = continuously. 2. Kootumb = family; offspring. Verdaata = the one (Vishnu) by whose blessing Brahma was born (out of the stem of the lotus flower growing in the navel of Vishnu). Srishut(i) = the world. Kuns = the maternal uncle of Krishana killed by the latter. Chhayd(i) = cut; kill. 3. Ruttan = the 14 special items retrieved from the Kheer ocean when it was churned jointly by the gods and the demons. Oopaayay = created (by God). Muthiya = churned. Hoar(i) Bhukhlaayay = the demons shouted in anger (that being partners, they needed their share). Aikee Aikee = one by one. Vund Deeya = distributed (by Vishnu in the guise of a beautiful damsel). 4.
NOTE: Hinduism believes in many gods, but not in the God (the Supreme Being). Among all the gods, the most important are Shiva, Vishnu, Brahma, Rama, and Krishna. In this holy Shabad, Guru Nanak Sahib downplays the significance of these gods and emphasizes the magnanimity of God (Waheguru) as the only power to be worshiped, for He is omnipotent and omnipresent; there is no other power in the universe that can rival Him. Everybody else is controlled by Him.

MEANING: It is omnipotent Waheguru (and no god), which has created the earth by putting elements like water, air, and fire (energy) together. The ten-headed Raavan got his heads cut because of his ignorance (foolishness). Nobody (god Rama) can be considered great simply because he killed him (Raavan) 1. What praise of Yours can be sung (nobody can praise You enough) for Your splendid qualities, oh Waheguru! If someone meditates on You, he will find that You are fully present everywhere. Pause.

It is Waheguru that creates all living beings and controls their lives. Krishna cannot be considered great like Waheguru simply because he overpowered the huge serpent, Kaali. You are uniformly present everywhere (without any gaps); so, whose husband could You be considered in particular, and which particular living being could be considered Your wife? (You are the Husband of everybody), oh Waheguru. 2.

Brahma, who is believed to be the creator of all life and who was born out of the lotus flower growing out of the navel of Vishnu, set out to find the limits of the world. He wandered in darkness for many centuries, but could not find the limits of the universe created by Waheguru. This is how great Waheguru is!! So, how can we call Brahma, the creator of the universe, and Krishna, God, simply for killing his maternal uncle, Kuns? 3.

It is believed that the gods and demons jointly churned the Kheer Ocean and retrieved 14 invaluable items, known as Rattans. At the time of the distribution of the Rattans, the demons began to shout in anger, asking for their fair share. It is further believed that Vishnu transformed himself into a beautiful damsel (called his Mohini incarnation) and distributed the Rattans one by one. It is noteworthy that the Rattans were retrieved jointly by the gods and the demons, but not created by them. They had been created and placed in the Ocean by Waheguru (if the story is true). So, how can Vishnu be equated with Waheguru simply because he distributed them? Waheguru is present, hidden in all His Creation, and looks after it. Even though He is not visible, He cannot stay hidden, and is visible from His nature and His amazing feats, oh Nanak. 4. 7.

Shabad(i) anahud(i) so Shuhou raata, Nanak(u) kuhaiy vichaara. 4.8.

Word Meaning: Kerm Kertoot(i) = noble deeds. Bayle = vine. Bisthaari = spread. Roop Raykh = visible features. Anaahud(u) = the uniform Divine music that the yogis believe to hear during meditation. Shabad (u) = music. Nirunjun(i) = Waheguru (which is above the effects of Maya). 1. Vukhiyaan = explanation. Amrit(u) = Waheguru's immortalizing Naam. Pause. Must = lost in self. Phaahay = the chains (of attachment). Bheetur(i) = inside. Laahay = (perceived) benefits. 2. Jot(i) = Waheguru's Light. Bhuvun = universe.

Raaraiy = the first letter, “r” of the word “roop”. Niraalum = completely detached. Chhaaya = effects of Maya. 3. Beena = lute (a musical instrument played by the yogis). Shabad(u) = music. Roop Apaara = unlimited beauty. Shuhou = husband (Waheguru). Raata = imbued. 4.

MEANING: If someone makes a connection with Waheguru to gain knowledge about Him, and explains it to others, he drinks the immortalizing Amrit of Waheguru’s Naam. Pause. By singing Waheguru’s praise, a devotee acquires noble qualities which grow like a vine which bears the fruit of Waheguru’s Naam. Waheguru generates the fountain of His Naam (full of His praise) in the heart of the devotee, due to which the devotee feels as if a uniform Divine music is playing in his mind, which has no features (cannot be explained). 1.

Those who taste Waheguru’s Naam-Amrit become intoxicated, and all their shackles of Maya get broken. Waheguru’s Light enlightens their mind, as a result of which they forget (give up) all the false (short-lived) benefits (attractions) of Maya. 2. Such devotees see Your Light in everybody, and they realize that Maya, which is enchanting the whole world, is created by You (is Your slave), oh Waheguru. But You are above the effects of Maya, and are watching the world fully detached from it. However, You, still cast Your kind sight on Your devotees even when they are leading their life under the effects of Maya.

The yogis play the lute as a form of worship to Waheguru, which is of unlimited beauty. But the real yogi is the devotee who plays the music of praise of Waheguru while fully absorbed in Him, oh Nanak. 4.8.

Word Meaning: Sir(i) Bhaar = burben on the head (mind). Baad(i) = worthless. 1.

Tuou = then. Kayhi = what kind of. Pervaah = care about. Junum(i) = in life; after taking birth. Leeji = worth having. Leejaiy = get it. Pause.

Mutagul = elephant. Mutta = intoxicated. Khuto Khuta = faulty; harmful; sinful. Kiya Mooh(u) Laiy = with what face? Saakhi = witness. 2.

Kureh(i) = make. Chulaavaiy = run the affairs. 3.

Ruttan = decorated (with noble qualities). Puriyaan Pervaar = the family of the sub-raags. Amrit(u) = Waheguru’s Eternal Naam. Saar = supreme. Dhun(u) Maal(u) = wealth. Boojhaiy = understands; internalizes. 4.

MEANING: My only quality is to talk about my selfishness, and I am simply carrying the burden of my selfish talk on my mind. The only useful and worthy talk is about the Creator, Waheguru. All the enjoyments of eating, drinking, and fun are useless if one does not remember Waheguru in his heart. 1. If a man earns the worthy product (Waheguru's Naam) in this life after taking birth, he has no worries left and does not care about anything else. Pause. Man's own wisdom (thinking) is like that of an intoxicated elephant (which is full of ego and lust). Under such conditions, whatever the man talks about is sinful. With what face can he pray to God when his ritualistic deeds of goodness, and his sins, are witnesses for him? 2. A person's personality (character) depends upon the way You mould him; there is nobody else who can do anything like this, oh Lord. One acquires the same wisdom that You give him. You run the affairs of the world as You wish. 3.

If one sings songs of Your praise using a variety of lyrics, it is approved by Waheguru as long as each lyric is about His praise; the supreme Amrit of His Naam is generated thereby. If someone comes to this realization, then the Naam-Amrit of Waheguru is the true wealth for the devotee, oh Nanak. 4.9.

Assa Mehla 1: Ghur(i) = (in my) heart. Sukhiyaan = my saintly friends. Kaaj(u) Ruchaaya = initiated my marriage ceremony with Waheguru as the husband. Khayl(u) = amazing event. Anund Bhuyya = felt blissful. 1. Kaamni = women (my spiritual friends). Bibayk Beechaar = the knowledge-generating thoughts. Jugjeevun = the life-giving (Waheguru). Bhutaar(u) = husband. Pause. Guru dwaaray = at the door (by the grace) of the Guru. Shuhou = husband (Waheguru). Tihou Loak = the three-layered universe. Shabad(u) = in the form of His laws. Ruviya = is present. Aap(u) Guyya = got rid of selfishness. 2.
Suvaaray = makes successful. Hoarun(i) = others. Sat = service to others. Suntoakh = contentment. Duyya = compassion. Dherm = morality. 3.
Bhunut(i) = says. Pir(u) = husband; master. Sohaagun(i) = gets His love. 4.

MEANING: Waheguru has been very kind to me and has appeared in my heart. My mind is blissful to see this amazing feat that Waheguru has performed by coming to marry me (unite my soul with His). My spiritual friends initiated my marriage with Waheguru as the Husband. 1. Sing the songs of Knowledge-generating thoughts because the source of life of the whole world, Waheguru, has appeared in my heart as my husband, oh my holy friends. Pause. Only then did I realize that my Guru had been instrumental in my union with Waheguru when He appeared in my heart. When I got rid of my selfishness, my mind was convinced that Waheguru is present in all three worlds – the earth, the worlds above and below the earth – in the form of His Shabad (Laws, Huqam). 2.

Waheguru Himself makes His task (of uniting His devotee with Him) successful, and nobody else is capable of doing this. Some rare individual realizes in the shelter of the Guru, that union with Waheguru happens due to the noble qualities of service to humanity, contentment, compassion, and high morality in the devotee. 3. Even though Waheguru is the husband (Master) of all human beings, only that individual is lucky to get His Love, on whom He casts His kind sight, oh Nanak. 4.10.

Word Meaning: Sumsur(i) = equal; same. Sehj(i) = in the spiritual state above the effects of Maya. Soobhaayay = with love and respect. Doormut(i) = ignoble thinking. Gut(u) = leaves; vanishes. Keerut(u) = Waheguru's praise. Tthaayay = (in) place (heart). Sach = Waheguru. Paurri = the ladder (to reach Waheguru). 1. Chooray = cut (the desires) into pieces. Khut Dershun = the six Hindu Shastras. Jaan(u) = knowledgeable. Joat(i) = Waheguru's Light. Pause. Adhik = much. Tiyaas = thirst (for desires). Bhaykh = religious garb (just for show off). Bikhiya = attractions of Maya; vices. Purhuraiy = is pushed away; leaves. Hiraiy = is stolen; lost. Doobidha = indecisiveness of mind. Nisturaiy = salvaged. 2. Sift Slaahun = praise of God. Anund = blissfulness. Sukha Saiyn = friend and relative. Bukhshind(u) = forgiving. Peh(i) = on; for. 3.
Vikaar = lust; vices. Dayh = body. Bhaykh = different faiths. Vern = the four major castes. Khayh = dust; worthless. Usthir(u) = permanent. Rujaayay = Huqam. 4.

MEANING: When one attains the spiritual state above the effects of Maya with his love for Waheguru, his house (family life) becomes (is felt like) a forest (away from family) because he stays fully detached from Maya (he does not need to leave home). His ignoble thoughts leave his mind, and they are replaced by Waheguru's praise. By serving the Guru, his mind stays in its place (quits thinking about Maya), and Waheguru's eternal Naam is on his tongue all the time because he realizes that the Naam is the ladder to reach Waheguru, which resides above the effects of Maya. 1. Waheguru's Naam is the knowledge of the six Hindu Shastras for Him, and by crushing his worldly desires, he finds Waheguru's Light everywhere. Pause. The more religious symbols one wears (to show off), the more the thirst for desires arises in him, whereby he suffers from the discomforts of lust, and the comforts run away from his body (and mind). Lust and rage steal his internal (spiritual) wealth. But he can be salvaged by Waheguru's Naam, provided he overcomes his indecisiveness of mind (his internal struggle between Maya and Naam). 2. Waheguru's praise leads one to the spiritual state above the effects of Maya, and produces bliss in his mind. His love for Him makes Waheguru his friend and a close relative. Waheguru forgives all the misdeeds of His devotees, and they offer their body, mind, and life to Waheguru. 3.

Lies and vices (immoral deeds) cause great pain in the body (and mind), and religious symbols, and one's high caste are like dust (spiritually worthless), and cannot save him from Waheguru's punishment. All those who have been created by Waheguru come and go (are here on the earth for a short period of time); only Waheguru's Naam and His Huqam (Will) are eternal, oh Nanak. 4.11.

Tirbhuvun = three-layered universe. Joat(i) = Waheguru's Light. Jaaniya = recognized; got connected. Oolt Bhuyee = reverse thinking (from Maya to Waheguru). Aaniya = brought. Ehinis(i) = day and night. Liv = devotion. 4.

MEANING: Just like a lotus flower thrives in a pool of water, the Gur Sikhs feel blissful in the shelter of the Guru, which is the only pool of Naam-Amrit, and they spread the fragrance of Naam Amrit. The swan-like Gur Sikhs pick up the pearls of noble qualities from the Guru-Pool, and become a part of the all-powerful (omnipotent) Waheguru (merge into Him). 1.

Just like a lotus flower cannot survive (it dies) outside of water, A Gur Sikh cannot survive spiritually without taking shelter of the Guru (which is the pool of Naam-Amrit); and experiences death like every visible thing that comes into being. Pause.
Some rare individuals understand the effects of the deceitful Maya, which are described in detail by the Vedas. Such Gur Sikhs' thoughts remain concentrated on the Guru's Shabad, and they attain the highest spiritual level by serving the Guru. 2. Those who recite Waheguru's Naam with love and devotion are imbued with His love, get freedom from the bonds of Maya, and their hearts bloom as they stay connected with the King of kings (Waheguru). You ferry even the drowning stone-hearted people across the sea of Maya (salvage them) by casting Your kind sight, oh Waheguru. 3.
By reversing the thinking of the mind from Maya towards Waheguru, the devotee is able to recognize Waheguru's Light in the whole universe, and makes his heart a dwelling for Him. I would love to drop on the feet of those devotees (seek their advice) who worship Waheguru with full devotion day and night, oh Nanak. 4. 12.

