MEANING: My mind cannot survive without Waheguru (His Naam). I pray to my Guru that He connect me with my dear Waheguru, which is the basis of my life; once connected with Him, I will not have to take birth in the world again. Pause.

My heart yearns to see Waheguru with my own eyes. (The Guru accepted my prayer), He kindly reinforced Waheguru's Naam in my heart and showed me the simple and straight path to connect with Waheguru. 1. With my great fortune, I found Waheguru to be sweet in my heart, mind, and body. Imbued with His love, I was able to enshrine His Naam in my heart 2. But those who are greedy of and attached to the sensual pleasures of life forget Waheguru. Such people have bad luck on their foreheads and are known as followers of their own minds, foolish, and ignorant. 3.

I received Divine knowledge and the wisdom to tell the good from the bad from my Guru. With my good fortune on my forehead as prewritten by Waheguru, I acquired His Naam with the benevolence of the Guru, oh Nanak. 4.1.

Word Meaning: Dhaayo = rushes. Dehdis = in all ten directions (every direction). Mugun = absorbed; lost. Sooaad(i) in tastes. Mohiyo = captivated by. Tin = those. Bhoolaayo = misguided. Pause. Kutha = stories (management of the universe). Jus = praise. Mooht(u) = moment. Bigsiyo = blooming of the heart. Paykh(i) = to see. Koosumbh = a pretty flower which withers away quickly, especially when touched. (Maya is like Koosumbh). Pur Greh(i) = others' house (women and wealth). Johun(i) = to watch with evil eye. 1. Bhaaou = love; affection. Sat Purakh = eternal Waheguru. Munaayo = worshipped. Buhou Bhaanti = in many different ways. Tayli Buld(u) Bhermaayo = as an ox goes around and around running an old-fashioned oil mill. 2. Nimukh = a moment. Na Na = various. Jhootth = lies. Tokhiyo = pleased. Boojhiyo = understood. Apnaayo = own. 3. Per-oopkaar = selfless favours to others. Dhiyaayo = remembered. Ruch(i) = getting absorbed. Gosht(i) = in union, in the company. Mutvaaro = intoxicated. Mud = liquor; intoxicant. 4.
Bhugut(i) Vuchhul = lover of His worshippers. Paachhaiy = pursue Him. 5.1.3.

MEANING: Captivated by greed and by different tastes of Maya, and lost in their thoughts, the human mind continuously rushes in every direction (never finds peace). But this is how Waheguru has created the world and misled the people. Pause.
The human mind finds no interest – not even for a short moment - in the stories of Waheguru (His virtues) or in His praise in the company of the Guru (or the holy saints). The human mind blooms to see the short-lived attractions of Maya, which are like a koosumbh flower, and casts an evil eye on the wealth and women of others. 1. It shows no love for Waheguru, who has lotus-like soft feet, nor does it worship Him. But it rushes to pursue many different things and spends its life like the ox that operates (powers) an old-fashioned oil mill and walks in circles all day (without achieving anything). 2. The man does not perform any spiritual deed like taking a dip in Waheguru's Naam-Amrit, or making others do the same; nor does he sing Waheguru's praise, not even for a moment. He does try to please himself with many different false lies (ideas), but does not recognize which is good for his spiritual life (which will accompany him at death). 3. He never does selfless favours to others, nor does he serve Satguru or remember Him. Intoxicated with the comforts of Maya, he always enjoys the company (tastes) of the five demons (lust, greed, etc.). 4. Hearing that Waheguru loves His worshippers, I have come to the gathering of the holy men with the request that they connect me with Him (God). I have come to the shelter of Waheguru hurriedly, requesting that He make me His own and protect my dignity (from the attacks of Maya), oh Nanak. 5.1.3.

