Word Meaning: Sehsktita = a form of Sanskrit (The holy books of Buddhism and Jainism are written in Sehskrita). Jupmaali = rosary. Ubhee = now. Kubhee = any time. 1.
Gutay = level of spirituality. Ugiyan = ignorant. Laaj = dignity. Putay = oh Lord. Pause.
Kubhoun = sometimes. Jeeurra = mind. Oobh(i) Chuurrt Haiy = is in n the sky (high spirits). Puyyaalay = in low spirits. Lobhi = greedy. Thir(u) = stable. Chaaray Koondaan = in all four directions. Bhaalay = searches. 2.
Mern(u) = death. Mundul = world. Saajaiy = makes big plans. Aik(u) = some. Bhaah(i) Bulunti = burning fire. Aayee = is approaching. 3.
Meet = friend. Prunvut(i) = submits respectfully. Untay = at the end. Sukhaayee = friend.

MEANING: Some people study the holy books of Buddhism and Jainism, while others study the Puranas; yet others recite mantras using a rosary to focus their minds. But, now, or ever, I do not recognize (the worship of) any other power; I recognize (have faith in) only Your Naam, oh Waheguru. 1.
I have no idea what my spiritual level will be, as I am foolish and ignorant, but I have come to Your shelter. Kindly protect my dignity (from Maya's attacks), oh Lord. Pause.
Sometimes my mind is in high spirits, while at other times it is very low. My greedy mind does not become stable (contented) and wanders in all four directions. 2.
We come to this world with death written (certain) for us, yet the man makes big plans for his life, oh my mother. We watch many people leave this world, and the burning fire of death is approaching us, too. 3. No friend, no brother, no father, and no mother can save one from the fire of death. However, if Waheguru kindly bestows His Naam to someone, it certainly saves him from future rebirths, humbly submits Nanak. 4.1.

(PAGE 877): Jeh daykhaan teh ruhhiya smaayay. 3. Untar(u) sehsa, baahur(i) Maya, naiyni laagus(i) baani. Prunvut(i) Nanak(u) daasun(i) daasa, pertaapehinga praani. 4.2.

Word Meaning: Jot(i) = Soul; Light. Pusur Ruhee = is spread. Nurhuri = Waheguru. 1. Tulub = demands; desires. Nivaar(i) = remove; eradicate. Soami = Lord. Undh Koop(i) = in the dark well. Gaadiya = is engrossed. Ooturoun Paar(i) = get emancipated. Pause. Bheetur(i) = inside. Ghut = heart. Kaahay = why. Saar Kuray = looks after. Chint = worries; thinks of. 2. Serb Bhurpoor(i) = present everywhere. Undhayra = darkness. Smaayay = present. 3.
Sehsa = worries; misgivings. Baani = (attractions of) nature (world). Pertaapehanga = will suffer. Praani = oh, man. 4.

MEANING: It is Your Light which has spread everywhere, and I see You wherever I look, oh Waheguru. 1. My mind is engrossed in the deep and dark well (of Maya, where I cannot see any spiritually guiding light); so how can I cross the sea of Maya, oh my Lord? Kindly remove (rid me of) my worldly desires, oh Waheguru. Pause.
Why cannot Waheguru, which is present in every heart, be present outside (in the world)? (He is everywhere). He worries about everyone all the time (knows their needs) and looks after them. 2. Waheguru is fully present everywhere, yet He is close to some people but far away from others. When one connects with the Guru, the darkness of his mind disappears, and he finds Waheguru everywhere he looks. 3.
The man is captivated by the worldly attractions of Maya, which always leave him worried inside. Nanak submits humbly that serve Waheguru like a slave of His slaves, otherwise you will suffer badly, oh, man. 4.2.

Maya jul khaayee, paani ghur(u) baandhiya Sat kaiy aasun(i) Purakh(u) ruhhaiy. 2. Kintay naama, unt(u) na jaaniya, Toom sur(i) naahi uver(u) Huray. Oocha nuhee kehna, mun meh(i) rehna, Aapay jaanaiy, Aap(i) kuray. 3. Jub aasa, undaysa tub hee, kiyoun kur(i) Aik(u) kuhhaiy. Aasa bheetur(i) ruhhaiy niraasa, tuou Nanak Aik(u) milaiy. 4. Inn bidh(i) saagur(u) turiyaiy. Jeevutiyaan, iyoun muriyaiy. 1. Ruhaou Dooja. 3.

Word Meaning: Dur(i) = door; residence. Bheetur(i) = inside. Duraan Bheetur = behind the doors; hidden. Luhhaiy = acquires; reaches. Kaarun(i) = for the sake of. Oodaasi = sad; depressed. 1. Kin Bidh(i) = by what means. Jeevutiyaan Muriyaiy = kill desires while living. Pause.

Roh(u) = rage. Rukhvaala = guard. Aasa = hopes; wishes. Undaysa = despair; worries. Putt = panels (of the door). Jurray = secured firmly. Maya jul = glamour of Maya. Khaayee = ditch. Paani = water (of vices). Ghur Baandhiya = built residence. Sat Kaiy Aasun(i) = seat of pure (pious) heart. 2.

Kintay = countless. Sur(i) = equal to. Uver(u) = other. Huray = oh, Waheguru. 3.

Kuyoun Kur(i) = how can? Aik(u) = One Lord. Kuhhaiy = recite Naam. Jub = when. Undaysa = worries; doubts. Tub Hee = only then. Niraasa = detached from the world. 4.

MEANING: How can one describe Waheguru's residence where He lives? Who can reach the residence of God, who lives hidden behind many doors? 1. Can someone, please, guide me to the Residence for which I am feeling so depressed? Pause.

The residence (human heart) where Waheguru resides has the door of suffering, which is guarded by rage, and which has the two panels of hope and worries (despair). Waheguru resides hidden at the throne which He has made in the human heart. His throne is like a fort with a ditch of Maya's glamour, filled with the water of vices. He appears when the human heart becomes pure of all the above vices (obstacles). 2.