Hujoor(i) = omnipresent; close by. Haajur(u) = with full focus and devotion. Saach(u) = have full faith. Koorr(u) = Maya-related; egoistic behaviour. Kehn(i) Kuthun(i) = describe. Vaara = turn; end. Soojh Boojh = understanding. Triput(i) = satisfaction; contentment. 2.

MEANING: Too much cunningness (argumentation) results in the filth of the ego and other vices in one's mind. Such filth can be washed away by Waheguru's Naam when one focuses his attention on it with Guru's grace. With Satguru's eternal advice, one's ego-filled argumentation also goes away. 1. Waheguru is omnipresent, and knows all about the comforts and the troubles of all of us. So, one should pray only to Him with full faith and full concentration. Pause. An individual who deals only in perishables and is conceited of his abilities in argumentation keeps taking birth and dying. By simply displaying his false knowledge about Waheguru, he cannot find His limits, and no spiritual understanding can be seen in such individuals. One does not attain any contentment (mental peace) without Waheguru's Naam. 2. Pudaaruth(u) = (invaluable) item. Naunidh(i) = the nine believed treasures. Pause. Kerm Dherm = accepted religious rituals. Bulihaaray = offer life. Raatay = imbued. Pervaan(u) = approved (by Waheguru). Perm Nidhaan(u) = supreme treasure (Waheguru's Naam). 2. Vur(u) = husband. Dhun = worthy of respect; highly fortunate. Naari = woman (human being). Siyoun = with. Veechaari = ponders on the Shabad. Turaiy = salvaged. Kool = clan (of associates). 3.

Put(i) = honour. Sunjum(u) = efforts to control senses. Sat = true. Bhaaou = love (for Waheguru). Poochh = inquiry; checking. Dooja Maytay = get rid of Maya. 4.
MEANING: Kindly give me the gift of Waheguru's Naam, which makes one immortal by connecting him with Waheguru, oh merciful Satguru. Whoever is embraced by Waheguru (gets connected with Him) becomes immortal as he merges with Him. Such a devotee has Waheguru's Naam at heart all the time, never gets disconnected with Him, and always enjoys His company (union with Him). 1. I have realized the sweetness of Waheguru's Naam by the grace of the Guru, and feel blissful as if I have acquired all the nine mythical treasures of the world. Kindly keep me in Your shelter at all times, oh Waheguru. Pause.
I will gladly offer my life to the devotee for whom Waheguru's Naam is everything (all the comforts and honour), and which also subsumes all the religious rituals. Those devotees are approved in Waheguru's Court who are imbued in His Naam, and one acquires the supreme treasure of Waheguru's Naam in their company. 2.

Those human brides are highly fortunate who are able to acquire Waheguru as their husband (get connected with Him). Imbued in His Naam, they always ponder on Guru's Shabad (Waheguru's praise). Not only do they find salvation for themselves, but they also do the same for all their associates. 3. Waheguru's Naam with love and devotion is the caste, the dignity, and all the religious rituals for me (they have no significance for me). When Waheguru is kind to a devotee, His Naam terminates his love for Maya, and nobody asks him any questions in His Court, oh Nanak. 4.14.

Word Meaning: Ikk(i) = many; countless. Aaveh(i) = come; are born. Jaaveh(i) Aayee = go and come back; take rebirths. Smaayee = stay absorbed (in Waheguru). Dhern(i) = earth. Guggun = sky. Tthaur = shelter; peace. Kerm-heen = unlucky. 1.
Gut(i) = higher spiritual state. Mit(i) = measurement (self-evaluation). Bikh(i) = poison. Vut = like. Ut(i) = extremely. Bhuoujul = the world sea. Pause.
Kaal(u) = (fear of) death. Payl(i) = push around. Nirmul = pure; detached from Maya. Umbh = Jul = water. Niraaray = completely unaffected. 2. Deesay = visible. Braham = Waheguru. Luhiyaiy = acquire. Akuth(u) = indescribable. Kuthoun = say; recite (Naam).

MEANING: Countless people are born, and countless die and are reborn in the world. But many remain absorbed in Waheguru's Naam and are beyond birth and death (they become part of Waheguru, and their birth-death-birth cycle ends). Some unlucky people do not keep Waheguru in mind and do not find peace on earth or in the sky (anywhere). 1.
This world is like a sea (of worldly attractions) that is poisonous to spirituality and almost impossible to swim across with one's own efforts. It can be swum across only with the Guru's Shabad in Waheguru's praise. One can analyze oneself and acquire a high spiritual state only with the kindness of the Perfect Guru. Pause. The fear of death cannot push aside the devotees who are connected to Waheguru by His benevolence. Just like the lotus flower, which stays unaffected at the surface of water, such dear devotees of Waheguru stay pure (above the effects of Maya). 2. Whom can we consider good or bad (nobody can be called bad or good because they are guided or misguided by Waheguru)? Only a supreme devotee realizes and "sees" Waheguru in the shelter of the Guru. I recite the Naam of the indescribable Waheguru with the advice of the Guru, and can swim across the world sea in His shelter. 3. Hindu religious texts, such as the Shastras, Vedas, and the Smritis, discuss many different ways to worship the deities, but the Sikhs follow only the Guru's advice. For him, Waheguru's Naam at heart is like taking a dip in the 68 holy places. With Waheguru's Naam at heart, which has been written in his fate right from his birth, he is always clean (pure) (without taking any dip at holy places), oh Nanak. 4.15.

Word Meaning: Niv(i), Niv(i) = by bowing down. Aatumraam(u) = Waheguru. Nihaariya = saw closely (realized) in my mind. Ruvviya = present; appeared. 1.
Nistaara = salvation. Ruttan(u) = jewel (like Lord). Laabhaiy = is found; realized. Oojiyaara = light; enlightenment. Pause. Ruvnee Ruvaiy = recites (Naam) as an obligation (as a ritual). Bundhun = bonds (of Maya). Bherm(u) = misgivings. Laykhay Paayee = gets credit. 2. Sookh-Saagur = ocean (source) of comforts (Waheguru). Oordhaaray = enshrine in heart. Bhugut(i) Vuchhul = lover of His worship; God. Jugjeevun(u) = soul of the world (God). Daata = Provider (God). 3. Joojh(i) = fight without fear of death. Munsa = wishes. Smaayay = get absorbed. Sehj Bhaayay = with love but without any special effort. Liv = meditation. 4.
MEANING: I like to bow down to touch the feet of my Satguru, with whose grace I have realized Waheguru in my heart. This fact (the role of the Guru) came to light when Waheguru appeared in my heart after I pondered on the Guru's Shabad. 1.
Recite Waheguru's Naam, which salvages you, oh my friends. You realize the jewel-like, invaluable Waheguru in your mind with the grace of the Guru, whereby your darkness of ignorance disappears, and your mind is enlightened. Pause.
One cannot break the bonds of Maya by reciting Waheguru's Naam only as a ritual (without real love for Him) because one's misgivings are not cleared as long as one suffers from haumein. One gets spiritual credit only after one gets rid of one's haumein in the shelter of the Guru. 2. The source of all comforts, Waheguru, can be worshipped only by reciting His Naam with love and reverence, and by enshrining the Naam in the heart. Waheguru, which is the soul of the whole world, and which loves His worship, salvages you when you follow the Guru's advice. 3. One realizes Waheguru when he fights (struggles) with his mind and kills his sensual desires, and when his wishes stay absorbed in the mind (they die down as well). When Waheguru becomes kind to a devotee, he focuses his mind on Waheguru, and attains the high spiritual state, oh Nanak. 4.16.

Word Meaning: Rumut(u) Sreeraan = present in all bodies. Gehr = unfathomable. Gumbheera = has no emotions; does not change with circumstances (God). Pause. Anut = countless. Trung = waves of love. Runga = in love with. Soochay = pure; pious. Sunga = with. Mithiya = false; wasteful. Saakut = Maya-lover. Niraara = detached. 2. Aatum = soul. Cheen(i) = search; analyze. Liv = focus of mind. Aad(i) = root. Apaar = limitless. Uprumpur = beyond limits. Heera = diamond (Waheguru). Dheera = has become stable. 3. Kuthnee = simply show off their knowledge. Maya Chhaaya = under the shade of (influenced by) Maya. 4.

MEANING: With the advice of the Guru, recite the Naam of the unfathomable, and the never-changing Waheguru, which is present in all bodies, oh my mind. Pause. (Unlike the pundits, who take part in spiritually worthless discussions to flaunt their knowledge) a devotee who realizes Waheguru becomes deep (calm) like Waheguru and does not show off his Divine Knowledge to anyone by sharing it or advising them so that they understand. He is content with Guru's Shabad and does not preach to others (force them to listen to him) to help them understand the noble qualities. 1. Such a devotee remains imbued with the love of Waheguru, with countless waves of love for Waheguru arising in his mind. With Waheguru-like noble qualities in him, he is pure at heart all the time. The birth of the Maya-loving people is (spiritually) wasteful in the world, whereas the Waheguru-loving devotees stay fully detached from worldly attractions (and acquire a high spiritual state. 2. One's body (and mind) is purified by singing Waheguru's praise (His Naam); his mind stays focused on Waheguru when he analyzes himself. The diamond-like, invaluable Waheguru is the root of the whole universe and is limitless. My mind has quit wandering (has become stable) ever since it got imbued in the love of the dear Waheguru. 3.
Those who recite Waheguru's Naam just as a ritual (for show off only) experience spiritual death because He is so close to us and knows everything about us. I have seen the whole world to be under the control of Maya (engrossed in it), but I recite Waheguru's Naam with Guru's advice, oh Nanak. 4.17.

Word Meaning: Titooka = verses with three lines. Bheekhuk(u) = beggar. Upmaan(u) = dishonour. Dhaah(i) = demolish. Oosaaray = construct; create. Vakhaaleen = show. Chunga = better. 1. Adhaar(u) = basis. Kernhaar(u) = creator = Kartar(u). Pause. Vaat = straight path; destination. Veenga = at an angle; off the right path. Baiysun = to sit; to live. Kheen = weak. Khuraab = getting ruined. Kundh(u) = wall, human body. Laykhaiy Tayraiy = You have the account of. Giraas(u) = bite of food. 2. Ehinis(u) = day and night (always). Deepuk(u) = lamp; enlightenment. Bhuoujul = world-sea. Chinta = worry. Maaneh(i) = obeys. Naaoun = Huqam; advice. Bulihaaray = offer life to sacrifice. Jeeou = soul. Pind(u) = body. Paas(i) = under control. 3. Jupeen = recite. Doormut(i) = evil thinking. Giyaan(u) = Divine Knowledge; Waheguru's Naam. Nudr(i) = kind sight. 4.

MEANING: It is with Waheguru's Will that there are some people who are beggars, and live on begging all their life; while there are some others who rule some states, and (ignoring Waheguru), stay absorbed in their reign. So, some people enjoy respect in society, while some others receive disrespect. Waheguru demolishes and creates as He pleases, and keeps everybody in mind. There is none higher than You, whom I can show to be better than You, oh Waheguru. 1. You are the Provider and the Creator, and my support, oh Waheguru. Pause. I follow the wrong path and will not reach my destination; as a result, I will have no room in Waheguru's Court (will not be approved for union with Him). I am blinded by the attractions of Maya, which serve as an obstacle (for my union with Waheguru), and as a result, my body (mind) is losing its strength and is being ruined (spiritually). My mind has a strong wish to eat good food and live long. But Waheguru has the account of my every breath and my every bite. 2. However, Waheguru also worries about the spiritually blind who are drowning in the sea of Maya, and enlightens them (shows them the path of righteousness) day and night. I am a sacrifice for all those who recite, listen to, and obey Waheguru's Naam. I want to pray before Waheguru, who has control over our souls and bodies (that I always remember Him). 3.

So as to get a room in His Court, I can recite Waheguru's Naam only if He grants me that (motivates me to do so). I can get rid of my evil thinking only if You like it, oh Waheguru, so that Your jewel-like Naam can take root in my mind. I pray to Waheguru to be kind to me, and connect me with the Guru so that I may swim across the world-sea, oh Nanak. 4.18.

Word Meaning: Punchpuday = Shabads with five verses. Dhayn = cow. Punkh = wings. Punkhi = bird. Ootbhooj = vegetation; crops. Kaam(i) Naahi = of no use. Kiyya = of what kind. Sultan = a Muslim king. Slaam Vihoona = without any salutati.on (respect). Kotthi = a small room; heart. 1. Kee = why? Pause. Jeebh = tongue. Rus(u) = sweet taste. Puvun = air; sound. Pujoota Aagaiy = held (supported) at the front. Ful = result; reward. 2. Ukkhur = words of praise for Waheguru. Birkh = tree. Baag = orchard. Bhooyayn = ground (human heart). Chokhi = much (suitable; purified). Sinchit = irrigate. Bhaaou = love. Kerma = fortune. Layhi = acquire. 3. Jaytay = all those. Taytay = the same. Bhaana = Will. 4. Mern(u) = death (of selfishness and ego). Joogut(i) = technique; style. Jeevaalay = give (new) life. 5.

MEANING: A cow is of no use if it does not produce milk; a bird is incomplete (incapacitated) without its wings; crops are worthless if they dry out without water; and a sultan is irrelevant if he does not command any respect; similarly, a heart is completely dark if it does not have Waheguru's Naam in it. 1. Why should I forget You when I suffer a lot without Your Naam, oh Waheguru? Please, do not be forgotten from my heart as I suffer deeply without You. Pause. When the man gets old, he becomes almost blind; his tongue becomes incapable of enjoying tastes; he cannot hear any sound; and he needs support at the front to walk. He suffers from such physical incapabilities because, forgetting Waheguru, he indulged in the enjoyment of sensual pleasures all his life, which robbed him of his mental (and physical) capabilities. Such is the result of not serving Waheguru (and enjoying sensual pleasures). 2. If a man plants an orchard of trees of words of praise for Waheguru in the field of his heart, which is well prepared with noble qualities, and irrigates this orchard with love for Waheguru, then each tree bears the same fruit - Waheguru's Naam. However, one cannot grow such an orchard without good fortune. 3.