Word Meaning: Manookh = man. Bin Boojhaiy = without bonding with God. Birtha = empty; worthless. Anik = countless. Saaj Seegaar = adornments; decorations. Mirtuk(u) = dead body. Odhaaya = dressed. Pause. Kirpun = lover of Maya. Sherm(u) = hard work. Ikuttar = amassed. Daan Poonn(u) = donations and noble deeds. Kaaj(i) = worthy deed. 1. Aabhern = ornaments. Sayja = bed. Kaamun(i) = woman; the human bride. Thaat = attractive construct. Bherta = husband. Paykh(i) = looking (at empty decorations). 2. Majoori = hard labour. Tooh(u) = the hollow shell of a grain. Moosleh(i) = a dumbbell-shaped heavy wooden log to beat the grains to separate kernels from the shells. Chhuraaya = beaten. Khayd = suffer. Baygaari = a person who is obligated to do errands for others without any payment. Niyaayeen = like. Ghur(i) = for self. 3. Anugreh(u) = benevolence. Pachhaiy = shelter. Rus(u) = sweet taste. 4.

MEANING: Man's arrival (his birth) in this world is worthless if he does not make any bond with Waheguru. He adorns his body in many different ways, but without bonding with Waheguru, all his adornment is like dressing up a dead body. Pause.

The money-lover puts in hard labour with gusto and amasses lots of wealth, but all that goes to waste (in the realm of spirituality) if he does not share that with the needy, and does not serve the holy saints. 1. All the religious adornments (wearing of religious symbols and performance of rituals, etc.) of a money-lover are as worthless as the adornments of a bride who beautifies herself with ornaments and decorates her bed (with flowers, etc.) to make it attractive for her husband who does not show up (leaving her suffering in separation). 2. The man puts in hard labour all day (to make money), but (without bonding with Waheguru) it is like beating the shells of grains without kernels with a wooden log. His hard work goes (spiritually) unrewarded like that of the man who is obligated to do work for others without any payment to take home. 3. But when Waheguru becomes benevolent to someone, he acquires His Naam in his heart. I also took shelter of the holy saints to acquire the sweet essence of Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 4.2.4.

MEANING: Kindly reside in my heart all the time, oh, the treasure of benevolence, Waheguru. Kindly lighten up my mind with the wisdom so that love for You is implanted in my mind. Pause. I wish to have the dust of the feet of Your devotees to put on my forehead (show deep respect for them and serve them) so that I am transformed from a big sinner to a purified devotee, and get motivated to sing Your praise, oh Waheguru. 1. I wish I could find Your Command to be sweet, and like (gladly accept) whatever You do. I also wish to be content with whatever You give me, and I do not need to seek the support of anyone else. 2. I wish that I always felt that You are close to me, and I should be humble like dust (which is stepped on by everybody, and does not complain), oh my Lord. I should be lucky to join the company of the holy saints to acquire Your Naam in my heart. 3. I am always like Your child (who makes mistakes), and You are my father. Waheguru, whom all living beings belong to in the first place, looks after His devotees, and all their griefs and sufferings are eradicated. He plays the role of the mother and the father of the devotees, and protects them with His kind hand. 1.

With the kindness of the Lord, Waheguru, everybody else also shows kindness to the devotees. I, too, have taken the shelter of the Waheguru, which is the destroyer of all suffering, and which has supreme magnificence, oh Nanak. 2.9.14.

So, I have come to the Court of Waheguru to take His shelter (for protection against the attacks of Maya). Pause. By continuously searching in many different ways, and considering all options, I have realized that one can attain the highest spiritual state only in the shelter of the Guru, and those who are engrossed in the attractions of Maya lose the game of life. 1.

I am lucky to have sought the company of the holy saints (the Guru), because of whom I have developed love for Waheguru's Naam. Now I feel blissful to recite Waheguru's Naam (in His shelter), and all my ailments have been eradicated, oh Nanak. 2.10.15.

As per my fortune prewritten on my forehead by Waheguru, I acquired this wisdom from the Guru and began to recite Waheguru's Naam. This is how I saw Waheguru with my eyes, oh Nanak. 2.1.18.