Many people worship You by countless names, but nobody has ever found Your limits. There is nobody like You, oh Waheguru. There is no need to tell Waheguru your problems aloud as He resides in your mind, and knows all about them; He solves them in His own way, oh my mind. 3. When a man has hopes, he has worries (and doubts) too, so how can he recite the Naam of the Lord (with doubts in his mind)? He can realize Waheguru only when he remains detached from the world where man always has big hopes and desires, oh Nanak. 4. This is how (by overcoming hopes and desires) one can swim across the world sea, and kill desires while living in the family. Second Pause.

Mern, jeevun kuou dherti deeni, aitay goon visray. 2. Sidh, Saadhik, ur(u) Yogi, Jungam, peer, poorsh buhoutayray. Jay tin milaan, taan keerut(i) aakhaan, ta mun(u) sayv kuray. 3. Kaagud(u), loon(u) ruhhaiy ghirt sungay, paani kumul ruhhaiy. Aiysay bhugut mileh(i) jun Nanak, tin Jum(u) kiyya kuraiy. 4.4.

Word Meaning: Soort(i) = concentration of mind. Shabad = Waheguru's Huqam.

Saakhi = Guru's Teachings. Singi = the trumpet that the yogis blow into to glorify their Faith, and to show their presence. Put = a shallow bowl to collect alms. Jhoali = a sack containing the dry food collected as donations that that the yogis hang on their shoulders. Bheekhiya = alms; donation. 1.
Gorakh(u) = a spiritual guru of the yogis; the Lord of the earth, Waheguru. Jaagaiy = is awake. Goyay = earth. Otthaali = created and looks after. Baar Na = no time. Pause.
Praan = life, breaths. Mookh(i) = major. Deeyay = lamps. Aitay = these many. 2.

Kaagud = paper. Ghirt = ghee; butter-oil. Jum(u) = Angel of death. 4.
MEANING: (The yogis meditate on Shiva or on their Guru Gorakh Nath, and blow their trumpet to glorify their faith, and to announce their arrival; they also carry a shallow dish to collect alms, and hang a sack on their shoulder to collect dry food). Guru Sahib says that I also meditate, but on Waheguru's Huqam (Naam), and that the Guru's Teachings are my trumpet, which I blow for the whole world to listen. My focused mind is my shallow dish, and my sack is to receive the donation of Waheguru's Naam, which I beg for. 1.
My Waheguru is awake all the time, and is the Lord of the earth which He created and which He looks after, and He took no time to create it, oh baba (yogi). Pause.
Waheguru has created life by putting the basic elements – like water and air – together, and has given us the moon and the sun as the major lamps. He has given us the earth to live on and to die on. (But we are so ungrateful that) Despite all these favours to us, we forget Him. 2. There are many people like the accomplished yogis, practising Yogism, Jungams, Muslim holy men, and other religious leaders who worship God in their own ways, but I will only sing Waheguru's praise with them if I ever meet them; this is my way to serve the Lord. 3. Just like paper and the salt, which are not harmed (dissolved) by water when they are covered by ghee, and whereas the lotus flower flourishes (Is protected) in water, the Angel of death can cause no harm to the devotees who are connected to (protected by) Waheguru's saints, oh Nanak. 4.4.

NOTE: In this holy Shabad, Guru Nanak Sahib advises a prominent yogi, Macchinder, that the path that the yogis follow does not lead to union with Waheguru. Only by enshrining Waheguru's Naam in the heart and by living a life of high moral values leads to the union.
MEANING: The person who is really detached from the world is the one who practices the wisdom of meditating on Waheguru in the spiritual state above the effects of Maya day and night. Pause.
Listen to Nanak, oh Machhinder; a true yogi is the one who controls all five demons so that his mind does not show any weakness for any sensual pleasure, and he practices this principle over his whole life. Not only does such a yogi find salvation for himself, but he also does so for his associates. 1.
He begs for the alms of Waheguru's Naam with the spirit of worship, which becomes his way of life. Such a yogi acquires the priceless contentment and satisfaction. He sits in meditation on Waheguru with full concentration and remains in that state, reciting Waheguru's Naam. 2. Listen, oh Machhinder, such a yogi is recognized by the fact that he sings Waheguru's immortalizing praise, oh Nanak. He spends his life staying detached from the world, which lives on hopes. (He does not leave home to connect with Waheguru). He realizes Waheguru for sure. 3.
This is the Word (Law) which I have shared with you, oh Machhinder. Waheguru connects such a yogi with the Guru, and the yogi takes the Guru's Shabad as his spiritual food and understands the philosophy of the six sects of the ascetics (that they do not connect one with Waheguru, oh Nanak). 4.5.

My body-boat is full of sins, and I am afraid that a wind of vices may hit it to sink it. I have come to Your shelter to connect with Waheguru, and I have faith that You will certainly bestow this honour on me, oh my dear Guru. 1.
May it be an accomplished yogi, a practising yogi, or a Jungam, whoever worships the "One" Yogi (Waheguru), by reciting His Naam, becomes successful in their objective when they touch the Feet of (surrender to) Waheguru. 2.
I know nothing about (I do not acknowledge) reciting any mantras, self-torturing, trying to keep control of my senses, or any other religious ritual; I only recite Your Naam, oh Waheguru. Waheguru has connected me with the Guru, who advised me that a man's union with God is determined solely by whether he recites His Shabad (Naam), oh Nanak. 3.6.

Nanak, sa paarungut(i) hoyay. 4.7.
Word Meaning: Soortee = the deity on which the mind is focused (Waheguru). Soort(i) = concentration of mind. Rulaayiyaiy = mix well; meditate deeply. Ait(u) = like this. Toolha = raft, a crude boat. Lungheh(i) = cross over. Jayt(u) = with which. Bhaah(i) = fire (yearning to see Waheguru). Ehinis(i) = day and night. Deeva = lamp. Athuck = tirelessly. 1.
Neer(i) = on water. Turaayay = to float. Sojhi = understanding. Pause.
Huchhi mitti = acceptable mud; pure mind. Sojhi = noble wisdom. Soyay = that (Waheguru). Kerni = noble deeds. Chuck-houn = potter's wheel. Dhaal(i) = mould. Aithaiy = in this world. Oathaiy = the next world. Nibh-hee Naal(i) = will accompany. 2.
Nudr(i) = kind sight. Gurmukh(i) = in the shelter of the Guru. Virla = rare. Tit(u) Ghut = in that heart. Nihchul(u) Hoyay = stable; permanently. Boojhaaya = blow out. 3.