Even though all the living beings are Yours, nobody can reap a reward without their good fortune (based on their previous deeds and predetermined by Waheguru). One gets comforts and discomforts as per the Will of Waheguru, and one does not enjoy peace without Waheguru's Naam. 4. One should have the wisdom to kill his worldly desires; his spiritual life becomes meaningless as he does not follow the real lifestyle leading to a high spiritual state. I make only one request to Waheguru: that He grant the people the ability to obey His Will, and that they be happy in whatever situation He keeps them, oh Nanak. 5.19.

Word Meaning: Kaaya = body. Brahma = Supreme Being. Dhoti = a saree-like cloth worn by Brahmans while worshipping their idols. Giyan(u) = (acquiring) Divine Knowledge. Junayoo = the sacred thread that the Brahmans wear as a sign of purity. Dhiyaan(u) = focus of mind. Koospaati = ring of long grass that the Brahmans wear during worship. Jus(u) = praise. Jaachoun = wish for. 1. Paanday = oh, Brahman. Sooch(i) = purity. Chujj(u) Achaar(u) = performance of rituals. Pause. Jichur = as long as. Jot(i) = soul. Naal(i) = with. Tikka = anointment. Aiythaiy Oathaiy = here and there (in this world, and the next). Nibhee = supports you. Kerm = rituals. Bhaal(i) look for. 2. Pooja = worship. Purjaal(i) = destroy completely. Aiko = Only the "one" (Waheguru). Cheenaiy = recognizes (makes a connection with). Tutt(u) = the root (Waheguru). Guggun Dus-Doaar = the tenth door (through which one connects with God). Paatth Purrhaiy = reads the teachings (of Vedas). 3. Bhojun(u) = food (for the idol). Paahrooura = guard. Chhub(i) = majestic image. Lilaat(u) = on the forehead. Bibayk(i) = the wisdom (ability) to distinguish between good and bad. 4. Achaareen = rituals. Jeetiya = conquer; win favour of. Keemut(i) = worth. Asht-Duseen = the 18 (Puranas). Chuhoun = the four (Vedas). 5.

MEANING: You wrap yourself in a dhoti, put a thread which you believe to be sacred around your neck, anoint your forehead, observe cleanliness, and perform many rituals when you worship your idol, oh Brahman. But I worship my Waheguru with the firm belief that He is present in my body, and the purification of my mind serves as the dhoti (which you use as a sign of purity). Acquiring Divine Knowledge is my junayoo, and the focus of my mind is the ring of long grass that you wear. I beg for Waheguru's Naam, which is singing His praise. With Guru's grace, I get absorbed in the Supreme Being. 1. You should rather ponder on Waheguru in such a way that His Naam becomes cleanliness for you, and recite it so that it serves as all your rituals, oh Brahman. Pause. Your junayoo is good (if it is) for only as long as you live. Make Waheguru's Naam your dhoti and anointment, which will stay with you in this world as well as in the next. Do not look for any other ritual. 2. Burn the attractions of Maya completely with the worship of Waheguru with love, and do not look for any other deity. By recognizing the root of the universe (Waheguru) in your mind with His Naam on your tongue, and by pondering on the Naam, you will feel as if you are meditating in the tenth door (connected with God) all the time. 3. Rather than offering food to the idol, if the Brahman fosters love for Waheguru in his mind, all his misgivings and worldly fears will be dispelled. And with the majestic image of Waheguru as his guard, no thief (worldly attraction) can rob him of his noble qualities. Rather than anointing his forehead, if the Brahman recognizes the "One" Supreme Being (makes a connection with Waheguru), he will acquire the knowledge to distinguish between the poisonous effects of Maya and the Amrit-Naam of Waheguru. 4. One cannot win the favour of Waheguru (please Him) with the customary rituals. He may read the holy books like the Vedas, but the Brahman will never know the worth of Waheguru. The eighteen Puranas and the four Vedas have not found out the secrets of Waheguru, but my Satguru has shown me the omnipresent Waheguru, oh Nanak. 5.20.

Toon Aapay jaaneh(i), serb vidaani. Nanak, Aiko Dur(u) Deebaan(u). Gurmukh(i) Saach(u), tuhaan goodraan(u). 5.21.

Word Meaning: Sayvuk(u) = servant. Daas(u) = slave. Tthaakur = Lord. Gurmukh(i) = obedient of the Guru. Sir(i) = Saaji = created. Phoon(i) = too. Goyee = destroyed. Uver(u) = other. 1. Sachay = pure with high morality. Saachaiy Durbaar(i) = in the Court of the eternal Waheguru. Pause. Urj(u) = request. Ardaas(i) = prayer. Mehleen = in His Palace. Khusm(u) = Lord. Vudiyaayi = honour. 2. Taan(u) = power. Deebaan(u) = support. Neehaan(u) = identification. Pergut = is honoured. Tthaak = obstruction. 3. Vukhaaneh(i) = explains. Vust(u) = (the real) thing (Waheguru). Sojhi = awareness. Ruv(i) Ruhhiya = is present. 4. Serb Vidaani = the performer of all amazing feats. Deebaan(u) = shelter. Goodraan(u) = support of life. 5.

MEANING: Only that individual is the true servant, slave, or devotee of Waheguru, who obeys the teachings of the Guru. Such a devotee believes that Waheguru, which has created the world, destroys it too, and there is no one else like Him. 1.

The Sikh of the Guru ponders on His Shabad, and recites Waheguru's Naam. With noble qualities, like purity of heart and high morality, he is approved in Waheguru's Court and stays absorbed in Him. Pause. Guru's Sikh prays to Waheguru with pure mind (with no expectation), and with love for Him, because of which Waheguru invites him to His Palace (connects the Sikh with Him), and acclaims him. Waheguru invites him to His throne and honours him. Whatever Waheguru wishes, takes place. 2. Waheguru is the power, and the support for Guru's Sikh, and Guru's Shabad is his identification to connect with Waheguru. The Sikh obeys the Guru's Huqam, and, with the Guru's Shabad as his identification, he experiences no hindrance on his path to union with Waheguru, where he is honoured. 3. The pundit reads the Vedas and explains to the masses, but does not know the secret that Waheguru resides hidden in his own heart (mind). He cannot gain understanding and the required knowledge without the Guru who teaches that the eternal Waheguru is present everywhere. 4. What can I say about Your magnanimity, and explain it to others (I am unable to do so), oh Waheguru. Only you know your magnanimity, oh, the performer of the amazing feats! For the Sikh, Waheguru is his shelter and his support, where he can recite His Naam in the peaceful state of mind, oh Nanak. 5.21.

Nanak, Ram Naam(i) mun(u) raata, Gurmut(i) paayay sehj sayva. 5.22.

Word Meaning: Kaachi Gaagur(i) = breakable earthen vessel. Dayh = body. Doohayli = source of discomfort. Dootur(u) = very tough to swim across. 1. Huray = oh, Waheguru. Rungeen = in different colours. Roopeen = in different forms. Bukhshay = grants; forgives.

Nudr(i) = kind sight. Pause. Saas(u) = mother-in-law, a metaphor for Maya. Vaas(u) = living. Boori = bad. Sukhi Saajni = friends in a holy gathering. 2. Maar(i) Mun(u) = by controlling mind against worldly attractions. Sa = like. Meet = friend. 3. Munsa = desires. Binaasut = eradicated. Trihou Goon = the three effects of Maya. Niraas = turned off; feel detached. Toori Aavustha = spiritual state above Maya. Oat = shelter. Luhhi = acquired. 4. Dhiyan = focus of the mind. Jup = recitation of mantras. Tup = enduring hardships (to please the deities). Alukh = incomprehensible (God). Abhayva = whose secrets cannot be known. Raata = imbued. Sehj = high spiritual state. 5.

MEANING: The human body is perishable like an earthen vessel, and becomes a source of suffering for the man because it keeps being created and destroyed (man keeps being born, and dying). The world is like an ocean (of Maya), which is extremely difficult to swim across without the shelter of the Guru. 1. There is none other than You (the Lord of the universe), oh my dear Waheguru. You appear in many colours and forms. You give (Your Naam) only to those whom You are kind to. Pause. Like a bad mother-in-law who does not allow her daughter-in-law to get together with her husband, Maya is also very bad because she does not allow the human bride (soul) to get connected with Waheguru (by keeping him trapped in her mind-captivating attractions). But I serve the feet of my friends in the holy gathering of the Guru (show tremendous respect for them), who connected me with the Guru, by whose grace, Waheguru has cast a kind sight on me. 2.

By analyzing myself and by killing my desires, I realized that there is no other friend like You, oh Waheguru. So, I will lead my life in whatever way You guide me, and will be happy whether You keep me in comfort or in discomfort. 3. One attains the spiritual state above the effects of Maya only in the shelter of the Guru, where his hopes and wishes both get eradicated. So, I have taken shelter in the gathering of the holy men. 4.

When a devotee acquires the Naam of the incomprehensible Waheguru whose secrets cannot be known in his heart, he feels that he has acquired the Divine Knowledge with the focus of his mind, and does not need recitation of any mantra or any hardship to punish himself. One attains the high spiritual state by serving the Guru and following His advice. My mind is now imbued in Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 5.22.

Word Meaning: Punchpuday = Shabad with five verses. Moh(u) = attachment; strong bond with. Kootumb = family. Kaar = dealings. Tujhou = give up; abandon. Vaykaar = immoral acts; vices. 1. Bherm(u) = illusions. Ruvvaiy = is recited. Sreer = body; man. Pause. Nuvnidh(i) = the nine treasures. Poot(u) = mind. Kulpaiy = suffer in struggle. Maayee = (for the sake of) Maya. 2. Ait = this. Ootraiy Paar(i) = gets across. Jumpur(i)

= in the city (court) of the Angel of death. 4. Deekhiya = advice. Kmaah(i) = earns. Thaayayn Paayay = gets credit. 5.

MEANING: All man's dealings are rooted in the attachments with his family and the worldly attractions. One must overcome their strong bonds to worldly attractions, as they lead to vices and immoral activities. 1. Get rid of your illusions about Maya and its attractions by reciting Waheguru's Naam, oh my brothers. Pause. When one acquires Waheguru's Naam, which is the source of all the nine treasures of the world, his mind, which is the son of Maya (loves it like its mother), will not cry for its mother, Maya, which will not cause any suffering for it. 2. The world drowns in the sea of Maya because of its strong attraction for it, while some rare individual, who takes the Guru's shelter, swims across it. 3. One is caught in the cycle of rebirths because of his bonds of affection for the family, and for the attractions of Maya, and is taken to the court of the Angel of death (for further punishment). 4. Those who keep reciting mantras and endure hardships with the advice of their (Maya- engrossed) guru cannot break the bonds of worldly attractions and get no spiritual credit. 5. One is able to break the bonds of worldly attractions with the kind sight of Waheguru, when he stays absorbed in Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 6.23.

Word Meaning: Alukh = incomprehensible. Apaar(u) = beyond limits. Huoun = I am. Bukhshunhaar(u) = forgiving. 1. Bhaana = Will. Hutth(i) = persistence of mind. Keechaiy = by doing. Vigovaiy = suffers humiliation. Pause. Koorr(i) = in deceit; in perishables. Viyaapi = overpowered. Suntaapi = suffers. 2. Doormut(i) = immoral thinking. Tiyaag(i) = by giving up. Laaha = (spiritual) benefit. Oopjaiy = happens after that. 3. Sukhaa = friend. Suhaayee = supporter. Drirraayee = reinforced. 4. Saudeen = busines dealings. Toata = shortage. Bhaavaiy = is liked. 5.

MEANING: I am a sinner, and You are the forgiver, oh Waheguru. Everything is done by You (happens by Your Will), oh the incomprehensible and limitless Waheguru. 1.
(No matter what the man does), Everything happens by Your Will. The man, who follows the obstinacy of his mind, suffers humiliation at the end. Pause. The thinking of the man who follows his mind is guided by the perishable attractions of Maya, and without the recitation of Waheguru's Naam, the sinner suffers badly. 2. One should earn some spiritual benefit (wealth) by getting rid of his evil thinking; and whatever happens after that (high spiritual state) is due to the benevolence of the incomprehensible Waheguru, whose secrets cannot be known. 3. Waheguru is such a good friend and supporter of the man that He connects the devotee with the Guru who reinforces (implants) Waheguru's worship in the devotee's mind. of wealth and spirituality), but there is never a loss when one recites Waheguru's Naam; that is why I like it very much, oh Nanak. 5.24.

Aas niraasi, tuou sanyasi. Ja jut(u) yogi, ta kaaya bhogi. 2. Duyya digumbur(u), dayh beechaari. Aap(i) muraiy, uvraan neh maari. 3. Aik(u) Tu, hoar(i) vays buhoutayray. Nanak(u) jaanaiy choaj naTayray. 4.25.

Word Meaning: Vidiya = education. Taan = only if. Per-oopkaari = philanthropist; humanitarian. 1. Ja = if. Punch Raasi = has control on the five demons. Ghooghroo Vaajaiy = dancing with belled-anklets is acceptable. Aagaiy = in the next world. Pause. Aas Niraasi = disappointed with; detached (free of all hopes and wishes). Sanyasi = who has renounced the world. 2. Jut(u) Yogi = has the celibacy; controlled lust; high morality. Kaaya Bhogi = family man (some yogis have families). 3. Digumbur(u) = naked sadhu (Jain). Muraiy = kills desires. Uvraan Neh Maari = does not kill others; is non-violent. Vays = different forms. Choaj = amazing feats. 4.