One wishes for more and more wealth, but where can he get that without his good fortune? (Ignoring Waheguru), The man is attached to his body, which has been given to him by Waheguru; the unfortunate is deeply absorbed in the fire of desires. 1. Pause. Breaking all my bonds with Maya, and freeing me from the slavery of poisonous sensual pleasures, Waheguru has implanted Guru's Shabad in my heart. Ignoring my merits and demerits, He has given His love to me, with which I am deeply imbued. 1.
All the curtains between Him and me have been removed, and my mind is feeling blissfulness and happiness, and is fully convinced (overwhelmed) with His love. My heart has become a dwelling for Him. He is the Lord of my heart now, and I am His slave, oh Nanak. 2.1.20.

With Guru's grace, I have been connected with Waheguru, which is the source of all virtues, and all my objectives have been fully achieved. He is very attractive, wise, smart, and knowledgeable about everything; he resides in the hearts of His devotees who sing His virtues all the time. He has a pious personality and is the unparalleled Lord. He has created the human body as the ground to sow seeds of deeds; people reap the rewards of whatever they sow. 1. Watching His amazing feats, I get mesmerized; there is none other who can be compared to the Lord. MEANING: Like a contained fire on a few dry leaves, or the shadow of a cloud, or the flood-water (which lasts only for a short while); Maya is also highly deceptive, and stays with a person only for a short time, oh my mother. Pause. So, give up your wisdom and cleverness, and follow the path of the Guru with folded hands (with full devotion), oh man. The only (best) reward of the human body is that the man can (and should) always remember the omniscient Lord. 1. The holy men explain the teachings of the religious books (like the Vedas), but the stupid and unlucky man does not bother to understand them. Mootthay = deceived. 2

MEANING: The Words of the Guru are very sweet (comforting), oh my mother. Pause. One earns countless rewards by having a sight of the Guru (by understanding and obeying His Teachings), but one gets to “see” the Guru only with one's good fortune, and with the benevolence of Waheguru. When one sings praise of the virtues of the immortal Waheguru, the persistent attacks of his lust, rage and conceit are eradicated. Imbued in the love of Waheguru, one finds stability for his soul (it merges into Waheguru) and is not crushed (suffers) in the cycle of birth and death (he is not born again). 1. With the munificence of the Guru, one comes to realize that without Waheguru’s worship, all other tastes (enjoyments) of life are false (short-lived). Word Meaning: Koat(i) = millions; countless. Bhoogvaiy = enjoyments. Simrut = remembering; reciting (the Naam). Binsay = destroyed. Pause. Kilvikh = sins. Paavun = acquire. Sroop(u) = beautiful looks. Poorun Aasa = wish fulfilled. Dersgun Bhaytut = on seeing the holy sight. Bhookh = appetite. 1. Chaar(i) Pudaaruth = the four desired things: high morality, wealth, fulfilment of desires (happiness), and emancipation. Asht Muhaa Sidh(i) = the eight supernatural powers. Kamdhenu(u) and Parijaat = a cow, and a tree, in paradise, which are believed to fulfil all wishes. They were both retrieved from the ocean when it was churned jointly by the gods and the demons. Rookh = tree. Sookh-Saagur = the sea of all comforts (God). Gerbh = womb. Na Dhookh = no smouldering (suffering of burning). 2.

MEANING: By remembering Waheguru, all my troubles have been destroyed, and my mind is in great comfort as if it is enjoying the countless luxuries of reigning over a large state, oh my mother. Pause. By remembering Waheguru (reciting His Naam), my sins of countless lives have run away, and my mind and my body are in great comfort. My wish to have a glimpse of the attractive Waheguru was fulfilled, and all my appetite for worldly desires was eradicated when I saw Him from close (got connected to Him). 1.
Waheguru is the Kamdhenu and the Parijat tree (if any, they are not independent of Him), and by remembering Him, one acquires all the four desired things as well as all the eight supernatural powers. I have sought the shelter of Waheguru, which is the sea of all comforts, and which protects you from the suffering of the heat in the womb, and you are not born again, oh Nanak. 2.10.29.

