Raiyn(i) Bihaani = the night (of life) spends. Rung = attractive forms; luxuries. Chitvut = imagine; plan. Kubhoon Na = never. Saaringpaani = Waheguru. Pause.
Doorm(u) = tree. Chhaaya = shade. Nihchul = permanent. Greh(u) = house. Kaal = death. Phaas(i) = noose. Sukut = powerful. Sur(u) = arrow. Saadhiya = aimed at. 2.

Jupiyo = recited (the Naam). Hur(i) Raayay = the Royal Waheguru. 4.

MEANING: The life of a Maya-gripped man is spent in worries and in calculations (how to make more wealth). He plans to enjoy more and more luxuries of Maya, but never remembers Waheguru. Pause.

He does not realize that the mouse of time is continuously nibbling away the thread of his life while he is enjoying the luxuries fallen in a deep well (unaware of the impending danger).
1. His ignorant lifestyle is like expecting a permanent shelter in the shade of a tree (which keeps changing direction). At the same time, the noose of death has aimed a powerful arrow at him (death is approaching fast, and he is still not doing anything spiritual).
2. He believes as if the world is his permanent home, while his stay in the world is just like a sand-castle built on a sea-shore which can be demolished by waves at any time.
3 I recite Waheguru's Naam in the company of holy men, and survive by singing Waheguru's praise, oh Nanak. 4.30.81.

Word Meaning: Dootookay = Shabads with verses that have two sentences. Oonn = that (the soul). Kayl = enjoys life. Hum Toom = with everybody. Mayl = union; interaction. Loraiy = need; wish. Mookh Nuhee Joraiy = does not interact. 1. Baiyraagi = unattached. Smaayay = absorbed; goes. Doohayri = in suffering. Pause.
Maahur(i) = expert; active. Jaahur(i) = visible; gets importance. Pupoal(i) = well nourished. Roal(i) = disrespected; belittled. 2. Maan(u) Mehut(u) = respect and recognition. Saak(u) = relationship. MEANING: You enjoy life only because of the soul in you, oh human body. We all interact with one another only because of the soul present in us. Everybody wants to interact with the human body only because of the soul; nobody wants to interact with the body without the soul in it. 1. Where the soul detached from the body goes, nobody knows. But without it, the human body suffers. Pause. With the soul in it, the human body is very active and gets importance (attention) from others. The body is kept well-nourished when it has soul in it, but without the soul, it gets belittled. 2.
The body gets respect and recognition (if any) and has a relationship with the world only because of the soul in it. The body is raised in many different ways simply because of the soul in it; otherwise, it is just a pile of dust. 3. The soul, which is not connected to any particular body permanently, does not die or go away; it simply obeys Waheguru's command and is takes rebirths as per the Will of Waheguru. It is Waheguru who connects and disconnects bodies and souls. Only He knows His working, oh Nanak. 4.31.82.

Uver(u) = someone else. Maarunvaara = cause death. Pause. Bundhun = worldly bonds. Dhunda = running around for Maya. Maiyl(u) = filth of Maya (evil deeds). Anund

Ikk Runga = the same colour (similar). 4.

MEANING: NOTE: The real clue to the meaning of this holy Shabad lies in the 4th verse. So, the meaning of the Shabad will start with the 4th stanza.

The Guru has removed all my misgivings (illusions), and my separation from Waheguru to the extent that I have acquired the virtuous qualities of Waheguru, and have become "one" with Him, oh Nanak. Now, I have no independent existence (I am a part of Him), and it is only Him everywhere. 4. Waheguru is immortal, He never dies, (so being "one with Him), I am not afraid of death. He never vanishes, so I do not suffer in the pain of His separation. Since He is not poor (he is rich in everything; His treasures are always full), I also do not have any appetite for anything. He does not experience any suffering, so I am also free from all suffering. 1. There is no one else who can cause death; my Waheguru is long living (immortal) who has given life to me. (Being "one" with Him, nobody can kill me). Pause. Since Waheguru has no bonds, I do not have any bonds either. Waheguru has no bonds of Maya, so I should not be running around for Maya either. He carries no filth of Maya, so, being part of Him, I have no such filth either. He is blissful all the time, so I am also enjoying bliss. 2. He has no worries, nor do I. He is unaffected by Maya, so am I. Waheguru has no appetite of any kind; I also have no desires for Maya. When He is pure (being "one" with Him), I am also worthy of worship (pure, pious). 3. 32.83.