MEANING: (People use different approaches to please their deities; for example, some people, especially the Brahmans, take education (acquire knowledge) of the Vedas and other religious books with the belief that such deep knowledge pleases the deities; while some dwell at the holy places, some wear belled anklets and dance; while some others renounce the world to become sanyasis. Still, some others become yogis, or embrace Jainism and live naked. Guru Sahib professes that such approaches are meaningful only, and only, if the followers meet the following conditions:

A man is considered educated only if he has become a philanthropist to help others; and a person's dwelling at the holy places is worthy only if he has control over his five senses. 1. A man's dancing with belled anklets is useful only if his mind is focused on Waheguru (and is free of all selfishness). Such a devotee cannot be questioned by the Angel of death. Pause. A person is truly a sanyasi only if he has cleared his mind of all his hopes and wishes, and a yogi is a successful family man only if he still maintains the high morals of yogism. 2. A naked Jain is approved by Waheguru only if he has become thoughtful by body (mind), and kills his desires. Only then is he truly non-violent. 3. There is only You, who controls the whole world; all others are Your different forms, oh Waheguru. I, Nanak, do not understand Your amazing feats, oh Lord. 4.25.

Word Meaning: Bhuriya = loaded with bad qualities. Shuhou = Husband (Waheguru) Houn = I. Nis(i) Bhur(i) = the whole night. 1. Iyoun = Like this. Kiyou = how. Kunt = husband. Pause. Aas Piyaasi = thirsty (wishful) of desires. Sayjaiy = on the bed (of heart). Aagaiy = next. Sheh = husband. Bhaavaan = is liked by. 2. Dershun = (holy) sight. Rehn(u) Na Jaayee = cannot live. Pause. Oodaasi = sad. Niraasi = disappointed. Pause. Khoyay = lose; get rid of. Seegaar = adornment (with noble qualities). Kaamun(i) = woman (wife). Ruvaiy = enjoys. Bhutaar(u) = husband (Waheguru). 4. Kuntaiy = of the husband. Bhaavaiy = is liked. Vudaayee = ego. Pause.

MEANING: I do not have just one bad quality (rather have many), so that I could wash it away by acquiring noble qualities. For example, I sleep through the whole night (forgetting Waheguru and unaware of Maya's attacks), whereas my Husband (Waheguru) stays awake (watchful) all the time (looking after His creation). 1. How can I be loved by my Waheguru-Husband when I sleep through the whole night (of life) while He is awake all the time? Pause. I go to bed (to connect with Waheguru) with many wishes in mind, but I am not sure whether my Husband will like me. 2.

I do not know what will happen next (whether Waheguru will like me or not), but I cannot live without “seeing” Him, oh my mother. Pause. I have not tasted His love yet, and my thirst for His love is not quenched yet. My youth is over (time is running out to connect with Waheguru), and now I am repenting (that I did not serve Him earlier). 3.

I am alert (to worship Waheguru) now, and am still hopeful to unite with Him; but I am not sure whether He will embrace me, so I am sad and losing hope. Pause.

If the human bride overcomes her ego and selfishness, and adorns (embellishes) her with noble qualities, then the Lord - Husband enjoys union with her. 4.

When the human bride abandons her ego, and gets absorbed in Waheguru’s Naam, she is loved by her Waheguru-Husband, oh Nanak. Pause. 26.

Word Meaning: Payvkurraiy = Parents' house; this world. Dhun = human being. Khurie = much. Iyaani = ignorant. Sheh = Husband; Lord. Saar = value; worth. 1.
Sahururraiy = in-laws' house; next world. Saach(u) = Waheguru. Puchhaaniya = recognized. Sehj(i) = in the blissful spiritual state. Soobhaayay = (with) love. 2.
Gur Persaadi = with Guru's grace. 3. Bhaiy = fear. Bhaav = love. Seegaar = adornment; beautification. Ruvaiy = enjoys. Bhutaar(u) = husband. 4.
MEANING: The human bride is highly ignorant (about Waheguru) while living in this world, and has no idea about the worth of getting connected with Him. 1.
I have only one Husband (Lord), and there is none other. However, I can connect with Him only if He casts a kind sight on me. Pause. But, if the human bride is lucky to get Guru's advice (as to how to have a wonderful life in the next world) she recognizes the eternal Waheguru, and gets connected with her Waheguru-Husband with love and by attaining the blissful spiritual state (above the effects of Maya). 2. But one acquires such wisdom only by Guru's grace, and is liked by the Lord. 3. If the human bride adorns herself with respectful fear for Waheguru and love for Him, she enjoys the love of the Waheguru-Husband on the bed of her heart, oh Nanak. 4.27.

Word Meaning: Jhootthaiy Moh(i) = in short-lived attachments. Bherm(i) = in misgivings; in illusions. Bhoolaayee = misled. 1. Augun = bad qualities; vices. Kookaiy = pray aloud (from the depth of his heart) for help. Tis(u) = that (God). 2. Doormut(i) = ill advice (thinking). Khoyee = lost; got rid of. 3. Sachay = pure-minded. Sach(i) = in the Eternal (Waheguru).
MEANING: There is no son or no mother of anyone (or any other relation) for ever in this world. The world is misled in illusions of false attachments of short-lived relations. 1.
(I have realized this reality) that I have been created by Waheguru (He controls my life completely), and that I can recite His Naam only with His grace. Pause.
If someone has too many bad qualities, but prays to Waheguru from the depth of his heart, he may be forgiven by Him if He likes to do so. 2. Word Meaning: Doopuday = Shabad with two verses. Server-rraiy = pool; world-sea. Bhuyeelay = has taken place. Nivaasa = dwelling. Paavuk = fire (of desies). Punk = mud. Pug(u) = foot; step. Daykhaan = while watching. Doobiulay = is drowning. 1.
Aik = The One (Waheguru). Chaytus(i) = remembering. Moorr = foolish. Bisrut = forgetting; ignoring. Guliya = rotted; gone bad. Pause. Jutee = celibate (control over lust). Sutee = having high moral character; serving others. Moogdha = foolish. Prunvut(i) = prays humbly. 2.

MEANING: Waheguru has given us life in such a world-sea which He has filled with the fire (of desires) rather than with water. Here, the mud of worldly attachments is so sticky that we cannot pull ourselves out of it. In fact, we see the world drowning in this sea of attachments. 1. (The only way to get out of this mud is to acquire noble qualities by reciting Waheguru's Naam), But the foolish mind does not remember Waheguru, because of which man's noble qualities become rotten (change into vices). Pause.
I have no control over my lust, nor do I have a good moral character to serve others. I have no education either. Because of these bad qualities, my life is like that of a foolish and idiotic person. Word Meaning: Chhay = six. Ghur = Shastras. Gur = gurus; authors. Oopdaysh = teachings; philosophies. Gur(u) Gur(u) = Guru of the gurus (authors). Aiko = Waheguru. Vays = forms. Anayk = countless. 1. Jaiy = (in) which. Ghur = book; house of holy congregation. Kertay = of the Creator (Waheguru). Keerut(i) = praise. Vudaayee = honour; recognition. Pause. Visuyay, Chusiyaan, Ghurriyaan, Pehraan = all units of time. Thiti = days corresponding to the different phases of the moon. Vaari = days of the week. Mah(u) = month. Root(i) = seasons. Vays = forms. 2.

MEANING: There are six Hindu Shastras (religious books) with six different gurus (authors), and with six different philosophies. But all such gurus have only One Guru (Waheguru), which has countless different forms. 1. So, one should read only that book, or attend only that congregation where Waheguru's praise is sung. That way, he too will be honoured in Waheguru's Court. Pause. We cannot sing complete praise of the Waheguru who has created only one sun and one moon, but many different seasons, different phases of the moon, and subdivisions of time (lengths of days and nights) based on their motion. Word Meaning: Lukh = one hundred thousand; countless. Lushkur = soldiers. Vaajay = musical instruments. Nayjay = spears; weapons. Slaam(u) = salutation; guard of honour. Phoormaayish = command; order. Maan(u) = respect. Put(i) = dignity; honour. Laykhaiy Na Puvaiy = is not counted (earns no credit from God). Niraful = worthless. 1. Dhundha = business; bonds of Maya. Bhola = ignorant. Pause.
Khutiyeh(i) = earn. Sunjiyeh(i) = accumulate. Khaajeh(i) = consume. Jea = soul. Kithaiy Paah(i) = where it goes. 2. Shast = Shastras (religious books). Sumjhaavni = teachers; gurus. Koopervaan = disapproved. 3. Oopjaiy = is produced; one gets. Kerm(i) = due to kindness or grace. Ehinis = day and night = always. Vusaiy = dwells. Paar(u) = is salvaged. 4.

MEANING: A man may have a large army of soldiers, and there may be countless assistants to give him a guard of honour with countless musical instruments and weapons; and he may be issuing orders to countless people who are ready to serve him with respect; but, if he is not recognized in Waheguru's Court, all that worldly respect is worthless. 1.
Without Waheguru's Naam, the world is all business rooted in Maya, and is caught in its bonds. Even if someone tries to explain the reality, the man blind of wisdom stays blind. Pause. If a man earns millions of rupees and accumulates millions, and eats food worth millions, and millions come and go (earns and loses), but if such worldly respect is not recognized in Waheguru's Court, then (only God knows) what happens to his soul. 2.
There are countless people who explain the teachings of the Shastras, and countless pundits who read the Puranas, but if their achievements are not recognized in Waheguru's Court, then all such efforts are spiritually worthless. 3. One gets real respect only with Waheguru's Naam, and he gets to acquire Naam in his heart only by the grace of Waheguru. Ikk loaki, hoar chhumichhuri, Brahman vutt(i) pind(u) khaayay. Nanak pind(u) bukhsheesh ka kubhoon nikhootus(i) naah(i). 4.2.32.

NOTE: Like all other occasions, the Hindus follow many rituals even at the death of a relative. They believe that the dead person travels to his ancestors to live with them, and that journey takes a full year. The dead body travels through deep darkness and through wilderness, where he is alone. He needs light, food, and water to survive on the way. So, to meet all his needs, they place an earthen lamp, which requires oil, in the dying person's hand (to provide light during his journey). After the cremation, they make balls of some cereal grains, place them on large tree leaves, and put them close to the cremation site, believing that the cereal balls will serve as food for him on the way. The family Brahmans recite some mantras for his spiritual guidance.

Word Meaning: Deeva = earthen lamp. Oon(i) = that (Naam). Dookh = suffering Oh(u) = that (suffering). Soakhiya = absorbed. Chooka = settled; ended. 1.
Loaka = hey folks. Mut(i) = lest. Phukkurr(i) Paayay = take it as a joke. Murriyaan = pieces of wood. Rutee = a tiny amount; (a small flame). Bhaah(i) = fire. Pause.
Pind(u) = body; cereal balls. Puttal(i) = leaves on which the balls are placed. Kaysou = Waheguru. Kiriya = rites. Aithaiy, Oathaiy = here and there (this world and the next). Aagaiy Pachhaiy = in the future and in the past. Aadhaar(u) = basis; support of life. 2.
Gung = the River Ganga (Hindus consider it very holy). Banaras = A holy city believed to be the city of Shiva. Atum Rao = soul. Theeyay = happens. 3. Loaki = living in the sky (gods). Chhumichhuri = who walk on earth (ancestors). Vutt(i) = by rolling. Bukhsheesh = of kindness. Nikhootus(i) = runs out. 4.

MEANING: I do not need any ritualistic earthen lamp on the palm of my hand; Waheguru's Naam is the lamp for me in which I use (burn) my sufferings as the oil. The Naam provides the light (enlightens my mind), and my troubles are soaked (are burned down). Because of Waheguru's Naam, my account with the Angel of Death has been settled (I will not have to deal with him). 1. Do not take it as a joke, oh folks; just as a small flame of fire can turn millions of pieces of wood into ash, all sins can be destroyed by Waheguru's Naam. Pause. Waheguru's Naam is the serving of cereal balls on the leaves of a tree, and for all the rites for me (all such rites are meaningless for me). Waheguru's Naam is the basis of my life in this world, and in the next, in the past, and in the future. 2.
Hindus consider the River Ganga, and the city of Banaras very holy, but Your praise is the real holy place for me in which my soul takes dips, oh Waheguru. The real bathing takes place when a devotee stays absorbed in Waheguru's love day and night. 3.
The Brahman rolls the cereal balls in the name of gods and the ancestors, and later enjoys rich meals at the house of the family in which the death had taken place. These ritualistic balls never reach their intended destinations (in fact, birds and dogs feast on them); the real ball is the kindness of Waheguru, which never runs out, oh Nanak. 4.32.

Word Meaning: Dershun = holy sight (of Waheguru). Kaiy Taayee = for. Jutee = celibates. Joogut(i) = according to some principles. Bhugvaiyn = orange colour (of the yogis). Bhaykh = garbs. 1. Tuou Kaarun(i) = for Your sake. Rung(i) Rutay = imbued in love. Roop = forms. Anunta = countless. Kaytay = how many. Pause. Hustee = elephants. Vilaayit = foreign countries. Peer = Muslim holy men. Paiykaambur = prophets. Saalik = saints. Saadik = fully contented. Thaayayn Puyyay = get recognized. 2.
Saad = tastes. Sehj = peaceful life. Rus Kus = different tastes. Tujiulay = given up; abandoned. Kaapurr = clothes. Chummurr = animal hides (to cover bodies). Dookhiyay = Derdvund = sufferers. Dervaysh = Beggar at Waheguru's door; devotee. Bhuyyay = became. 3. Khupprri = a wide bowl that the yogis carry to collect dry ration. Lukkri = wooden baton. Sikha = a thin crest of hair. Soot = junayoo (a cotton thread worn around the neck). Dhoti = a long piece of fabric (like a saree) which the Brahmans wear at religious performances. Saangi = puppet. Jaat(i) = caste; social status. 4.