Word Meaning: Ridaiy = in the heart. Oordhaaray = acquired; enshrined. Simer(i) = by remembering. Kaaruj Suful = tasks successful; objectives achieved. Pause.
Poonn = ritualistic deeds believed to be noble. Daan = donations. Keerut(i) = praise. Tutt(u) = the essence. Atooll = immeasurable. Agumm = inaccessible. Apaaray = endless. 1.
Baahoor(i) = again. Ruttan(u) = jewel (precious). Kuntth = throat. Mujhaaray = in. 2.

MEANING: I have enshrined Waheguru's Naam in my heart. By remembering my Satguru, I have achieved all my objectives successfully. Pause. The essence of all thinking is that singing Waheguru's praise is His real worship, and one does not need any ritualistic worship, so-believed noble deeds, or donations to undeserving charities. One acquires immeasurable comforts by singing the virtues of the inaccessible, and the limitless Lord. 1. Once Waheguru makes some devotee His own (connects with him), He does not consider any of the devotee's merit or demerits after that. I survive by listening to the jewel-like, precious Naam of Waheguru, and by reciting it, oh Nanak. 2.11.30

Keh(i) Nanak, ub naah(i) anut gut(i), bin Hur(i) kee shernaayee. 2.1.31.

Word Meaning: Kuhaan = where? Udhmaayee = ignobility; immorality. Oorjhiyo = tangled in. Kunuk = gold (wealth). Kaamni = woman; wife. Rus = tastes. Pause.
Jhootthay = false; short-lived. Saach(i) = everlasting. Rooch = interest. Oopjaayee = created. Deen-Bundh = friend of the poor. Hoat Ju = which is. Sung(i) = with. 1.
Mugun = absorbed. Nis(i) = night. Kaayee = algae on the surface of water (filth). Anut = somewhere else. Gut(i) = high spiritual state. 2.

MEANING: I am so badly tangled (absorbed) in the enjoyment of my wealth and of my wife that I do not sing Waheguru's praise at all. (I am so ashamed of my behaviour) I do not know where or to whom I should tell my immorality. Pause. Believing the false world to be true (everlasting), I have taken a keen interest in it, and have never remembered the real friend of the helpless (Waheguru), who is always with me, and is my close friend. 1.
I have been so deeply absorbed in Maya (worldly affairs) day and night that the filth of my mind has not been removed. Now, (that I have realized my mistakes), I say aloud that there is no other place than the shelter of Waheguru where a high spiritual state can be attained, oh Nanak. 2.1.31.

Koyee bolaiy nirvaa, koyee bolaiy door(i). Jul kee maachhuli churhaiy khujoor(i). 1. Kaayay ray bukbaad(i) laayo. Jin(i) Hur(i) paayo, tinheh(i) chhupaayo. 1. Ruhaou. Pundit(u) hoyay kaiy Bayd(u) bukhanaiy. Moorukh(u) Naam Dayo Raameh(i) jaanaiy. 2.1.

Word Meaning: Koyee = some (people). Nirva = near. Maachhuli = fish. Khujoor(i) = on the palm tree. 1. Kaayay Ray = what for? Bukbaad(i) = nonsensical discussion. Pause. Bukhaanaiy = explains aloud. Raameh(i) = God. Jaanaiy = recognizes. 2.

MEANING: Some people say that God is very close to us, while some others maintain that He is far away. What kind of nonsensical discussion is this by which you cannot achieve any spirituality? Such a discussion is as meaningless as the thought that a fish can climb a palm tree (which is difficult to climb even by humans). (In other words, the transcendence of God is as difficult to know as for a fish of water to have full knowledge about the top of a palm tree, which it can never climb). The individuals who actually realize God do not show that to the public. 1 & Pause.
The pundits (leaned people) explain the Vedas to people for spiritual guidance. Call me foolish if you will, but I recognize God alone, oh Naam Dayo. 2.

Bhunut(i) Naam Dayo, sookirt soomut(i) bhuyyay. Gurmut(i) keh(i), ko, ko na baiykoontth(i) guyyay. 2.2.