MEANING: Only that human bride is really married to Waheguru (connected with Him), who is liked by Him. I wish to get connected with such a bride (devotee), oh my mother. Pause. Such a bride (devotee) should be served in every possible way, and one should offer his mind, body, and wealth to her (him). I wish to serve such a devotee by serving him water and fanning him, giving up my ego, and offering my life countless times (serve selflessly). 1. I wish to serve like a slave of the slaves of such devotees (who are connected with Waheguru), and should have the dust of their feet (show deep reverence) with diligence. But I can enjoy their company only if I have good fortune on my forehead. The Lord Waheguru connects you with Him in His own way (one does not know what criteria He uses to like someone). 2. I can "see" my Waheguru with my eyes in their company. 3. Every moment, I wish I could serve such devotees day and night as I have mentioned. But, not realizing this reality, and full of ego, the man still engages in accumulating wealth, which is also short-lived. Pause. He raises armies to accumulate more wealth with the use of force, but turns into ash when he takes his last breath. 2. He may own tall mansions and palaces, and may have beautiful queens; may have elephants and horses of his choice; and may have a large family of sons and daughters; but eventually the foolish and the ignorant Small rocks with circles and bars on them are found in Gundka near this Village. Hindus believe these rocks to be god Vishnu and worship them. Being found near Saalgiram, the rocks are also named Saalgiram.

MEANING: (Many people worship the rocks known as Saalgiram as god Vishnu, bathe them, offer flowers and incense, etc., and put them in a box to rest); they do not realize that the real Lord, Waheguru, is present in everybody and everywhere, including waters. So, being present everywhere, He (the Lord) bathes all the twenty-four hours, and the omniscient Lord does not need any feeding because He enjoys different foods all the time while sitting in every living being. He leaves no body in suffering; so, one should touch His feet again, and again (remember Him and obey Him). 1.

Service to the Lord (Waheguru) is our way of worshipping Saalgiram, and reciting His Naam is our way of offering flowers, incense, etc., and kneeling before the idol. Pause.

(People ring bells in the temples, fan the idol in the temple with a whisk, light up incense, and put him in a box for resting), But the bell of Lord's Shabad is heard in the whole world, and His seat (omnipresence) is the real paradise. His royal whisk (in the form of air) fans everybody (provides comfort to everybody), and His incense in the form of vegetation provides fragrance all the time. 2. Every heart is the box for His rest, and the assembly of His holy devotees is eternal. His aarti in the form of His praise is always blissful, and there is no limit to the greatness of His beautiful (splendid) qualities. 3.

But only that individual can connect with Him (Waheguru) who is predestined to do so. Such a fortunate individual comes to the shelter of the Guru and attains a spiritual height to connect with Him. This is Guru's gift to the devotee, oh Nanak. 4.39.90.

Pause. (The world is considered to be the ocean of Maya, and one needs to take some kind of boat to cross it). The operators of the boat loaded with the five demons are very greedy and rob one of his spiritual wealth; so, the holy saints stay away from such a boat (do not follow that path). 2. MEANING: Waheguru sent Satgur Nanak in the world, and an eternal relationship was established between the masses and faith in Waheguru. The fetus began to grow in the mother's womb, who felt extreme enjoyment (blissfulness). 1.
A great devotee of Waheguru (Guru Nanak) was born as a son to the parents (had a natural birth, unlike some other "holy" persons who were believed to have unnatural births) who enlightened the hearts of the people as preplanned by Waheguru. Pause.
As per the natural laws, the child (Guru Nanak) was born after ten months as a result of which all sadness was (worries were) eradicated, and a wave of great enjoyment spread throughout the world. All the well-wishers (and the devotees) began to sing the bliss-producing praise of Waheguru (and the Satguru), which was liked by the True Lord. 2.
The vine of virtuous devotees began to flourish, and a new line of descendants of Satguru (Truth and Faith) came into being. The Satguru instilled the power of faith in Waheguru in the hearts of the people with a sound base. The Satguru connected the minds of the people with full concentration to Waheguru, thereby fulfilling their wishes and making them worry-free. 3. Just as a child has faith and pride in his father, the masses began to have full faith in Guru Nanak, and they began to speak the language of Satguru (did whatever pleased Him). There is nothing hidden now that it was the kind Satguru Nanak who gave the gift of Waheguru' s Naam, and mental peace to the people. 4. 7.101.
NOTE: Most people believe that this holy Shabad was written by Guru Arjun Dev Ji (Mehla 5) at the birth of His son (Guru) Hargobind Sahib, as an expression of thankfulness to Guru Nanak, because Sri Hargobind Ji was born a long time of six years after Guru Sahib's marriage to Mata Gunga Ji. But this interpretation has many problems as follows:

1. The very first word, "Satgur" of the holy Shabad could not have been used for Sri Hargobind Ji because he was not Guru at the time of his birth. Only Guru Nanak was the Satgur at His birth, according to Sikh belief. Even otherwise, since this Shabad was written after Guru Nanak Sahib had been the Guru for a long time, the title was perfectly appropriate for Him.
2. Guru Hargobind Sahib was not the first (or the only) Bhagat (of that level) of Waheguru. He was preceded by the other five Guru Sahiban. (Pause).
3. Peerri Chaali: No new line of descendants started with Guru Hargobind Sahib. Such a line started only with Guru Nanak Sahib. (Verse 3).

So, the holy Shabad is in praise of Guru Nanak.

Beautify your mind with the deep and never-fading red colour of madder (with Waheguru's love). Get rid of your shrewdness and cleverness, and believe that Waheguru is always with you. Pause.

Obey the Husband all the time; this should be your adornment (to look attractive). (Some people chew tombola as a status symbol), But overcoming love for Maya should be the tombola for you to chew (consume to get rid of it), oh my friend. 2.

Enlighten your mind with the Guru's Shabad, and make high morality the bed for your heart. Always be ready to obey the Command of the Royal Waheguru if you wish to be connected with Him. 3. That devotee has all the good manners, all kinds of adornment, and is extremely beautiful, who is liked by the Creator (Waheguru), oh Nanak. 4.16.118.

MEANING: The decline in morality and the weakening of the mind happen only as long as one is trapped in his illusions of Maya (and does not remember Waheguru). The Guru removes all misgivings, thereby enabling one's mind to become peaceful (and he maintains a high character). 1. The five demons, which are your enemies and cause trouble for you, get exhausted (come under control) by the Guru's advice. At that point, all connections between the devotee and the demons get cut off. Pause. As long as the man discriminates between individuals – considers some as friends while others as enemies – he is caught in the net of Maya. But when the Guru dispels the ignorance (and enlightens the mind), all discriminations come to an end. 2. As long as the man does not recognize the Will of Waheguru, he suffers; but when he comes to understand the Will of the Lord in the shelter of the Guru, he begins to enjoy comfort. 3. MEANING: By singing praise of Waheguru, I acquire the comfort of blissfulness, and my mind enjoys great ecstasy. The Guru has eradicated all the perceived negative effects of the planets by implanting His Naam (Shabad) in my mind. 1. I am always a sacrifice for my Satguru by whose grace I have achieved my real objective in life to connect with Waheguru. Pause. But the fear of death does not even come near him who is liked by Waheguru. 2.
Waheguru's Naam is above all the Brahman-preached rituals of noble deeds, donations, recitation of some mantra, self-torture, etc. (to please some deity). The devotee, who recites Waheguru's Naam with his tongue, gets all his tasks completed successfully. 3.
All the fears, illusions, and worldly attachments disappear, and nobody seems to be a stranger to the devotee who is protected by Waheguru, and he never suffers any discomfort again, oh Nanak. 4.18.120.

So, your love for your sons, your wife, household, and other belongings is all false. 1. Why are you sighing, oh my mind? Think of all the visible comforts as a mirage; only the worship of Waheguru is beneficial to you. Pause. Just as the clothes you wear on your body wear out in a short time, and just as a wall has its end, and you cannot run on it for long, human life also has its end. 2. Just like salt poured into a pool of water dissolves quickly and disappears, the human soul leaves the body and disappears in a very short time at the Will of Waheguru. 3. You move, sit down (rest), and breathe, as per the Will of Waheguru, for a limited period of time only as prewritten by Waheguru. One gets salvation in the shelter of Satguru, where he sings praise of Waheguru all the time, oh Nanak. 4.1.123.