MEANING: You have countless names and countless forms, and all Your noble qualities cannot be described, oh Waheguru. (Because of Your noble qualities) Many devotees are imbued with Your love, oh my Lord. Pause. Even the gods suffered many hardships and hunger, and undertook pilgrimages to have a glimpse of Your holiness. For the same reason, the yogis and the celibates lead their lives according to the strict principles of their faiths, and wear orange garbs. 1. Desirous of Your holy sight, many individuals left the luxuries of their big houses, elephants, and horses, etc.; they left their home country to go to foreign lands (forests, mountains, etc.) with the belief to "see" You. Many Muslim holy men, prophets, saints, and contented mystics also renounced the world to be honoured in Your Court. 2. Many others gave up all the enjoyable tastes of a peaceful life, comforts, and other tastes of the tongue, and, rather than wearing rich clothes, used animal hides to cover their bodies to "see" You, oh Waheguru. Imbued in Your love, many renounce the world, become beggars at Your Door, and pray in such a way as if they were in big suffering. 3. Many carry a small leather bag to store marijuana, or the like, hold a wide bowl to collect dry ration in alms, and a wooden baton as a symbol of their faith, wear a long thin crest of hair, janeyoo, and dhoti with the belief to be able to "see" You. I don't believe in any of these approaches to "see" You. I have no pride in any caste or any faith. I, Nanak, believe that You are my Lord, and I am simply a puppet of Yours (I obey Your Will gladly, oh Waheguru).

Word Meaning: Bheetur(i) = inside. Punch = the five demons. Goopt = hidden. Thir(u) = stable; settle down. Bhuveh(i) = wander. Oodaasay = sad; dissatisfied. 1. Duyaal = kind (Waheguru). Sayti = with; for. Kuptee = deceitful. Paakhundi = sanctimonious; hypocrite. Adhik = much. Laagaiy = affects. Pause. Phool Maala = garland. Haaro = necklace. 2. Punch Sukhee = five demon friends. Bhutaaro = husband; lord (mind). Payd(i) = (in) nourishing the body. Chaalunhaaro = mortal. Roodun(u) = cry. Saahou = lord; mind; soul. Pujoota = held; tied up. Laykha Dayhi = held accountable. 4.

MEANING: The five demons (lust, rage, greed, etc.) reside deeply hidden in my mind; they keep wandering (taking flights) as if they are sad and dissatisfied, and do not settle down. 1. My mind is greedy, deceitful, a sinner, a hypocrite, and is affected deeply by Maya. Because of these ill qualities, it does not stay focused on Waheguru's Naam. Pause.
It consoles itself by saying, "I will adorn myself with good qualities when I meet with my dear Waheguru, and will wear a flower garland around my neck" (will celebrate my union). 2. These five demons are close friends among themselves, and have a common husband (master) – the mind. All are serving to nourish the body and enjoy sensual pleasures. But they do not realize that the soul has to leave the body (and all the enjoyments of the body will come to an end). 3. When the soul leaves the body, the five demons cry (feel sad), but tied up, the soul is held accountable for all the past immoral enjoyments, oh Nanak. 4.1.34.

Word Meaning: Moti = pearl. Gehna = ornament. Paun(u) = air; breaths. Sootdhaari = cotton thread to make a necklace of the pearls. Khima = forgiveness. Seegaar(u) = adornment. Raavaiy = enjoys. Laal = ruby-like Dear (Waheguru). 1. Kaamun(i) = human bride. Mohi = captivated. Uveree = others. Pause. Kuntth(i) = around the neck.

Damodar = Waheguru (a name for Krishna). Dunt(u) = tooth polish. Ker = hands. Kungun = bracelets. In Bidh(i) = this way. Chit(u) Dhurayee = mind stabilizes (becomes strong). 2. Madhsoodun = Waheguru. Moondri = ring. Putt(u) = silk (clothes). Dheeruj = patience. Dhuree = braids. Srirung = Waheguru. Soorma = kohl; mascara. 3. Mundar(i) = in the (mind) temple. Kaaya = body; mind. Sayj = bed. Giyan Rao = The source of Divine Knowledge (Waheguru). Bhog(u) = enjoy. 4.

MEANING: Rather than adorning her body with jewellery, if a human bride cleanses her mind so that it shines like a pearl, and recites Waheguru's Naam with every breath so that it works like the thread to string the pearls (noble qualities), and adorns her body with forgiveness (against aggressions of others) as her ornaments, she becomes dear to Waheguru who enjoys her. 1. The human bride is mesmerized by Your too many noble qualities, oh dear Waheguru. Nobody else has such qualities. Pause.

If a human bride wears the necklace of Waheguru's Naam around her neck (on her tongue), uses His Naam as tooth polish, and wears the bracelets of the Creator's Naam, she gets her mind stabilized (it becomes strong) as a result. 2. Such a bride wears the ring and the silky clothes of Waheguru's Naam, and uses His Naam as mascara to beautify her eyes (to see everyone the same way). 3. If she lights up the temple of her mind with Waheguru's Naam, and makes her body (mind) the bed for Waheguru, the Waheguru-Husband comes to her mind to enjoy her, oh Nanak. 4.1.35.

Bundee undar(i) sift(i) kuraayay, ta ko kuhiyaiy bunda. 4.2.36.

Word Meaning: Kraaya = made to do. Keetay = which has been created. 1. Bhula = good. Bhaavaiy = is liked. Vudaayee = respect; recognition. Smaavaiy = is absorbed. Pause. Kirt(u) Puyya = deeds previously done. Pervaana = certificate of results. Bahoorr(i) = on (after) that. Purrhiya = acted on. Mayt(i) = erase; obliterate 2. Baazari = an actor; not real. uncivilized. Shutrunj = a game of dice played on a cross-board. Pukkaiy Naahi = cannot be won. Saari = the pawns used in the game. 3. Beena = knowledgeable; wise. Bundi Undar(i) = within limits of principles (dedication). Bunda = slave; devotee. 4.

MEANING: What can we say to Waheguru when everything happens as He wishes, and makes the living beings do whatever He wants? He is doing whatever needs to be done; the humans, who have been created by Him, cannot show any cleverness (have no ability to change whatever He does). 1. Those who obey Waheguru's Command as being good for them get honoured by Him and stay absorbed in His Naam, oh Nanak. Pause.

Everybody gets a written certificate of results based on their deeds, which cannot be changed by anyone (they have to accept the consequences of their previous performances). Whatever Waheguru has written in their fortune, they have to act accordingly, and nobody can obliterate those writings. 2. If someone complains too much against Waheguru's orders, he is called an actor. Like the game of dice where the pawns have to reach the final destination to win, the humans have to attain the spiritual state to be united with God. Like the pawns, which do not reach the destination, the man who does not obey Waheguru's Command and complains does not win the game of life. 3.
An educated pundit is not necessarily wise (in spiritual journey), nor is an uneducated individual necessarily foolish or bad. Only that individual is entitled to be called a real devotee who Waheguru makes sing His praise, following some conditions (for example, not to show off, or not to make money). 4.2.36.

NOTE: This holy Shabad has been addressed to a very famous leader, Bhurthuri, of the Yoga faith. Yogis wear many symbols to represent their faith and follow a certain lifestyle. Guru Sahib interprets the insignificance of these symbols in His own way and emphasizes the true principles of spirituality for realizing God.
Word Meaning: Moondraa = earrings that the yogis wear. Khintha = a small quilt made of rags. Khima = forgiveness. Hundaavoun = practise. Bhulaa = good for me. Sehj Yoag = union with Waheguru by attaining a spiritual level above the effects of Maya. Nidh(i) = treasure. 1. Joogta = connected (with God). Joogeh Joog = over the eons; all the time. Perm Tunt = the basis of all, Waheguru. Joagunn = union. Nirunjun = above the effects of Maya; Waheguru. Kaaya = body; mind. Bhoagunn = enjoy. Pause.
Shiv Nugri = Waheguru's City (Residence). Assun(i) = with full concentration. Kulp = imaginations, wishes. Tiyaagi = gave up. Baadunn = argumentation. Singee = the bugle that the yogi blow into. Dhoon(i) = sweet sound. Sohaiy = pleasing to the ears.
Ehinis(i) = day and night. Pooraiy = blows into. Naadunn = sound. 2. Putt(u) = a wide bowl to collect alms. Veechaar = pondering over. Giyan = Divine Knowledge acquired by connecting with Waheguru. Mut(i) = advice. Dunda = a baton that the yogis hold in hand. Vertman = the presence of Waheguru everywhere. Bibhootunn = ash to cover body. Keerut(i) = singing praise. Rehraas(i) = daily routine. Punth = path of life. Uteetunn = detachment from the world. 3. Jot(i) = Waheguru's Light. Summiya = a wooden support to rest arms during meditation. Naana Vern = different colours and forms. Liv = absorption in thoughts. 4.

MEANING: You wear big glass earrings and a quilt of rags as symbols of your faith, oh yogi; I also wear earrings, but I wear them in the form of Guru's Shabad in my mind (rather than in my ears), and I wear a quilt of forgiveness. I also gladly accept whatever Waheguru does as being good for me, and by doing so, I acquire the treasure of blissfulness of union with Him. 1. A real yogi is the one who is connected with Waheguru all the time. He stays in that state over the eons (always). Such a yogi harbours the eternal Amrit-Naam of Waheguru, which is above the effects of Maya, in his heart, and enjoys the bliss of union with Him. Pause. I have abandoned all my wishes and all argumentation, and my mind stays connected with Waheguru with full concentration; this is my way of meditating. You blow into a bugle (trumpet), but Guru's Shabad produces a very sweet music in my mind day and night, and this is the bugle that I blow into, oh yogi. 2. You carry a wide bowl to collect alms, but, for me, pondering over Guru's Shabad is my bowl in which I collect the alms of Waheguru's Naam; and getting connected with Waheguru with Guru's advice is my baton with which I keep the vices away. You cover your body with ash to look unattractive to women, but disseminating the message of Waheguru's presence everywhere is the ash that I use to cover my body, because of which I look unattractive to the five demons (I keep them away). Singing Waheguru's praise is our normal routine, and we stay detached from the world by taking the Guru's advice, which is our path to union with Waheguru. 3. Recognizing Waheguru's Light in many different colours and forms is the wooden support for us that you use during meditation, and which provides us the support to connect with Waheguru. (Guru) Nanak says that we focus our mind only on Waheguru and nothing else, oh yogi, Bhurthuri. 4.3.37.

NOTE: The Yogis drink alcohol before starting their meditation. As most of you know, alcohol is made by the process of distillation. First, jaggery is dissolved in water placed in a container. To add flavour to alcohol, special herbs and spices are added to the sweetened water, and the vessel is maintained at the appropriate temperature for fermentation, which takes 4-5 days. Next, the fermented liquid is distilled to obtain alcohol. Guru Sahib again explains the characteristics of real alcohol to Bhurthuri, to connect with God.

Word Meaning: Goorr = big nuggets of raw sugar; jaggery. Dhiyaan = focused thoughts. Dhaavaiy = a plant (bassia latifolia), the flowers of which have intoxicating juices. It is widely used in the production of liquor. Kerni = noble deeds. Kus(u) = the bark of some trees used as spices in alcohol. Bhaatthi = the kiln. Bhuvun = universe (the desire to possess everything in the world). Poacha = covering the delivery tube with a wet cloth to keep it cool for condensation. It(u) Rus(u) = this way. Amiyou = Amrit. Chooaayiyaiy = drip. 1. Mutvaaro = intoxicated. Rus = essence. Sehj = spiritual state above Maya. Rung = love. Ruch(i) Ruhiya = fully absorbed. Live = concentration. Unahud = uniform; never changing. Guhiya = harbours. Pause. Poora = perfect. Saach(u) = Eternal Wahguru. Piyaala = glass. Vapaari = dealer. Mud(i) = liquor. Chhoochha = hollow; short-lasting. Bhaaou = love. 2. Saakhee = Teachings. Amrit Bani = immortalizing composition. Pervaan = approved. Mookut(i) = detachment with the world; liberation. Baiykoontthaiy = paradise. 3. Sifti = praise of Waheguru. Rutta = imbued. Baiyraaagi = detached from the world. Jooyay = in gambling. Haaray = lose. Kheeva = blissful. Dhaaraiy = acquires. 4.