Doalaiy = weakens; wavers. Vudda Hoyay = goes out; is put out. Jaapaiy = becomes visible. Singhaasun(u) = on the throne (of heart). Loyay = in the light. Nirt(i) = decide; count. Sehuns = thousands. Paarungut(u) = eligible for salvation. 4.

NOTE: On the night of the full moon in the month of Kutik (October- November), Hindu women make lamps of wheat flour and float them in water on a raft, believing their light reaches their ancestors to guide them, or will guide them after their death.

MEANING: (Stressing on the insignificance of such rituals, Guru Nanak Sahib advises us): One should float such a lamp on water by which he acquires Divine Knowledge. Pause.

He should focus his mind on Waheguru in such a way that his body is so purified (has no load of sins to cause it to sink in the world-sea) that it becomes the raft (ship) to ferry him across this sea. Save the fire (yearning to connect with Waheguru) burning inside you, so that this lamp keeps lighting tirelessly (never fades or dims), oh man. 1.

Use the Divine Knowledge as the clay to make the lamp, which is recognized (given credit) by Waheguru. Like a potter moulds the earthen lamps on his wheel, the devotee should mould this lamp (design it) on the wheel of noble deeds, and it will last with him (will enlighten his mind) in this world, and the next. 2.

However, only some rare person, whom Waheguru is kind to, understands these qualities of the lamp in the shelter of the Guru. Float such a lamp on the water; it will never die or be put out by water. Such a lamp will enlighten the mind of the devotee forever. 3.

Such a lamp will never flicker in the wind (of calamities or worldly attractions) and will never be put out, and the devotee will be able to see Waheguru sitting on the throne of his heart in the light of this lamp. Be it a Khatri, a Brahman, an untouchable, a businessman, a farmer, or a member of any of the other thousands of castes (which cannot be counted), anyone who lights up such a lamp becomes eligible for salvation, oh Nanak. 4.7

Word Meaning: Nivun(u) = bowing to. Munnun(u) = accept; have faith. Naaoun = Huqam; Will. Saach(u) = purity of mind; singing praise of the Lord. Bhayt = offering. Baiysun = to sit down; get approval. Sat(u) = high morality. Suntokh(u) = contentment. Sud(i) = invites in. Buhaalay Paas(i) = gives seat next to Him; accords honour. 1.

Birtha = empty; without reward. Saacha Soyay = eternal Waheguru. Pause.

Praaput(i) = in fortune. Poata = treasure. Kerm Pusaaou = with benevolence. Mungut Jun = the begging devotee. Chaaou = zestful; full of excitement. Bhaanday = in the vessel of heart. Bhaaou = affection. Puvvaiy Tit(u) Aayay = drops in (comes to) his heart. Dhoor(i) = from the very beginning. Taiyn = You (God). Keemut(i) Paayay = gives the befitting reward. 2. Dhuraiy = decides. Gurmukh(i) = in Guru's shelter. Pergut(u) Hoyay = appears. Hur(i) Raayay = the Royal Waheguru. Aavaiy Jaayay = takes rebirths and dies. 3. Loak(u) = the world. Dhikkaar Kuhaiy = put down; disapprove; rebuke. Maan(u) = respect. Shah = Lord. Dur = His Court (His Laws). Kehn(u) = my words. 4.

MEANING: Accepting Your Huqam gladly is the true bowing to (kneeling before) You, and singing Your praise with a pure mind is the true gift for You with which one gets a room in Your Court (is accorded honour by You), oh Waheguru. When one prays to Him with high morality and contentment, Waheguru calls him in and offers a seat next to Him. 1.

Waheguru is so kind (and just) that nobody leaves His Court unrewarded. Pause.

The devotee, whom You are kind to, receives the treasure of Your Naam. But only that devotee receives Your Naam in whose heart You have cultivated Your love, and whom You have given the ability to value the worth of Your Naam. I, Nanak, am also a beggar at Your Door, and am very excited about receiving Your Naam, oh Lord. 2.

Only Waheguru has the capability to do anything and everything, and He does things that He finds worth doing. The Royal Waheguru appears in the heart of those who come to the Guru's shelter, and they realize that when one merges into Waheguru, he never takes rebirths and dies. 3. Anybody who begs just to have his needs fulfilled does not get any respect; he is indeed rebuked by the people. (So, I beg only from You, oh Waheguru). Whatever I have stated about Your Laws, and about whatever happens in Your Court, I have stated only because You enabled me to do so, oh Waheguru. 4.8.

Word Meaning: Saagur = ocean. Boond = droplet. Kuvun = who; some rare. Boojhaiy = understands. Bidh(i) = ways. Ootbhooj = sources of reproduction. Chult = amazing feats. Chhenaiy = Puchhaanaiy = recognizes (their needs, and looks after them). 1.

Aiysa Giyan = such knowledge. Koyee = rare. Permgut(i) = highest spiritual state. Pause.

Raiyn(i) = night. Diniur(u) = the sun; day. Oosun = heat. Seet = cold. Bidh(i) Soyee = the same way. Ta Kee = His (Lord's). Gut(i) = transcendence. Mit(i) = measurements.2.

Purakh = male. Naar(i) = female. Dhoon(i) = concentration of mind. Dhiyaan = thinking. Akuth Kahaani = indescribable story of God's wonders. 3.

Jot(i) = God's Light. Munooa = mind. Punch = the five senses. Milay = come together. Gur Bhaayee = disciples of the same guru (mind). Live Laayee = focus on. 4.

MEANING: Like a droplet and the ocean are two forms of the same water (human soul and the Supreme Soul are two forms of the same Waheguru), but only a rare person understands this secret (the way of operation of Waheguru). With His amazing feats, Waheguru has created the four sources of reproduction, and knows the needs of all the living beings (and looks after them). 1. Some rare individuals contemplate such deep feats of Waheguru and attain the highest spiritual state and become emancipated. Pause.

Similarly, day and night are two forms of the same source, light, and merge into each other; so are heat and cold, which are forms of the same source, energy, and change into each other the same way day and night do. Nobody knows the transcendence and measurements of Waheguru without the Guru. 2.