Pause. Gundhun Vaiyn = dirty songs. Oorjhaaveh(i) = gets entangled; trapped. Ulkaaya = shows laziness. Nind = malicious criticism. Chind = think. Oomaahiyo = zestful. Boojhee = comprehended. Ooltaayo = incorrectly; the opposite. 2. Pur = of others. Akhaadh(i) = which should not be eaten (usurping rights of others). Hurkaaya = like a mad dog. Siyoun = with. Rooch(i) = interest. Chhohaaya = jumps in anger. 3. Tayk = support. Naaya = Naam. Aahiya = hopeful. Upnaaya = Your own. 4.

MEANING: You are very lazy to make (spiritual) gain but rush for activities which cause you (spiritual) loss, oh foolish man. You do not buy the merchandise (of virtues) which costs you no money, but are getting loaded with the debt of sinful activities, oh sinner. 1. I seek Your shelter, oh Satguru. Your Naam purifies the immoral, and it is a great support for me, oh Waheguru. Pause. You listen to dirty songs and get trapped (in the bonds of Maya), but become very lazy to recite Waheguru's Naam. You take every piece of good advice negatively, but are very zealous to think the worst of others. 2. You get busy keeping an evil eye on the wealth and the bodies (women) of others, and also in maliciously criticizing them. You also eat the food of others (usurp their rights) like a mad dog. You take no interest in high morality and truthfulness, and jump in anger when someone tells you the truth about you. 3. The Lord, Waheguru, is very kind and compassionate to the weak, and His Naam is the support of the life of His devotees. I, Nanak, have come to Your shelter with great hope, please make me Your own (connect me with You), and save my honour (from vices), oh Waheguru. 4.3.125.

Word Meaning: Mithiya = falsehood (of Maya). Luptaayay = clinging to. Moh = attachment. Uhun = ego. Boodh(i) = wisdom; thinking. Anndhay = blind. 1. Baiyraagi = detached from Maya; in love with Waheguru. Kaach Koatthri = body, which is like a hut of mud which can collapse at any time. Bikhaiy = lust; vices. Biyaadhay = illnesses. Pause. Bihaavaiy = spends. Pul(u) Chhin = every moment. Chheejaiy = weakens; decreases. Urjaadhay = life-span. Lobhaayay = attracted to. Jhootth(i) Dhundh(i) = false tasks. Doogaandhay = bad smelling; having bad consequences. 2.

Indri Rus = sensual tastes. Luptaadhay = clung to. Deeyee Bhuvaari = spun around (misguided). Purakh(i) Bidhaataiy = Waheguru – the carver of the fate. 3. Dookh-bhunjun = the destroyer of discomforts. Laadhay = found. Oopaadhay = struggles of mind. 4.
MEANING: The man is strongly attached to the short-lived things in the world, and as a result of his attachments, he is trapped in the bonds of Maya. The man is blinded by his egoistic thinking, and does not think of Waheguru before which he has to finally appear. 1. You reside in a body which is like a hut of mud (which can collapse any time), and on top of that, you are suffering from the disease of sensual pleasures (which can further decrease the span of your life); so why don't you recite Waheguru's Naam with deep love, and with the mind detached from the world, oh my friend? Pause. The man spends his day and night in self-centred activities (this is mine, that is mine) without realizing that the span of his life is shortening every moment. Just like a fly gets trapped in its love for sweet jaggery (raw crystallized sugar), the man is trapped by the offensive-smelling (having bad consequences) Maya-related tasks. 2. The Carver of our fates, Waheguru, has given such a spin to the mind of the man that he is clinging to (is enjoying) his sensual pleasures (like lust, rage, greed, and worldly attachments), as a result of which he takes births again, and again. 3. But, when the Waheguru, which is kind to the weak and is the destroyer of all suffering, becomes benevolent, the man gets connected with the Guru and realizes all comforts. I recite the Naam of Waheguru, which has eradicated all the internal struggles of my mind and freed me from all my doubts, oh Nanak. 4.
This is how I worship the destroyer of all sufferings, Waheguru, as a result of which He becomes kind to you, and eradicates the suffering of rebirths. Second Pause. 4.4.126.