MEANING: You drink alcohol before meditating, which you believe enhances your concentration (if it does), oh, Yogi. But such intoxication is short-lived and wears off quickly. I will tell you about the real intoxicant, the effect of which never wears off. It is Waheguru's Naam with which the mind gets intoxicated so that it stays imbued in Waheguru's love, and enjoys the bliss of a peaceful mind. The mind gets so absorbed in Waheguru's Naam that it stays in that state all the time and harbours the uniform Naam (the Naam stays there) forever. Pause. To prepare this intoxicant, you need the jaggery of Divine Knowledge (deep connection with God), a focused mind as dhaavaiy, and noble deeds as the spice. Use desires as fuel for the kiln to acquire the luxuries of the whole world, and apply the love for Waheguru as the cooling agent to condense such intoxicant. This is how you will collect the Amrit which drips in your mind. 1. This is the intoxicating cup of the Naam-Amrit of the Perfect Waheguru, the intoxication of which becomes permanent, oh yogi. But Waheguru serves such an intoxicant with His kind sight only to those who have attained the spiritual state above the effects of Maya. A devotee who deals in such an intoxicant as Amrit has no desire for the hollow intoxication of alcohol. 2. Guru's Bani and His Teachings are the real Amrit with which a devotee gets approval (honour) in Waheguru's Court as soon as he drinks it. Emancipation from the bonds of Maya and the paradise has no importance for the devotee who is desirous of the sight of the dear Waheguru. 3.
A devotee, who is imbued in the praise of Waheguru, is always detached from Maya, and he does not waste away his precious human life in the gamble (whether to choose the luxuries of Maya or Waheguru). Listen, oh yogi Bhurthuri, such a devotee stays intoxicated in the eternal bliss (of Waheguru's Naam), says Nanak. 4.4.38.

NOTE: This holy Shabad has special historical importance and describes the tragic loss of life and property when Babar attacked Eminabad (Saidpur Sundiyali at that time). The kind-hearted Guru Nanak was moved so much that He even complained to His dear Waheguru for the suffering caused by the barbaric killing of its citizens by the army of Babar, and He expressed His grief by writing four Shabads on the subject.

Word Meaning: Khorasan = An area between northern Iran and Afghanistan. Khusmaana = take control. Doash(u) = blame. Kerta = the Creator (God). Jum Kur(i) = in the form of the angel of death. Churrhaaya = launched an attack. Koorlaanaiy = wailing. Kee = why? Sukta = powerful. Roas(u) = complaint, resentment. Pause. Sheeh(u) = lion. Vugaiy = a herd of cattle. Poorsaayee = accountability. Ruttan = priceless lives. Vigaarr(i) = distorting; mutilating. Vigoyay = insulted. Kootteen = the dogs. Saar = inquire for well being; look after. Jorr(i) = connecting (as relatives). Vichhoarraiy = separates. 2.
Saad = enjoy tastes. Choogaiy Daanay = eat foods. Mur(i) = kill selfishness. Kichh(u) Paayay = gets some recognition. Vukhaanay = says; recites. 3.

MEANING: After having taken control of Khorasan, Babar threatened (fiercely attacked) India. So as not to take any blame (for the destructive attack by Babar), the Creator sent the Angel of death in the form of Babar. He created such a destruction of human life that the people wailed with pain; why weren't You moved at the suffering of humanity, oh my Waheguru!! 1. If, some powerful individual attacks another powerful individual, and each inflicts wounds on the other, nobody shows any resentment. But You are the creator of the whole humanity (so the weak should be protected). Pause.
If a powerful lion attacks a herd of cattle and kills some cattle, the owner is held accountable; (so, You, as their Master, are responsible for the killing of all those armless and weak civilians who have been killed mercilessly, oh Waheguru). The doglike soldiers of Babar's army mutilated and insulted the jewel-like, precious human lives, and there was no one to look after the dead. But this is Your power only, that You connect and then disconnect the relatives. 2. If someone establishes himself in a commanding position and enjoys the tastes of his choice, he is still considered a worm in the eyes of God, which picks up food (from dirt). He gets some respect only if he kills his mind as far as the attractions of Maya are concerned, and then leads a life of contentment while reciting Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 3.5.39.

Nanak Gurmukh(i) Saach(i) smaavaiy. 4.1.40.

Word Meaning: Durshun(i) = holy sight. Sachaiy = of Waheguru. Baiyraag(i) = in deep love, in which one feels the pain of separation. Khut = six. Durshun = philosophy (Shabad of Guru); Shastras. Vertaiy = follow. Vertaara = routine. Agumm = unreachable. Apaara = limitless. 1. Mooqut(i) = liberation from the bonds of Maya. Gut(i) = high spiritual level. Pause. Oodhraiy = finds salvation. Bhaaou = love. Piyaara = dear. Virla = some rare. 2. Moakh Dooaar = the door (state) of liberation. Saadhaar(u) raises the spiritual level to attain salvation. Nigooray = without the Guru. Uvgun(i) = ill qualities. Mootthay = robbed by. Choataan = beatings; suffering. 3. Shaant(i) = peace; bliss. Peer = pain; suffering. Jumkall = (the fear of) death. Saach(i) = in Waheguru. Smaavaiy = is absorbed. 4.

MEANING: When a highly fortunate devotee develops deep love for Waheguru and feels the pain of His separation, he is able to have a glimpse of Waheguru (gets connected with Him) by acting on the Guru's Shabad. Normally, people follow the six Shastras as their guide in their daily routine in life, but unlike the shastra (Shabad) of the Guru, the six Shastras cannot connect them with Waheguru (because there is no praise of Waheguru in them). On the contrary, Guru's Shabad is all about the praise of the unreachable and the limitless Waheguru. 1. Guru's Shabad enables the devotees to break the bonds of Maya, and attain a high spiritual state, as a result of which, Waheguru takes dwelling in their heart. Pause. Guru's Philosophy (Shabad) enables the world to get salvation, provided it fosters love for it. Guru's Shabad is a source of great bliss all the time, but some rare individual develops love for it. 2. Not only does one reach the door of emancipation by the Guru's Shabad for himself, but it also enables his associates to raise their spiritual level so as to find salvation. Those who are without the shelter of the Guru (without His Shabad) cannot attain a higher spiritual level and are robbed of noble qualities, as a result of which they suffer greatly. 3. One acquires peacefulness in his body and mind with the Guru's Shabad, and a Sikh (staunch devotee) of the Guru never feels any suffering in His shelter. The fear of the Angel of Death does not come close to him, as he remains absorbed in Waheguru. 4.1.40.

NOTE: The numbers 4.1.40 imply that there are 4 stanzas in this holy Shabad; this is the 1st Shabad of Guru Amar Dass Ji, and there have been 40 Shabads in Assa so far.

Nanak keemut(i) kehn(u) na jaayay. 4.2.41.

Word Meaning: Mooya = dead (as far as his love for Maya is concerned). Aap(u) = selfishness and ego. Til(u) = (the size of a) sesame seed. Tmaayay = desire. Nirbhou = fearless; Waheguru. Daata = provider; Waheguru. 1.
Sungruhou = collect; acquire. Augun = bad (ignoble) qualities. Pause.
Gaahuk = customer; seeker. Vukhaanaiy = recite. Soocha = pure; pious. Praaput(i) = can acquire. 2. Amoluk = priceless. Nirmul = pure. Smaah(i) = gets absorbed. Vudbhaagi = very fortunate. Daata = the source of noble qualities. Sungrehaiy = collects; acquires. Bulihaaraiy = offer life. Sehj(i) = in the blissful spiritual state. Soobhaayay = with love. Keemut(i) = worth. 4.

MEANING: A devotee, who kills his desires for Maya with the Guru's Shabad, also gets rid of his selfishness and ego. A devotee has no desire at all – not even the size of a sesame seed. The fearless Waheguru (as He has no superior) takes a permanent dwelling in the heart of such a devotee, but only a rare, fortunate individual achieves that level of spirituality with the Guru's eternal Bani. 1. Acquire noble qualities to get rid of the ignoble ones by getting fully absorbed in the Perfect Guru's Shabad, oh my friends. Pause.
Only that devotee recognizes the noble qualities who seek them, and recites Waheguru's Amrit-Naam with Guru's Shabad. He purifies his mind with Guru's eternal Bani because of which he acquires noble qualities, and Waheguru's Naam (in his heart). 2.
The priceless noble qualities cannot be (easily) acquired. (They can be acquired only) When the devotee purifies his mind with the Guru's Shabad and stays absorbed in the eternal Waheguru. Those are fortunate who recite His Naam and make their heart a dwelling for Waheguru, which is the source of all the noble qualities. 3.
I will gladly offer my life to those who acquire noble qualities and sing the virtues of Waheguru at His Door (stay absorbed in Him). He Himself bestows the gift of His Naam to the devotee by making him attain the highest spiritual state because of His love for Waheguru. Nobody can describe the full worth (magnanimity) of Waheguru, oh Nanak. 4.2.41.

Word Meaning: Vuddi = huge. Vudiyaayee = noble quality; His greatness. Chireen Vichhoonaiy = separated for a long time. Mayl = by connecting with Him. Milayee = connects with God. Keemut = value; worth. 1. Kin Bidh(i) = by what means? Uprumpur = farther and farther. Agumm = inaccessible. Agoachur = incomprehensible. Jun = devotee. Pause. Jaanaiy = appreciate. Koyay = Virla = some rare. Kerm = by the grace. Praaput(i) = acquirement. 2. Vin(u) = without. Durd(u) = pain; suffering. Bhaytay = on meeting. Ootraiy = comes off; is shed. Kmaayay = earns. Sjaayay = punishment. 3. Ut(i) = extremely. Rus(u) = essence. Soyay = Waheguru. Kirpa = benevolence. Ruttay = imbued. Gut(i) = high spiritual state. 4.

MEANING: It is a great, noble quality of Satguru that He connects long-separated individuals to Waheguru. But it is Waheguru who first connects individuals with Satguru, who, in turn, connects them with Waheguru. Only Waheguru knows His worth (capabilities). 1. Waheguru is higher and higher in transcendence, is inaccessible and incomprehensible; so how can the man evaluate His capabilities? He can be realized only by a rare, lucky devotee with the Guru's Shabad. Pause. One can only appreciate His wonderful qualities by taking Satguru's shelter, but a rare devotee gets connected with Him by the Guru's grace. When someone recites Satguru's transcendental Bani (His Shabads), he, too, transcends the human experiences (and gets connected with Waheguru). 2. Without Waheguru's Naam, one experiences problems and mental agony, but they easily go away when one gets connected with Satguru. Without connecting with Satguru, the man earns (experiences) only discomforts of different kinds, and the follower of his mind (Maya-engrossed) individual gets severely punished. 3. Waheguru's Naam is extremely sweet like a sweet juice, so that a devotee keeps drinking it while Waheguru keeps providing it. But the devotee has access to this sweet juice of Waheguru's Naam only due to the grace of the Guru, and such a devotee, who is imbued in Waheguru's Naam, attains a high spiritual state of blissfulness, oh Nanak. 4.3.42.

Word Meaning: Gehr = unfathomable. Gumbheer = emotionless; never changing. Sayvut Hee = as soon as you serve Him. Shaant(i) = peacefulness. Turay = swims across the sea of Maya (breaks its bonds). Sehj(i) = in the spiritual state above Maya. Soobhaayay = with love. Laageh Paayay = drop on their feet; surrender to them. 1. Raatay = imbued. Rung(u) = love. Laatha = got off. Pause. Chaakhaiy = taste (v). Saad(u) = taste (n); sweetness. Bhurpoor(i) = filling all space. 2. Aakhun(i) = just for the mention; in the name. Bukaiy = says. Bukhsh(i) = with benevolence. Kuthun (i) = description. 3. Aap(u) = haumein; selfishness and ego. Chookaayay = end; get rid of. Suvaarunhaar = one who completes the task successfully. 4.

MEANING: My Waheguru is immortal, unfathomable, and emotionless, which never changes. One acquires comfort and peace of mind as soon as he begins to serve Him (recite His Naam with full dedication). A devotee swims across the sea of Maya (breaks his worldly bonds) when he attains the spiritual state above the effects of Maya with his love for Waheguru. I will drop at the feet of (surrender to) such devotees any time. 1.

Those who are imbued with the love for Waheguru are freed from the suffering of reincarnation and are united in the Court (with Waheguru) because of their love for Him. Pause. Those who taste Satguru's Shabad enjoy the eternal sweetness and acquire Waheguru's Naam in their heart forever. Waheguru is very close to us because He is present everywhere in the universe, yet appears far away because it is very difficult to realize Him. 2. Everybody talks about Him, but only in the name (as a formality); Waheguru connects some individuals with Him with His benevolence. He cannot be realized by a simple discussion of His virtues. He takes up dwelling in a devotee's heart only by the Guru's benevolence. 3. A devotee gets rid of his selfishness and his ego in Guru's shelter, and also gets rid of the worldly attachments by getting imbued in Waheguru's love. His mind becomes extremely pure when he ponders on the Guru's Shabad. He successfully achieves his objective of union with Waheguru through His Naam, oh Nanak. 4.4.43.

Word Meaning: Doojaiy = Maya. Bhaayay = (in) love. Birtha = worthlessly. Guvaaya = wasted away. Soajhi = understanding. 1.

Mool(i) = the origin; source (Waheguru). Jun = devotees. Pervaan(u) = approved; successful. Undin = everyday; always. Jaan(u) = recognize; make a connection. Pause.