Only a devotee with Divine Knowledge understands that male and female, too, are forms of the same source - sperms and eggs, and awareness - and most of their characteristics are the same and can be transformed into each other (surgeons have proved it now when they transform a male into a female and vice-versa with the use of surgery and hormones). Waheguru's wonders are beyond description, but a devotee can know such secrets when he gets connected with Waheguru by meditating on the Guru's Shabad with full focus. 3.

I will gladly offer my life (serve the) devotees who meditate only on Guru's Shabad (Waheguru's Naam) with full focus, oh Nanak. They have Waheguru's Light in their minds, and their minds stay focused on His Light (Waheguru), and they are able to control all five senses as they become the disciples of the same guru (enlightened mind). 4.9.

Word Meaning: Ja = when. Kirpa Dhaari = became benevolent. Haumein = selfishness and ego. Sayvuk(i) = female devotee. 1.

Bhaavaiy = is liked. Ehinis(i) = day and night. Laaj = (the fear of being) shamed. Pause. Ubhud Dhoon(i) Vaajay = auto-playing Divine music. Ghora = immense. Maaniya = won over. Rus(i) = in sweetness. Sach(u) = eternal Lord. Smaaya = absorbed fully. Aad(i) Purakh(u) = the origin of everything (God). 2.

Naad = music. Bayd = the Vedas. Raata = imbued. Saaringpaani = Waheguru. Teh = there. Teeruth = holy places. Vert = commitments (like fasting). Tup = self-affliction. 3.

Aap(u) = selfishness and ego. Bhuou = fear. Churni = feet; shelter. Bherm(u) = doubts.4.

MEANING: That devotee of Waheguru is liked (loved) by Him who does not care about being shamed by the world, and sings His praise day and night. Pause.
Such a devotee, who contemplates on the Guru's Shabad, is loved by God. The selfishness and the ego of such a devotee are destroyed when Waheguru becomes benevolent to him. 1. With the grace of the Perfect Guru, my mind has been won over by the sweetness of Waheguru's Naam, and I have been connected with the root of everything (God). Now, I am fully absorbed in Him, and feel as if immensely sweet Divine music is playing automatically in my mind. 2.
My mind has been imbued in Waheguru's love, and Gurbani (singing praise of Waheguru) subsumes all music and all other ways, including the study of the Vedas, pilgrimage to holy places, all ritualistic commitments, and self-affliction, which people use to please their deities (I do not need them). Waheguru salvages all His devotees who take the Guru's shelter. 3. When a devotee surrenders his wisdom to the Guru and, with His benevolence, gets rid of his selfishness and ego, all his fears disappear. Satguru dispels all his doubts, and the devotee connects with Waheguru through the Guru's Shabad, oh Nanak. 4.10.

Word Meaning: Chhaadun = clothes. Bhojun = food. Khoodhiya = appetite (for worldly attractions). Doosht = evil. Julaiy = burns in the fire of (suffers). Aagaiy = next world. Doormut(i) = ill advice. Put(i) = dignity. Khoyee = loses. Koyee = some rare. 1.
Joogut(i) = lifestyle. Sehj(i) Ghur(i) = peaceful mind. Drisht(i) = sight. Bheekhiya = alms. Bhaayay = with love for (Waheguru). Shabad(i) = with Guru's Shabad. Triptaasay = contented. Pause.
Punch Baiyl = five oxen (senses). Gudeeya = vehicle. Dayh = human body. Kulaa = power. Nibhhaiy = lasts (is maintained) till the end. Put(i) = respect. Dhur = support. Sir Bhaar(i) = turns on the side. Bikhur(i) = scattered. Juree = burns; rots. Munjh = in.2.
Sum = equal. Soag = grief; sadness. Biyogi = pain of detachment. Bhoogut(i) = food. Usthir(u) = stable. Kundh = body; mind. Nirunkaari = devotee of Waheguru. 3.
Jugota = a woollen waste band worn by yogis. Bundhun = worldly bonds. Chhoota = emancipated. Loota = robbed; eradicated. Moonderaan = glass earrings. 4.

MEANING: A real yogi is the one whose lifestyle is such that he always has a peaceful mind (fully contented). Such a yogi sees everyone with the same eye and sees Waheguru in everybody. (Rather than going door to door for alms), he begs for Waheguru's Naam with love, and stays contented with Guru's Shabad. Pause.
But, in reality, a yogi burns (suffers) in the fire of evil appetite for worldly desires, and runs around begging for clothes and food, as a result of which he acquires no spirituality, and suffers even in the next world. He does not seek the Guru's advice, and loses respect because of his ill-advice (immoral thinking). Only a rare individual worships Waheguru with the Guru's advice. 1.
The man is given a human body as the vehicle (to reach Waheguru), which is pulled by his five senses as the oxen. As long as he uses Waheguru as the power (stays connected with him), his body-vehicle reaches Waheguru's Court with dignity. But, when he loses Waheguru's support (becomes disconnected with Him), his body-vehicle becomes disabled just like a wooden-cart which turns on the side when its axle is broken, and just like the disabled wooden-cart which rots under its weight, the disabled human body rots under the weight of its evil deeds, and does not reach Waheguru's Court. 2.
(If you want to get connected with Waheguru), Then ponder on Guru's Shabad, and accept comforts and discomforts, and grief and the detachment from worldly attractions the same way; and let Waheguru's Naam and pondering on Guru's Shabad be your spiritual food, oh yogi. Also, recite Waheguru's Naam with a stable (fully focused) mind to be the devotee of Waheguru. 3.
Let a peaceful mind be your woollen waistband, which will liberate you from worldly bonds; and get rid of your lust and greed with the Guru's Shabad. Rather than wearing glass earrings in your ears (which remind him of their deity – Shiva), wear Waheguru's Naam in your heart (to keep Him in mind) and take Waheguru's, Guru's shelter. Such a yogi will find salvation, on Nanak. 4.11.