Nayrraiy = nearby. Pause. Pulk Drisht(i) = in the twinkling of an eye. Bhoolo = misled. Aak = a very bitter plant (calotropis proccra). Nimm = neem – a tree with very bitter fruit and leaves. Toomber = a pretty-looking but very bitter fruit (Maya is compared to Toomber). Sung(u) = company. Bisiur = snake. Pur Greh(u) = house (wealth and women) of others. 2. Bairy = enemy (Maya). Kaarun(i) = for. Bust = the real thing (Waheguru's Naam). Ruhee = ignored, forgot. Amaana = in trust; unused. Baiyraana = enmity. 3. Ihaiy Bidh(i) = this way. Biyaapiyo = affected; suffers. Oobriyo = salvaged. Bhuv Saagur = the sea of Maya. Turiyo = swam across. Pooneet = pure; pious. 4.

MEANING: You are blinded (by your sensual pleasures), but the day of your death is approaching fast, oh, ignorant man. Remember the Royal Waheguru. Pause.
You will suffer for millions of days for a momentary enjoyment of lust; the enjoyment will last only for a very short time, but you will repent again, and again. 1.
Blinded by your lust for a very short time, you mistook the fruits of the bitter plants of aak, neem and toomber to be sweet (you were attracted to the glamour of poisonous Maya in the form of lust). Enjoying the company of a woman other than your wife is like living with a poisonous snake. 2. You commit sins under the influence of Maya, which is your enemy in reality, and never use the real thing (Waheguru's Naam, which is the source of true bliss and which you were supposed to use). 3. The whole world is suffering the same way (under the influence of Maya); only those are salvaged who get connected with the Perfect Guru. In the shelter of the Guru, one's body (and mind) gets purified, and he gets salvation, oh Nanak. 4.5.127.

MEANING: Robbed by your illusions, you follow your mind, and perform the (evil) deeds with the belief that you are hiding them from Waheguru. But you do not realize that He already knows everything, oh foolish man. Pause. Whatever the man does in hiding is known to You, oh Waheguru; yet the foolish man denies everything. MEANING: Waheguru protects His devotees, and Himself makes them recite His Naam. He rushes to the situation wherever His devotee has tasks and jobs to perform (to help the devotee where he needs Him). 1. Waheguru shows His devotee that He is always close to help him. Whatever the devotee asks of Waheguru is given to him right away. Pause. I am a sacrifice for the devotee who is liked by Waheguru. MEANING: The man is like an acrobat who may perform in many different guises, but is the same person (has the same character). Similarly, a man may pretend to be highly religious or a philanthropist (and may deceive people), but his real character does not change, and as a result, he has to travel through countless life forms, and he never finds comfort (blissfulness) at heart. 1. The holy saints are our real friends (who make us recite Waheguru's Naam); everything else is mortal. One sings praise of Waheguru in the company of the holy saints, and wins (achieves) the objective of his life (union with Waheguru). Pause. Maya, with the three effects, is created by Waheguru; can someone tell me how to swim across its sea (win over Maya)? The sea of Maya is a whirlpool with no limits to its drowning capability, so it is extremely difficult to swim through it. Only Guru's Shabad enables a man to swim across it. 2. By a deep search and by pondering, I have found the reality that our precious and pearl-like mind can be pleased (won over so that it quits wavering and becomes peaceful) by reciting Waheguru's Naam, which is the invaluable treasure (of blissfulness), oh Nanak. MEANING: The five demons (lust, rage, greed, worldly attachments, and ego) are so powerful that they demolish (the character of) all the four castes, and make the mystics of all the six sects (or the followers of the six Shastras) dance on the palm of their hand (at the signal of their fingers), i.e. enslave them. They rob the noble qualities of the handsome, wise, and intelligent by captivating them with their attraction. 1. Is there such a valiant

They have a huge clan, and cannot be brought under control, or do not run away (be defeated) because their army is very forceful and persistent (there are too many of them, and they are very vicious). MEANING: (Guru's Bani or Shabad in praise of Waheguru) is rich in Amrit (sustains spiritual life), and is very dear to me. The Guru does not forget it for even a moment. Pause. Guru's Amrit-Bani leads to the holy sight of Waheguru and to the touch of His feet (connects with Him). It produces blissfulness and delight in the mind, and dyes the mind with the love of Waheguru. 1. If a devotee recites Guru's Shabad every moment (and all the time), it leads to connection with the Guru, and no fear of the Angel of death is left in the mind. By reciting Waheguru's Naam with the tongue, I have enshrined His Naam in my heart, oh Nanak. 2.5.134.