Daali = branches (offshoots of the Waheguru tree); Maya. Nihful = without any reward. Undhee Kummi = the tasks (actions) performed under ignorance. Undh Sujaayay = the punishment is such that it keeps one in ignorance (perpetuates ignorance). Tthaur = peace; contentment. Bishta = feces. Keerra = worm. Puchaayay = rots; suffers. 2.
Naamay Naam = Naam and only Naam. Turay = is salvaged. Kool = family; associates. Oodhrunhaar(u) = capable of salvaging. 3. Vujaayay produces music. Mehl(u) = Waheguru's Residence; Waheguru = Ghur. SatSur(i) = the pool of Naam-Amrit; holy congregation. Jul = water. Doormut(i) = ill advice (thinking). Maiyl(u) = filth. Doort(u) = sins. 4.
MEANING: The man suffers (spiritually) when he loves worldly things, and wastes away his precious human life without the Guru's Shabad. He realizes the reality (importance of spirituality) only when he serves the Guru (obeys His Advice), when he realizes he no longer loves worldly things. 1. The devotee, who gets connected with the origin of the universe (Waheguru), recognizes only Him, and keeps Him in heart by reciting His Naam all the time by the Guru's Shabad, and is approved in His Court. Pause.
Those who deal in Maya only leave this world unrewarded (without any achievement in the realm of spirituality) because when a man is guided by ignorance in his routine tasks, he stays ignorant, which is a punishment for him. The ignorant Maya-lover finds no peace; like a worm in feces, he remains trapped in Maya and suffers greatly. 2.
Serving the Guru is always comforting because one sings praise of Waheguru in the company of the Guru's Sikhs. He ponders only on Waheguru's Naam, and not only does he get salvation for himself, but he also does so for his associates. 3.
Guru's Bani (Shabad) produces the sweet music of Waheguru's Naam in his mind, and he reaches the Residence of Waheguru (becomes "one" with Him). With Guru's advice, he takes dip in the holy water of Waheguru's Naam-Amrit, and washes away the filth of his ignoble advice (evil thoughts) and sins, oh Nanak. 4.5.44.

Word Meaning: Munmukh(i) = follower of his mind; lover of Maya; disconnected from God. Mern(u) = death. Vigaarreh(i) = spoils; ruins (the future of his soul). Aatum = soul.

Sunghaareh (i) = kills. Vigoota = suffers; earns disrespect. Aatum = soul. Cheenaiy = analyzes. Bherm = misgivings; doubts. Soota = unaware; lost in ignorance. 1.
Mur(u) = (fear of) death. Mooya = died; vanished. Oostut(i) = undeserving praise. Ninda = undisturbed negative criticism; vilify. Sum = equal; similar. Janaayee = explained. Laaha = benefit. Pause. Vihoon = devoid of. Gerbh = in the womb. Gul(i) = rots; suffers. Birtha = rewardless. Doojaiy = Maya. Loobhaayay = captivated. Subaayee = the whole world. Boojh = understanding. Boojhaayee = 2. Chunchul = unsettling; wavering; not in peace. Choataan Khaayay = is hit badly; suffers. Chhoorrkiya = fallen from its base (peaceful condition). Tthaur = shelter; peace. Gerbh Joan(i) = taking rebirths. Vishta = feces; Maya. Nivaas = dwelling. 3. Bul(i) Jaayee = offer life. Joati = soul. Joat(i) = Waheguru's Light (Waheguru). Nirmul = pure. Nij Ghur(i) = in own heart. Oodaasa = detached from Maya. 4.
MEANING: When a man, disconnected with Waheguru, dies, he ruins even his death because he gets punishment in Waheguru's Court after his death. He kills his soul (spirituality) in his love for the mundane. He suffers from (earns) disrespect because of his self-centredness. He does not analyze his soul (mind), and is lost in misgivings (illusions of Maya) and doubts. 1. When one kills his desires about Maya with Guru's Shabad, he also kills the fear of death. The Guru explains that undeserved praise of an individual (for selfish reasons) and unwarranted vilification of an individual (out of jealousy) are equally bad. The only (spiritual) gain that one earns in this world comes from the recitation of Waheguru's Naam. Pause. Those who do not have Waheguru's Naam in their heart waste away their precious human life in the love of the mundane and suffer in the womb (go through many life forms). The Perfect Guru explains that the whole world suffers without Waheguru's Naam. 2. When the mind loses its peaceful state, it wavers a lot and becomes unsettled (wanders around aimlessly) as a result of which it gets severe punishment and gets no peace. A follower of his mind loves the filth of Maya, which is like a worm enjoying life in feces, and suffers in the womb (goes through many life forms). 3.
I am always a sacrifice to my Satguru, who connects His devotees who come to His shelter with Waheguru. With the pure (holy) Bani (Shabad) of Satguru, a devotee's mind finds peace in its own spiritual state (stays connected with Waheguru) and remains detached from worldly attractions by overcoming his haumein (selfishness and ego), oh Nanak. 4.6.45.

Ootum = superior. Paurri = ladder (to reach the transcendent Waheguru). 4.
MEANING: I am a slave (devotee) of my Satguru, and I have lost the pride of my high caste (forgotten my identity). I have come to the shelter of my Satguru and have offered my body and mind to Him. Harbouring Waheguru's Naam in the heart earns a great respect for the devotee as the dear Waheguru becomes his great friend and benefactor. 1. Such a devotee kills his worldly desires while living in the family, and becomes highly stoic (treats grief and happiness the same way). He is salvaged with Guru's Shabad by His grace. Pause. Everybody follows the path chosen for them by Waheguru in life. But one gets no recognition in Waheguru's Court without Guru's Shabad. The important task to do (objective to achieve) is to have Waheguru's Naam dwell in one's heart. But that happens only when Waheguru gives His Naam to the devotee (with His grace), and when He does so, it is done without any delay. 2. The Maya-lovers are misled in the world by their misgivings. Just as the business of a businessman is false (does not materialize) without some capital, and he cannot acquire any merchandise (and wastes his time and energy), so the money-minded person wastes away his precious human life (without Waheguru's Naam as the capital). 3. A real devotee of Waheguru is the one who serves Satguru (obeys His Advice), whereby he gets to belong to the superior caste (of Waheguru's devotees) and becomes superior in real terms. With Guru's Shabad as the ladder, he reaches the highest spiritual level of all and earns respect with Waheguru's Naam in his heart, oh Nanak. 4.7.46.

MEANING: A lover of money deals only in falseness (lies, and love for the perishables), and can never reach Waheguru's Residence. In his love for Maya (worldly things), he is misled in life by his misgivings (illusions) and doubts, and, bound in worldly attachments, he continues to reincarnate. 1. An individual who has love for his sons, wife, wealth, and other forms of Maya in mind all the time spends his life in lies, worldly attachments, hypocrisy, and other vices. Loaded with all such vices, he is like a wife who has been condemned by her husband, in the eyes of Waheguru. Pause. A devotee, who is liked by Waheguru, is like a woman who is married (loved by her husband) all the time. Such a devotee adorns her mind (with noble qualities) by Guru's Shabad, always enjoys the company of Waheguru-Husband on the bed of her mind, and feels blissful to enjoy the comfort of His company. 2. That human bride who loves Waheguru is married forever. She keeps her Husband always in mind, and "sees" Him close (right in front of her) all the time, and is confident that He is omnipresent. 3. One's status in society and one's beauty do not accompany one to the next world. There (In Waheguru's Court), he receives the treatment which depends upon his deeds done in this world. An individual who is disconnected from Waheguru loses his respect (in His Court) and suffers. 1. One realizes the Perfect (omnipresent) Waheguru in the shelter of the Perfect Guru as he makes his heart a dwelling for Waheguru's Naam with Guru's Shabad in his heart. Pooraiy Shabad munn(i) vusaayay. Nanak Naam(i) rutttay sookh(u) paayay. 5.11.50.
Word Meaning: Punchpuday = Shabads having five verses. Muraiy = dies as far as Maya is concerned; kills desires. Anund = blissfulness. Bhaytay = is connected with. Saach(i) = in Waheguru. 1. Dhoor(i) = right from the source (Waheguru). Laykh(u) = as fortune. Visaykh(u) = unique; special. Pause. Gehn = deep; immeasurable. Gut(i) = high spiritual state. Pudvee = status. 2. Ghurree = moment. Thaap(i) = create.

Othaap(i) = destroy. Ghaalay = work hard. Thaatayn Na Paayay = gets no recognition. 3. Potaiy = treasure; in fortune. Poonn(u) = noble deeds. Ruttan = priceless like a jewel. Sehj(i) = in blissful state (above Maya). 4. Jayvud = as great. Dhun(u) = wealth. Bukhshay = bestows. 5.

MEANING: An individual who kills all his desires with the Guru's Shabad is connected with the Guru by Waheguru and enjoys bliss all the time. His birth-death cycle comes to an end, and He merges into Waheguru in the shelter of the Perfect Guru. 1. Those who have Waheguru's Naam written in their fortune by Waheguru recite it all the time in the shelter of the Perfect Guru, which becomes a special worship of Waheguru for them. Pause.
Nobody can describe the immeasurable level of spiritual elevation of those who connect with Waheguru by His grace. The Perfect Guru bestows honour on them, and they attain the superior (highest) level of spirituality, and get absorbed in Waheguru's Naam. 2.
An individual who preaches to others that whatever Waheguru does, does on His own, and He can create anything, and destroy it in a moment, but does not recite His Naam himself, gets no recognition in Waheguru's Court, no matter how hard he tries to preach to others. 3. Waheguru connects the individual who has noble deeds to perform in his fortune with the Guru. Such a devotee recites the eternal Bani with the Guru's Shabad. All discomforts go away from the heart where Guru's Shabad resides, and with the jewel-like precious Guru's Shabad, such an individual gets absorbed in Waheguru and stays in the blissful state of spirituality. 4. There is no other wealth as great as Waheguru's Naam, but only that devotee acquires it (in his heart) who is granted by Waheguru. He makes his heart the dwelling of Waheguru's Naam with Guru's Shabad, and imbued in Waheguru's Naam, he enjoys the bliss of all comforts, oh Nanak. 5.11.50.

Word Meaning: Nirt(i) = dance (some Hindu sects believe that dancing pleases their deities). Vaajay Vujaayay = play musical instruments. Boala = deaf. Loabh = greed. Bherm(u) = misbeliefs; illusions. Anul = fire (of desires). Vaaou = wind; storm of desires. Deeva = lamp; enlightenment. Soajhi = understanding. 1.
Ghut(i) = in the heart (mind). Chaanun = light; enlightenment. Puchhaan(i) = by recognizing (analyzing). Pause. Bhaaou = love. Pooraiy Taal = dance to tune; in rhythm. Aap(u) = selfishness and ego. Guvaayay = lose; get rid of. Jaan(u) = omniscient. Braham = God. 2. Sehj(i) = in the blissful state (above Maya). Joogut(i) = lifestyle. Sach(i) = God. Paakhund(i) = with hypocrisy; show off; with dishonesty. 3. Jeevut Muraiy = kills desires while living in the family. Bhuvjul(u) = the world-sea; bonds of Maya. Buchan = Shabad; Teachings. Thaayayn Paayay = is recognized; is rewarded. 4. Nihchul = unwavering; permanent. Siyoun = with. Chitt(u) = mind. Ruttay = imbued. Soyay = news; fame. 5.
MEANING: Devotees of some deities dance before their idols and play musical instruments to please them. But their minds are blind and deaf because of the darkness of greed, misgivings, and the fire of desires, as a result of which, they cannot see the reality or listen to it. So, to whom do such devotees try to preach when their own mind cannot listen to it? Under such conditions, no lamp of knowledge can light up in their mind to dispel the darkness of ignorance and enlighten their mind. 1. But the mind can be enlightened by worshipping Waheguru in the shelter of the Guru (with His guidance). When the Sikh recognizes himself (in terms of the purpose of human life and the kind of deeds he performs), he connects with Waheguru. Pause. For a Sikh of the Guru, love for Waheguru is the dancing for him, and killing his selfishness and ego is the tune to which he dances in rhythm. He recognizes Waheguru inside him with Guru's Shabad. My Waheguru is omniscient and knows all the feelings and intentions of everybody (one cannot please him by any act of show-off). 2. For a Sikh of the Guru, worship of Waheguru is his love for Him (The Guru), and he ponders on the Guru's Shabad to attain the spiritual state of blissfulness (above the effects of Maya). For a Gur Sikh, Waheguru's Naam is the worship for Him, and is also his daily routine. But the hypocritical worship by dancing and music is a source of suffering for the individual. 3. The real worship of Waheguru is to kill one's desires for Maya while living in the family. Such a devotee swims across the world-sea (breaks the bonds of Maya) with the Guru's grace. His worship of Waheguru by Guru's Shabad is duly rewarded in Waheguru's Court when Waheguru takes dwelling in the devotee's heart. 4.
Keeping Waheguru in mind with love is the real worship, as a result of which the devotee finds peace of mind (which quits wavering). Waheguru becomes kind with such worship, and He connects the devotee with the Guru. Those devotees, who are imbued with the love of worship of Waheguru, have a holy fame spread around in the world, and they enjoy blissfulness, oh Nanak. 5.12.51.

Word Meaning: Kaafi = a type of lyric. Bhaanaiy = as per the Will (of Waheguru). Soajhi = understanding. Boojhaiy = understands. 1. Shuhou = husband; Lord. Daata = provider. Uver = other. Pause. Joog = eon; the present world. Nirbhuou = fearless, which dispels fear. Jum = the angel of death. Vus(i) = under the control. Undh = in dark; ignorant. Guvaar(i) = unrefined; crude. 2. Salaahiyaiy = praise. Munniyaiyn = by obeying. 3. Pudaaruth = the invaluable item (Waheguru's Naam). Ootum = superior. Gut = the higher spiritual level. 4.

MEANING: One connects with Satguru through the Will of God when he receives enlightenment about Him (Waheguru). With Guru's grace, Waheguru takes dwelling in the devotee's heart, when he acquires Knowledge about Him. 1. I have only one Provider, who is also my Lord, and none else. He can be realized in the mind by the grace of the Guru when one enjoys everlasting happiness. Pause. Waheguru's Naam makes one fearless (like Waheguru Himself), but the Naam is realized by pondering on the Guru's Advice (Shabad). Without Waheguru Naam, the man is crude and disconnected from Waheguru, and as a result, he is under the control of the Angel of Death. 2. One serves Waheguru with His Will only when he realizes Him. One sings His praise only by His Will, and obeying the Will results in blissfulness. 3. It is by Waheguru's Will that one achieves the objective of human life (gets connected with Waheguru) because of which he acquires superior wisdom (noble thoughts). Praise Waheguru's Naam to achieve a high spiritual level in the shelter of the Guru, oh Nanak. 4.39.13.52.