With every successive eon, the ox (which has its roots in dherma – the morals of the people), loses one of its legs.1. Vudiyaayee = respect. J(i) = those. Pause. Traytaiy = in the second eon. Kul = power; support (leg). Paakhund(u) = hypocrisy. Vertiya = became the common practice. Sojhi = understanding. Vusaiy = resides; is present. 2. Dooaapur(i) = in the third eon. MEANING: (The Hindu holy books believe that the very first eon, Satjoog (Sat yuga), was the best eon of the four yugas in which everybody spoke truth and was honest. They believe that people had different characters in different eras, and that there were different beliefs about how to find salvation. The mythical ox that supports the earth loses one leg with every successive eon. But Guru Amar Dass Ji does not agree with such a division of time. He defines a yuga not as a particular time period, but by the character of the people. According to Him, it is Satjoog when people recite Waheguru's Naam, and every household worships Him in Guru's shelter (with His Shabad). The ox that supports the earth is not an animal, but it is the morality of the people. When people have the highest moral character, it is the Sat Yuga. But some rare devotee realizes it in the shelter of the Guru. 1.

It does not matter which yuga it is; one earns respect only with Waheguru's Naam. Those who recite Waheguru's Naam get emancipated, but no one can acquire Waheguru's Naam without the Guru. Pause. (According to the Hindu books), The ox lost one leg in the Trayta yuga, and hypocrisy became the rule of the land; but a Sikh of the Guru learns and understands that one enjoys bliss when Waheguru's Naam takes dwelling in his heart (whether the ox loses one leg or not or whether it is hypocrisy everywhere or not). 2.

The Hindu books say that in the third yuga, Dooaapur (Duapar), the ox is left with only two legs, but according to Guru Sahib, it is Dooaapur when people lose faith in Waheguru and, misled by their misgivings, begin to accept some power other than Waheguru. However, a devotee of the Guru reinforces Waheguru's Naam in his heart. 3.

According to the Hindu Shastras, the ox is left with only one leg, and people's love for Maya increases. Love for Maya leads to an immense darkness of mind (no light of spirituality), but, regardless of increased love for Maya in Kalyug, a devotee who connects with the Guru is salvaged. 4. No matter what the yuga (or eon it is), it is the Huqam (power) of Waheguru that prevails in every eon. It is Waheguru, and none else, which is present in everybody. One enjoys eternal bliss by singing Waheguru's praise, but very few people recite Waheguru's Naam in the Guru's shelter. 5.

Some rare individual understands this in Guru's shelter that regardless of the eon, Waheguru's Naam is supreme, and only he is the true devotee who recites Waheguru's Naam. One earns respect only with Waheguru's Naam in every yuga, oh Nanak. 6.1.

Waheguru has filled the human heart to its capacity with His Naam and with virtues which are precious like diamonds, rubies, jewels, and pearls (and which connect one with Waheguru), but are hidden. A devotee, who has great fortune on his forehead, brings them to the surface (they are reflected in his character) with the advice of the Guru. 2.
Waheguru's Naam, which is precious like jewels and rubies, makes the devotee feel as if they were in the palm of His hand. But, the unfortunate lovers of Maya cannot acquire the invaluable Naam (worth countless money) because it is hidden behind the strong curtain of worthless Maya. 3.
Waheguru puts those devotees in the service of the Guru who have good fortune written on their foreheads right from their birth. Waheguru's advice is great, with which one acquires Waheguru's Naam, which is precious like rubies and jewels, oh Nanak. 4.1.

MEANING: The devotees of Waheguru chant (recite) Waheguru's Naam with the advice of the Guru. Whosoever listens to Waheguru's Naam or recites it, gets emancipated; those who recite Waheguru's Naam, look exalted. Pause.
The devotees of Waheguru feel highly blissful when they join together to sing Waheguru's beautiful (blissful) praise. A man's filth of his evil wisdom (thinking) is washed away in the company of the holy saints, and he acquires a healthy (pious) wisdom. 1.
A man who has good fortune on his forehead gets connected with Waheguru's devotees. Kindly show me the sight of the holy saints (connect me with them) so that all my spiritual poverty may be eradicated, oh Waheguru. 2.
Waheguru's devotees are good (noble) people, but are not to the liking of the unfortunate (vilifiers). As the noble devotees continue to recite Waheguru's Naam, their vilifiers sting them more with their malicious comments. 3.
Shame on those who vilify Waheguru's devotees, who are really friends with Waheguru. The vilifiers, who do not like the respect accorded to the Guru, have their faces turned away from the Guru, and are actually the thieves of Waheguru as well (they ungratefully use His gifts) and have black faces (are disgraced) because of their evil deeds. 4.

Ram = oh, Waheguru. Amiyo = Amrit. Rus(u) = essence. Pause.

Rid = heart. Tun(i) = body. Baataan = talks. Koorr(u) = lies; falsehood. Ful(u) = reward.3.
Mo Kuou = to me. Jug Jeevun = life of the world; Waheguru. Daatay = provider. Pugeen = feet; shelter. Baadh(i) = sever. Jit(u) = on which. 4.

MEANING: Kindly connect me with the holy men so that my mind begins to like (love) You, oh Waheguru. The essence of Your Amrit-like Naam is so sweet that I want to taste it in their company. Pause.
The holy saints are noble (transcendent), and are friends with (connected with) Waheguru. Waheguru always places His kind hand on them. But only those are saints who are liked by Waheguru, and whom He connects with Him with His benevolence through the Guru. 1.
Waheguru's devotees are highly transcendent, and one attains the highest spiritual state in their company. I wish to be a slave of the slaves of the holy saints whom God is pleased with (He is kind to). 2.
Those who serve the holy saints and have love for Waheguru cultivated in their heart, mind, and body are fortunate. Those who talk a lot without love for Waheguru, tell lies, and talk only about material things may get short-lived rewards (but no spirituality). 3.
Please, be kind to me, and put me in the shelter of the holy saints, oh Lord. I will gladly sever my head to offer it as a vehicle if they would kindly come to me (I will kill my own wisdom, put my head on their feet, and serve them selflessly), oh Nanak. 4.3.