MEANING: Guru's shelter is highly comforting (blissful). Pause. When a devotee sings Waheguru's praise even for a short time (in the shelter of the Guru), Waheguru's Naam slowly gets implanted on his tongue (and in his heart). 1. The devotee's mind stays connected with Waheguru's Feet (Naam) whether he is travelling, sitting, or even sleeping. 2. Having realized that I am very shallow in noble qualities while You are loaded with them, I, Nanak, have sought Your shelter, oh Waheguru. 3.6.135.

MEANING: Everything other than the eternal Naam of Waheguru is (spiritually) worthless like ash. So, quit all your shrewdness, and worship Waheguru, oh my mind. 1.

However, Waheguru can be realized in the company (shelter) of the Guru only when He is comprehended with love and with the grace of the Guru. Pause. There is no other place than the shelter of the omnipotent Waheguru. The sea of Maya, which is extremely difficult to swim across, can be swum across by singing praise of Waheguru all the time. That's what I do now. 2. With Waheguru's Naam at heart, one's reincarnations come to an end, and one does not suffer at the hands of the Angel of death. But only that devotee acquires the treasure of Naam whom Waheguru is kind to. 3.

MEANING: Waheguru has given us the soul, the mind, the body, the life, and all sweet substances (luxuries) to enjoy. He is a relative (friend) of the weak (humble), is the provider for all living beings, and keeps us in His shelter. 1. Recite Waheguru's Naam, and focus on Him all the time, oh my mind. He is with us all the time and protects us in this world and the next. Pause. Some devotees read the Vedas and the Shastras, perform many types of religious deeds and rituals, and display sweet behaviour to swim across the sea of Maya. But Waheguru's Naam is above all these acts. 2. On connecting with Satguru, one's lust, rage, and ego vanish completely. So, one should reinforce Waheguru's Naam in his mind and worship Him. Without the shelter of the Guru, I suffered a great deal due to the weakening of my mind (which does not find peace). (So, recite the Naam of) Waheguru, which never changes. By reciting the Naam, you will earn His love (and find peace of mind), oh man. 1.
Waheguru is the creator of the whole universe, is omnipotent, and the provider for all living beings. So, giving up all your cleverness, recite His Naam constantly. 2.
The transcendent Waheguru is unreachable and is limitless; He is the friend and the companion, is helpful everywhere, and is the basis of all life. So, embed (enshrine) His lotus-like soft Feet (His Naam) in the heart, oh my friend. 3. Please, be kind to me so that I may sing Your praise, oh Waheguru. Satguru salvages the world; all those filthy-minded and the foolish, begin to serve You (lead life as per Guru's Shabad), oh Waheguru. Pause. The omnipresent Waheguru is the creator of all living beings and of the earth. Even the Angel of justice is so mesmerized (by Your splendour) that He drops on Your feet (seeks Your shelter) along with everybody else, oh Lord. 2. Hindu religious books discuss the characteristics of the four eons – Satyug, Trayta, Dooaapur, and Kalyug – and consider the Satyug the best of all. But in reality, Kalyug is the best because if one hand (person) does something (good or bad), only he is held responsible for his act, and the other hand (nobody else) is punished or rewarded for it. 3. It is the innate greatness of Waheguru that He does that whatever His devotees want (He fulfills their wishes). Even those who take births again and again, and those who deserve hell, get their clans (associates) salvaged by You, oh my Satguru. 2. MEANING: To whom should I explain the condition of my mind, which is so engrossed in greed that it is wandering in all the ten directions in the hope of earning more money? Pause. In search of comfort, the man is experiencing a lot of discomfort and serves every Dick and Harry. With an unsettling mind, he goes from door to door like a dog in search of more money, and has no wisdom (sense) to worship Waheguru. 1.

He wastes away his precious human life, and has no shame that people will laugh at him (make fun of him because of his greed for money). Why don't you sing praise of Waheguru to get rid of your evil thinking, oh Nanak? 2.1.233.