The whole world belongs to You (is Your creation), and everybody remembers You (in need); but only those get to implant Your jewel-like precious Naam in their heart to whom You are kind. The devotees of the Guru acquire it (the Naam) while the Maya-lovers lose it. You make some people love Maya and thus disconnect them from You, while You make others love You and thus connect them to You, oh Lord. 1. You are like a river which supports all life, and all living beings live in You (are Your part). There is none other like You. All living beings are part of Your drama (puppets in Your hands). As predestined, You keep some of them disconnected from You, while connecting some others with You. 2.

Only those individuals understand the objective of life who You enlighten, and they always sing praise of Your virtues. Those who serve You get absorbed in Your Naam and enjoy the blissfulness of their union with You without enduring any hardships in their efforts to connect with You. 3. You, Yourself, are the creator, and all that happens in the world is controlled by You. There is none other like You. You create all living beings, look after them, and know their needs. Word Meaning: Dhurra = alliance; to form a coalition (to fight together). Soot = sons. Koorrum = in-laws. Juvaayee = son-in-law. Sikdaar = having some authority; ruler. Chaudhry = leader. Sooaayee = for selfish reasons. Smaayee = present everywhere. 1. Siyoun = with. Tayk = support. Pukh(u) = favour; support. Asunkh = Anayk countless. Pause. Jaah(i) = leave (the world). Jhootth(u) = dishonest; short-lived. Puchhotaah(i) = repents. Thir(u) = stable; peaceful. Khoat(u) = deceit. Sumruth = capable. 2. Pusaari = for the enhancement of. Loojheh(i) = fights for. Gavaari = unrefined; crude. Jooyay = in gambling (to choose between Maya and God). Baaji = the game of life. Hult(u) = this world. Pult(u) = next world. Suvaari = make successful. 3. Kuljoog = this world. Punch Choar = the five demons. Jhugrraayay = cause to fight. Kaam(u) = lust. Moh(i) = worldly attachments. Abhimaan = ego. 4. Mithiya = false. Dooja Bhaaou = love for Maya. Chhidar = weakness; shortcoming. Utkulaiy = estimates; plans to publicize. Ahunkaar = ego. Beejaiy = sows. Dherm(u) = principled. Srisht(i) = world. Jin(i) = win. 5.

MEANING: Some people make alliances (group together) with their friends, sons, brothers, sons-in-law, or with their in-laws. While others do the same with a powerful man or a leader for selfish reasons. But I have made friends with my Waheguru, who is present everywhere. 1. My Waheguru is my only support, and I have none other to favour or support me to make alliances. I sing praise of Waheguru, who has countless virtues. Pause.

The individuals with whom people form alliances eventually leave this world. So, their partners have to repent to make such false (short-lived) alliances. They make alliances out of deceit in their minds, which does not bring them any peace of mind. I have made alliances with my Waheguru, who has no equal (or rival). 2. All worldly alliances are for the sole purpose of the enhancement of Maya (wealth, power, and ego), and only the unrefined people fight for Maya. They lose the objective of life in this gamble (choice between Waheguru and Maya), as a result of which they are trapped in the cycle of birth and death. My alliance (friend) Waheguru makes me successful in this world and the next. 3.

The five demons (lust, rage, greed, worldly attachments, and ego) cause people to fight for control to boost them (sensual enjoyments) and hence to make alliances in this world. My alliance (with Waheguru) eliminates the need for any other alliance. Waheguru connects the individuals He is kind to with the holy congregation (so that they, too, can control the five demons). 4. As part of an alliance, the individuals develop false (short-lived) love for Maya. They publicize others' shortcomings to boost their own ego. But they reap the rewards of what they sow. (Like the other devotees), my alliance with Waheguru is based on noble principles, and the devotees can win the whole world, oh Nanak. 5.2.54.

MEANING: By listening to Waheguru's Naam again and again, I have come to like Him in my heart. Gurbani (Guru's Shabad) has "shown" me the otherwise invisible Waheguru. 1. Listen to Waheguru's Naam in the shelter of the Guru, oh my sisters (friends). Waheguru is present in our hearts; recite His Naam with your tongue using Guru's Amrit-like Shabads. Pause. There is deep love for Waheguru in my mind and body, and I feel the pain of separation from Him. I am very lucky to have been connected with my Satguru (who will connect me with Waheguru). 2. Such a vine bears enjoyable, delicious fruits (of Waheguru's union) in the minds of those who love Him. 1. Recite the Naam of Waheguru, which arouses countless awe-inspiring feelings in the minds of His devotees by His amazing feats in nature. Those who recite Waheguru's Naam (keep Him in mind all the time) are able to kill the evil desires of their mind and also the fear of death. The assistants of the Angel of Death do not come even near them. Pause. Waheguru has given the control of His worship to the Guru, and the Guru gives (implants) Waheguru's worship in the heart of the Sikh to whom He is pleased to be kind, oh my brothers. 2. While busy performing the accepted religious rituals, which boost his ego, a money-loving individual does not find any way out to remember Waheguru. His rituals are just like the bath of an elephant, which sprays dust on his body after the bath. 3. Jun Nanak kay Prubh untarjaami, Hur(i) laavhou munooa payl. 4.9.61.

Word Meaning: Tunt = Bayn = a single-wire musical instrument; lute. Thoathur = hollow; without any impact. Hur(i) Rung(i) = in God's love. Bhayn = imbued. 1. Oopdaysh(u) = advice; sermon. Adays(u) = bow to. Pause. Munooa = mind. Khaylaiy Khayl = absorbed in its own imagination. Koop = a water well (driven by oxen).

Joveh(i) = harnesses oxen to draw water. Sinchun Kuou = to irrigate. Bsoodha = land. Baiyl = oxen. Chur(i) = nibble. Bayl = vine; crop. 2. Kaaya = body. Nugr = town; field. Boavhou = sow; plant. Jaamaiy = sprouts. Khayt(u) = field. Usthir(u) = stable; unwavering. Jovhou = set up to draw water. 3. Jungum = a sect of yogis who worship Shiva, wear a peacock feather on their forehead and hold and use bells for music when they sing. Srisht(i) = the world. Tit(u) = on which to. Chayl = follow the path. Untarjaami = omniscient. Payl = by inspiring; by motivating. 4.

MEANING: A yogi holds a lute in his hand and plucks the wire (to sing praise of God); but his lute produces a hollow (spiritual) music because he does not have Waheguru's Naam at his heart. (Rather than playing the lute), Sing the virtues of Waheguru by taking Guru's advice, with which your mind will get imbued in His love, oh yogi. 1. (Counter to the popular belief of Hindus that the requirements to connect with the reigning deity are different in each eon), it is Waheguru who operates (runs the universe) in every eon, and I salute Him. So, preach the Teachings of Waheguru to people, oh yogi. Pause.

(But rather than singing praise of Waheguru), A yogi simply sings many unrelated songs and preaches in many ways (with the misbelief that he pleases his deity), but his mind is absorbed in its own imagination. His approach to achieving his objective is like that of a farmer who harnesses oxen to draw water from the well to irrigate his field, but instead of drawing water from the well, the oxen graze his crop. 2. Plant the seeds of Waheguru's Naam in the field of your body (mind) as a result of which a lush green crop of Waheguru's Naam will sprout in your mind, oh yogi. Make your mind stable with Guru's advice, and use the stabilized mind as oxen to irrigate the mind-field for Waheguru's Naam. 3.

All the different sects of yogis, including the Jungums, and the whole world, are Your creation, and they do follow exactly the wisdom (thinking) that You give them, oh Waheguru. My Waheguru knows everything about us, and I pray to Him that He inspires my mind (to recite His Naam), oh Nanak. 4.9.61.

Jaiy, Jaiy = applaud; hail. 4.

NOTE: As discussed many times before, many people try to please their deities by singing and dancing, in which they tie bellied anklets. Guru Ram Dass Ji disapproves of such practices as worship of Waheguru.

MEANING: While one looks for anklets with bells and cymbals and plays the guitar, it takes some time to go and come back; no matter how little time it takes, I recite Waheguru's Naam till then. 1. Just like a fish which dies without water, my state of worship of Waheguru has reached such a level where I cannot survive without Him even for a moment, (so how can I waste any time in looking for meaningless things), oh my mind. Pause.

When one prepares to match the frequencies of the wires (tunes), and raises his voice to match the music, it takes some time – maybe very little – to do so, till then, my mind sings the virtues of Waheguru. 2. When one dances by stretching out his feet and his hands, it takes some time, even if very little, I remember Waheguru (recite His Naam) in my mind till then. 3. Why should anyone try to convince people (that he worships Waheguru), because there is no spiritual gain in convincing people. I urge people to recite Waheguru's Naam in their hearts. Then the people will automatically applaud your efforts, oh Nanak. 4.10.62.

dancing (which is fruitless), but when one recites Waheguru's Naam with affection and dedication, his mind begins to dance with blissfulness. If I meet such a holy devotee, I will wash his feet (show full respect). Pause. Recite Waheguru's Naam all the time with full devotion and in unison with Him (connected with Him), oh my mind. When one does that, they get all their wishes fulfilled and never feel the urge to pursue worldly things again. 2. The limitless Waheguru is the creator of the whole world, and Himself makes the devotee sing His praise. You like only those holy saints who are approved by You, and who are bestowed with respect for You, oh Waheguru. 3.
I never get tired of singing Waheguru's praise, and the more I sing, the more the comforts I acquire, oh Nanak. The treasures of Waheguru's worship are available to everyone, but only those buyers get them who trade in His noble qualities. 4.11.63.

Word Meaning: Mern = death. Dhuraahoo = right from the source (Waheguru). Usthir = stability (peace of mind). 1. Shaabaash = applaud; praise. Chullun = how to deal with life's tragedies. Laaha = added benefit. Saar(u) = supreme. Smaaniya = fully absorbed. Pause. Poorub Likhay = pre-written (by Waheguru). Dayh = day; time of death. Dhooroun = right from the source (Waheguru). Birtha = empty; wasteful. Visaariya = ignored. Jooyay khaylun(u) = in gambling (risk a huge gain for a short-term gain. Meaning forget Waheguru and indulge in Maya). Mun = life. 3. Sachay = having noble qualities; by acquiring Waheguru's True Naam. Sach(i) = in the eternal Waheguru. 4.

MEANING: The order of death comes right from Waheguru; the survivors cry only because of their selfish reasons (attachment, expectation of support in old age, etc.). But a true devotee of the Guru remembers Waheguru even in a tragic situation like that and finds peace of mind. 1. I praise my Perfect Guru, who explained to me the real way to live in the world, and how to deal with tragedies in life. The added benefit of such a living is that one realizes that Waheguru's Naam is supreme, in which one stays fully absorbed by the Guru's Shabad. Pause. The time of death arrives for everybody, and everybody has to leave this world sooner or later, as per the Will of Waheguru. 2. Those who forget Waheguru waste away their precious human life. They gamble away their life in the world (for short-lived gimmicks of Maya, they lose the long-term benefit of being one with God). 3. Those who connect with the Guru are blissful while living in this world and even after death. They merge in the eternal Waheguru by acquiring noble qualities like those of Waheguru, by reciting His Naam. 4.12.64.

Sacha = God. 4.

MEANING: Those who recite Waheguru's Naam in the precious human life, merge into the eternal Waheguru by understanding Him (getting connected with Him) by the Guru's grace. 1. But, only those who labour hard to embed Waheguru's Naam in their hearts are predestined to do so by Waheguru. Because of the noble qualities that they have acquired, they are called in by the eternal Waheguru to His Residence (they become one with Him). Pause. There is a hidden treasure of Waheguru's Naam in everybody's heart (mind), but only those who seek Guru's shelter uncover (realize) it. They recite Waheguru's Naam and sing His virtues all the time. 2. The infinite Waheguru's Naam is in everybody's heart (mind), but the follower of his mind does not acquire it. He is misled by his own conceit and ego. 3. (But we cannot blame him either) because it is Waheguru who misleads such people (Maya-lovers). Those who take the Guru's advice have their minds enlightened and become "one" with Waheguru. 4.13.65.

MEANING: I always recite Waheguru's Naam by singing His praise. The Guru has explained to me the importance of Waheguru's Naam, and now I cannot live without reciting His Naam for even a moment. Pause. I listen to Waheguru's praise with my ears, and recite His Naam. I cannot stay without His Naam even for a single moment. Just like a swan that cannot stay away from a pool of water, how can a devotee of Waheguru stay away from serving Him (reciting His Naam)? 1. Some people foster love for Maya, while some others have love for worldly things (attachment with family, fine arts, etc.) and for self-praise. But a devotee of Waheguru loves Him, recites His Naam all the time, and attains the spiritual state of being fully detached from the world, oh Nanak. 2.14.66.

MEANING: Tell me about my dear Waheguru, oh my mother. Like a baby camel, which is attracted to a vine and cannot live without it, I cannot live without Waheguru. Pause.
My mind feels the pain of separation from Waheguru and wishes to have His holy sight. It feels fully detached from worldly things (does not like any of those). Just as a bumblebee cannot live without (stay away from) the lotus flower, I cannot live without Waheguru. 1.
Please fulfill my cherished wish, and keep me in Your shelter, oh dear Waheguru, the Lord of the earth. My mind feels blissful when I have Your holy sight, even if it is for a short moment; so be kind to Nanak, oh Waheguru. 2. 39.13.15.67.