Word Meaning: Jun = holy saint. Dhill = delay; in no time. Koont = Sur = pool. Neekay = beautiful; purifying. Tit(u) = in those. 1 Kaaraiy = in the service of. Pukkha = hand fan. Peesoun = I grind; mill. Pug = feet. Dhoor(i) = dust of the feet. Pause.
Vudday = Oochay = transcendent. Purakh = omnipresent Waheguru. 2.
Shern(i) = shelter; to surrender. Laaj = dignity. Sooaayay = selfish interest. Bugul = heron; an imposter. Smaadh(i) = (pretend to be in) deep meditation. 3.
Kaag = crow. Neech = of low character. Kurung = carcass. Bikhoo = poison; feces; filth. Huns(u) = swan = a holy man.

MEANING: If I am very fortunate, it will not take any time for me to get connected with a holy saint. The holy saints are pools (sources) of mind-purifying Amrit (Waheguru's Naam); but only the highly fortunate take a dip in such pools (join their company). 1.
Put me in the service of Your holy saints so that I may haul water for them, fan them in hot weather, grind flour for them, wash their feet, rub them well, and drink the wash (a commonly used expression of respect), oh Waheguru. Pause.
Waheguru's holy saints are highly transcendent and connect you with Satguru. There is no one else as great as Satguru; it is only in the shelter of Satguru that one can recite Waheguru's Naam. 2. I have come to the shelter of Satguru with the kindness of the holy saints; now protect my dignity (against the attacks of Maya) and connect me with You, oh Waheguru. But many join the gathering of the Satguru for selfish reasons. They are impostors who pretend to sit there in deep meditation like a heron which does not move (to give the impression of a swan which does not catch fish) while catching fish. 3.
Such impostors are like herons and crows, which like the company of other low-level birds which nibble on carcasses and filth. I pray to Waheguru to put me in the company of the holy saints because it is the gathering of holy men where even a heron-like imposter is transformed into a swan-like holy man, oh Nanak. 4.4.

MEANING: The Lord, Satguru, is the greatest living being in whose shelter one embeds Waheguru's Naam in his heart. The Perfect Guru has given me the gift of new spiritual life, and now I remember (recite) Waheguru's Amrit (immortalizing) Naam all the time. 1.
I am highly fortunate that I listened to the story of Waheguru's virtues (His praise) from the Guru, whom I loved to the core of my heart. It is because of the Guru that I have committed Waheguru's Naam to memory (recited by the tongue). Pause.
The 330 million gods and countless others remember Waheguru, but can find no end to His limits. They have lust in mind, and beg for women and other luxuries of life with their hands spread. 2. One attains spiritual height by reciting Waheguru's Naam, which one should enshrine in his heart in the shelter of the Guru. But one recites Waheguru's Naam only with great fortune when the Lord ferries him across the world sea. 3.
Waheguru's saints are close to Him, and He is close to them, and Waheguru's Naam is always on their tongue. Waheguru is our father and our mother, and he raises and nourishes us like His children, oh Nanak. 4.6.18.

Please be kind to me, and disregard my virtues and my bad qualities, oh, kind to the helpless, Waheguru. The condition of the human body (mind) is very similar to mud that cannot be washed. The human mind, too, cannot be washed free of filth by washing the body. 1.
Waheguru creates the human body to be perishable like earthenware, and dignifies it by placing His Light in it. We perform only those kinds of deeds for which we are programmed as per the prewritten fortune by the Creator (Waheguru). 2.
We believe that our body and mind are ours forever – the belief which becomes the root cause of our rebirths and deaths. The (spiritually) blind man does not remember the Lord who has given our body and mind, and is trapped in the love for his body. 3.
(Regardless of how the man treats his body), Only the Creator, Waheguru, knows the future of our bodies because we have no access to His secrets. I am a slave (devotee) of Waheguru, and sing His praise to worship Him, oh Nanak. 4.1.

Serve the world (and the Guru) by being so humble as if you are the dust of everybody's feet, and raise your spiritual level. Consider everybody superior to you; only then will you get recognition in Waheguru's Court. 1.
Take Satguru's shelter (surrender your wisdom to Him), and churn your mind (analyze it); ignore all the worldly attractions to control your mind so that it is peaceful (quits wavering), and do not call anyone a liar. This is how you will find reality (get connected with Waheguru), the source of all the nine treasures of the world. 2.
Analyze your mind in the shelter of Satguru, and meditate deeply on Waheguru's Naam to clear all your doubts, oh my brothers. If you believe that Waheguru is close to you, you will find Him present in everybody. Then, how will you be able to mistreat (or hurt) anybody? 3.
When you connect with Satguru, you will find no obstacle on your path to union with Waheguru, and you will connect with Him without any special effort. Those devotees are great who realize Waheguru in this iron age (full of jealousy and aggression); I am always a sacrifice for them, oh Nanak. 4.2.

NOTE: At the time of Guru Sahiban, worship of idols was the norm; anyone who worshipped God was ridiculed.
MEANING: Ever since I have been connected with the Perfect Guru (come to his shelter), I have been connected with Waheguru, and my pain of separation from Him has been eliminated. Now I do not feel any excitement about wealth coming to me, nor any pain if it leaves me. I am always blissful now. 1.
This is how I realized Waheguru in my heart. Now, I am enjoying the sweetness of His union in the spiritual state, and am totally unaffected by any worldly attachment, grief, (mental) sickness, or taunting of the people. Pause.
Detached from the worldly attractions, I see Waheguru, which is the source of all virtues to be present everywhere, and feel the sky, the earth, and the underworld to be equally pure (because of Waheguru's presence in them), and nothing in the three worlds attracts me, which may cause me to commit any immoral act. 2.
In this high spiritual state (union with Waheguru), I find my Satguru, and the invisible, inaccessible, and the Lord, Waheguru, to be permanently present in my mind; and no Maya, beauty of animals in the water, in the air, or on the land can distract me. 3.
My body, my mind, and my wealth all belong to Waheguru (are given by Him); so, how can I keep account of His countless virtues (favours)? Just as water mixes with another body of water and becomes indistinguishable, my Satguru has caused me to merge into Waheguru, where I cannot distinguish between friends and foes, oh Nanak. 4.3.