Word Meaning: Klunk(u) = stigma; disgrace. Putit = immoral. Pause. Pertigiya = commitment. Ekaadhsi Bert(u) = fasting on the day following a new moon or a full moon. Ruhhaiy = left behind; gave up. 1. Bhunut(i) = says. Sookirt = honest deeds. Soomut(i) = noble wisdom. Ko, Ko = who and who; how many; countless. Baiykoontth(i) = in paradise. 2.

MEANING: Who (nobody) is left with any stigma if he recites God's Naam? Even the immoral are purified as soon as they recite the Naam. Pause. I was so convinced by God's Naam that I made the commitment to quit all religious rituals like fasting on certain days, and undertaking pilgrimage to holy places, oh Naam Dev. 1. I humbly submit that countless people have gone to paradise (merged with God) by reciting His Naam. I have also acquired the noble wisdom by reciting the Naam, and I perform only honest and noble deeds now, oh Naam Dev. 2.2.

Teen chhunday khayl(u) aachhaiy. 1. Ruhaou. Koombhaar kay ghur haandi aachhaiy, rajah kay ghur saandi go. Bahmun kay ghur raandi achhaiy, raandi, saandi, haandi go. 1. Baaniyay kay ghur heeng(u) aachhaiy, bhaiynsur maathaiy seeng go. Dayvul mudhay leeng(i) aachhaiy, leeng(u), seeng, heeng go. 2. Tayli kay ghur tayl(u) aachhaiy, jungle mudhay bayl go. Maali kay ghur kayl aachhaiy, kayl, bayl, tayl go. Suntaan mudhay Gobind aachhaiy, Gokul mudhay Shiyam go. Naamay mudhay Ram(u) achhaiy, Ram, Shiyam, Gobind go. 4.3.

Word Meaning: Teen = three (the three effects of Maya). A man's lifestyle is reflected in the type of business he runs. People undertake different types of businesses to earn a livelihood, which also reflects their nature. In this holy Shabad, Nam Dev Ji tells us the type of business he deals in – Waheguru's Naam. Chhund(u) = is a type of lyric. Naam Dev Ji has combined three types of rhyming terms to give this holy Shabad the form of a chhund. Khayl(u) = drama (of life). Achhaiy = Go = is. Pause. Koombhaar = potter. Ghur = home; shop; dealings. Haandi = pottery. Saandi = animals to ride. Raandi = a book for future predictions. 1. Baaniya = a grocer (shopkeeper). Heeng(u) = a spice (asafoetida). Bhaiynsur = a male buffalo. Seeng = horns. Dayvul = a temple. Mudhay = inside. Leeng(i) = Shiva's genitals. 2. Tayli = an oil-extractor (dealer). Jungle = forest. Bayl = vines; bushes. Maali = gardener. Kayl = banana-like fruit trees. Gobind = God. Gokul = the place (near Mathura) where Krishna grew up. Shiyam = dark-coloured Krishna. Ram = God. 3.

MEANING: Most of the humans play the drama of life (lead their life) under the influence of the three effects of Maya. A potter deals in pottery and has haandi (pots) in his house (or shop), whereas a rajah has saandi (animals like horses to ride on) in his stable. A Brahman has raandi - books that deal with predictions about auspicious or inauspicious moments in one's life. So, the three rhyming terms are haandi, saandi and raandi. 1.

A grocer has items like heeng(u) (asafoetida) in his shop, while a buffalo has seeng (horns) on its forehead. A temple has an idol of Shiva in the form of a lingam (his genitals). The three rhyming terms are: leeng(u), seeng and heeng. 2.

An oil extractor (dealer) has oil in his shop, while vines and bushes grow in the jungle. A gardener has kayl (fruit trees like bananas) in his orchard. So, in this case, the three rhyming items are: kayl, bayl, and tayl. 3. The holy saints have Gobind (a name for Vishnu) in their mind, while Shiyam (Krishna) is popular in Gokul. But I have only Ram (God) in my heart, oh Naam Dev. In this case, the three names making up the chhund are: Ram, Shiyam and Gobind. 4.3.

NOTE: The important message in this holy Shabad is conveyed in the last stanza, which explains that people love Maya and earn their living in many different ways. But, for the devotees, God's Naam is the most precious thing.