The contents of the treasure are amazing and are physically inaccessible. They are beyond description, oh my friends. Pause.
Nobody can put any material value on those virtues, so what can be said about them? No one has the wisdom (or the knowledge) to describe them; only the individual who experiences them is qualified to say something about them (describe them). 2.
Only the Creator knows about His virtues; what can the poor man who has been created by Him know about them? Only Waheguru, which has His treasures full of precious virtues, knows about His transcendence, and His measurements 3.
Whoever tastes the Amrit-like sweet taste of His Naam, becomes fully contented. My wish (of tasting Lord's Naam) has been fulfilled since I came to Satguru's shelter, oh Nanak. 4.4.

Kuhou Nanak, so buhour(i) na naachaiy, jis(u) Gur(u) bhaytaiy Poora. 4.7.

Word Meaning: Ker = hands. Kur(i) = by making. Taal = cymbals. Pukhaavuj = tabor. Naiynhou = by the eyes. Maathaiy = on the forehead. Rubaaba = a lute-like wire instrument. Kernhou = from the ears. Mudh(u) = honey-like sweet. Baansuri = flute. Jihva = tongue. Dhoon(i) = musical sound. Agaaja = plays aloud. Nirt(i) = dance. Ghoonghur = bells. 1. Paykhaiy = watches. Saaj Sheengaari = instruments and other decorations. Pause.
Aakhaar Mundlee = arena for dancing. Subaayee = all. Guggun(u) = sky. Chundoa = canopy. Puvun = air; noise of worldly attractions. Vichola = mediator. Ikayla = alone. Jul = water; the sea of Maya. Oaput = originated. Punch Tut(u) = the five basic elements. Pootra = the puppet; human body. Kirt = former deeds. Milaava = union. 2.
Juray = burn; inlaid. Churaaga = lamps. Chuhoun Koont = the four directions. Bheetur(i) = in. Dus Paatou = the ten senses. Punch = the five demons. Sungeeta = low-caste; mean. Aikaiy = in the one (same) body. Saathaiy = together. Bhinn = different. Bhaav Dikhaayay = try to seduce. Niraari = their own; unique. Bhaakhay = language; signs. 3.
Ghur(i) = in heart. Vaajaiy Toora = plays music (of worldly attractions). Aik(i) = many. Nuchaaveh(i) = make humans to dance to their tune. Bhuvaaveh(i) = mislead. Dhoora = are reduced to dust (are humiliated). Buhour = again. Bhaytay = gets connected. 4.

MEANING: [Some people believe that they can please Waheguru (or their deities) by dancing; but disapproving this practice (and belief), Guru Sahib says that everybody is already dancing non-stop in nature – albeit they are dancing at the hands of Maya].
Everybody is dancing in Waheguru's world (for Maya), and the Creator is watching this dance with all the musical instruments and other decorations. Pause.
Man's hands are acting as cymbals when they earn money by fair or unfair means, and his eyes are acting as tabors when they view the world with lust and greed. The fortune on his forehead, as the result of his previous deeds, plays as a lute, and his ears feel as if they are listening to the sweet tunes of a flute when he enjoys malicious criticism about others or to filthy songs. His tongue seems to sing sweet tunes aloud when it enjoys tastes of delicious foods. 1. The whole earth is the arena for humans (their minds) to dance, while the sky is the canopy over the world-arena. Air* (the loud noise of worldly desires, which originate from the sea of Maya), is the only mediator between the human mind and its dancing (worldly attractions make the mind dance). Waheguru created the puppet-like humans from the five basic elements, and their souls are connected to the corresponding bodies according to their previous deeds. 2.

The moon and the sun are two lamps that burn to create light in all four directions. The ten human senses (five basic and five implementers), and the five low-caste demons all reside together in the human mind. All of them try to seduce the human mind with their own unique language (characters). 3.
The music of Maya is playing, and such dancing is taking place in every heart, day and night. Maya's music makes many people dance like puppets and misleads many others to roam from place to place to earn wealth, while many others are humiliated when they have to go through many, many life forms. But a person who is fortunate enough to connect with the Guru (acts on His advice) never has to dance on the hands of Maya again, oh Nanak. 4.7.
NOTE: Farid Sahib has also used Puvun (air) as the loud noise of Maya (worldly desires) in his sloaks. Read the following Sloak as an example:

- ਸਲੋਕ ਫਰੀਦ ਜੀ (1382)॥ ਫਰੀਦਾ ਇਹੁ ਤਨ ਭਉਕਣਾ ਨਿਤ ਨਿਤ ਦੁਖੀਐ ਕਉਨੁ॥ ਕੰਨੀ ਬੁਜੇ ਦੇ ਰਹਾ ਕਿਤੀ ਵਗੈ ਪਉਨੁ*॥

MEANING: Barking for the attractions of Maya is the innate nature of the mind. Who can afford to suffer meeting its demands, oh Farid? I will simply plug my ears (refuse to listen), no matter how loud noise do the worldly attractions make.

Word Meaning: Bhulo = noble; acceptable to God. Keertuniya = street dancer; singer of Lord's praise. Ram, Ruma, Rama = only of omnipresent Waheguru. Dhundh = tasks. Sooaaou = selfish interests. Pause.
Onkar(i) = in Waheguru. Dhoon(i) = focus of mind = Soort)i). Alaapaiy = chants. Aika Daysi = resident of only one country (Waheguru). Dhikhaavaiy = shows (Waheguru's path). Biyaapaiy = prevails; present. Aiko = only one (Waheguru). Jaapaiy = appears. 1.
Punch Bujittra = the five kinds of musical instruments (percussion, woodwind, string, brass, and keyboards). Suntokha = contentment. Saat Soora = the seven notes of the keyboard. Laiy = full absorption; full focus of mind. Chaalaiy = leads life. Maan(u) Taan(u) = pride and power. Tuj(i) = gives up. Taana = changing of music. Paaoun Na ghaala = does not set foot. Beenga = on the immoral path. Phayri = spinning. Phayr(u) = return to the world; rebirth. Bundh Paalaiy = remember always. 2.

Naardi = worship of a deity as preached by Nard (a son of Brahma). Nurhur = Waheguru. Hudooraiy = right in front. Ghooghu Khurruk(u) = clinking of anklets. Visooray = worries. Sehj = peaceful mind. Anund = blissfulness. Bhaavaiy = is liked. Nirtkaari = dancer. 3.
Koat(i) Mudh(i) = one in millions. Tayk = shelter. Aik = of the "One". 4.
MEANING: That street dancer is noble and liked by Waheguru who dissociates himself from the bonds of Maya, and sings praise of the omnipresent Waheguru. Pause.
Such a dancer focuses his mind on the "One" Supreme Being, and sings the song in praise of the "One". He calls himself a citizen of the "One", shows the people the path to connecting with the "One", and sees the "One" as present everywhere. 1.
Such a dancer brings contentment and high morality. and other virtues, his instruments of five different kinds (percussion, woodwind, strings, brass, and the keyboard), and his deep meditation on Waheguru become his lifestyle, which serves as the seven notes of the keyboard. Giving up his pride and power serves as his musical instrument, and not setting foot on the path of immorality marks a sudden change in his music. When he remembers Guru's Shabad as his firm commitment, he never takes birth again. 2.
He performs the Nardi dance when he believes Waheguru is present before him, and forgetting his worries is like the melodious clinking of the anklets. He is loved by Waheguru when he controls his mind and enjoys blissfulness. Such a dancer is never born again. 3.
But only one in millions sings Waheguru praise to be loved by Waheguru. I have taken shelter of the holy saints because singing Waheguru's praise is the only thing they do there, oh Nanak. 4.8.

Word Meaning: Khudaayay = Allah(i) = Allah = God. Goosuyyiyaan = a name of God. 1.
Kern Kaarun = the Creator. Kureem = benevolent; provider. Ruheem = forgiving; compassionate. Pause.
Hujj = pilgrimage to Mecca by Muslims. Sir Nivaayay = bows down. 2.
Kutayb = the holy books of the Western religions (Quran, Bible, Torah etc.) Oadhaiy = wears. Neel = blue (Muslims). Soopayd = white (Hindus or Parsees). 3.
Baanchhaiy = longs for. Bhisht(u) = paradise. Soogindu = paradise of Indra. 4.
Puchhaata = recognized. Bhayd(u) = secrets. Jaata = came to know.
MENING: People worship their God by different names – some chant the name of Rama, some call Him Khuda, while some serve Him in the name of Goosuyyiyaan, and yet some others call Him Allah. 1.
But the creator of the universe is benevolent to, and the provider for all. No matter what name the people use for Him, He is forgiving and compassionate. Pause.
Some people serve Him by taking dips at holy places, while others undertake a pilgrimage to Mecca. Some worship the idols, while some others bow to Him while offering Nivaj (Muslim prayer). 2.

Some people study the Vedas, while some others study the Quran, the Bible or the Torah. Some people wear blue clothes while others wear white as per their beliefs. 3.
Some people call themselves Turks, while others are Hindus. Some long for Paradise, while others wish for the paradise of Indra. 4. But only those know the mystery of the Lord who recognize His Huqam (live by His Will), oh Nanak. 5.9.

Word Meaning: Puvun(u) = air, breaths. Smaaya = mixes with. Joti = the source of Divine Light (Waheguru). Jot(i) = light; soul. Maati = body soil. Tayk = basis. 1.
Braham Giyani = connected with Waheguru. Chult = amazing feat; an illusion. Pause.
Uglee = to happen in future. Ootth(i) Sidhaayee = leaves the world. Bherm = misgivings Moh = worldly attachments. Bundh = bonds. Bhukhlaayay = talks gibberish. Undh = blind.2.
Ruchun(u) = creation. Kartar(i) = the Creator. Aavut Jaavut = coming and going; birth and death. Huqam = laws. Apaar(i) = of the limitless God. Mernaiy Joag = subject to death. Binsaiy = is destroyed. Abinaashi = immortal. Hoag(u) = being. 3.
Eh(u) = human soul. Jaanhou = as you understand. Chookaaya = removed; cleared. 4.

NOTE: Most people grieve too much at the death of a relative. Some degree of grief is natural, but Guru Arjun Dev Ji explains the reality behind death: it is a law of Waheguru that every visible thing in the world is perishable, so humans have to die as well. Also, the body is perishable, but, being a part of the Supreme Soul, the human soul is immortal. So, we should accept Waheguru's Huqam.
MEANING: Who has died? (In fact, none). We should discuss it with a holy saint to find the truth behind death, that it is only an illusion created by Waheguru. Pause.
What really happens is that the breaths of the deceased person mix with the air, and his soul mixes with (reaches) the Supreme Soul, Waheguru (who decides what to do with that soul depending upon the deeds performed by it when it was in human body. A pure soul becomes a permanent part of Waheguru, while an immoral soul is reincarnated). The soil of the body mixes with the ground soil; so, what is the basis for the survivors to grieve? 1.
Before anyone knows anything about what happens in the future (the next world), even the grieving persons have to leave the world. Life is like a dream, and we are all blindly bound to false attachments to our relatives. So, grieving at some death is like unintelligible talking in dreams. 2. This is how the Creator, Waheguru, has created the world in which coming and going (births and deaths) take place as per the Huqam of the limitless Lord. No one dies forever (he is born again) – in fact, nobody is subject to death forever (as the soul is immortal). Being immortal, the soul is never destroyed. 3.

The soul is not what you think it is. I am a sacrifice to Waheguru (or the Guru), who knows everything. The Guru has cleared my doubts, and I have come to know that nobody dies or is born (to live here forever), oh Nanak. 4.10.

Word Meaning: Jup(i) = recite the Naam. Gobind(u) = Gopal = names of Waheguru. Laal(u) = Dear. Simer(i) = remember; recite. Muha Kaal(u) = powerful death. Pause.
Bherm(i), Bherm(i) = wandering through. Buddaiy Bhaag = great fortune. 1.

MEANING: Remember (worship) the Dear Lord all the time, oh my friends. If you lead your life by remembering Him, the powerful death will not consume (kill) you spiritually. Pause.
The man travels through many, many lives before he is born as a human, but he comes to Guru's shelter only with great fortune. 1.

Word Meaning: Chaar(i) = the four (Vedas). Maaneh(i) = convinced. Khut(u) = the six (Shastras). Vukhaaneh(i) = explain. Dus-Ushteen = the 18 (Puranas). Bhayd(u) = secret.1. Kinkuri = a small lute. Anoop = extremely beautiful. Mutvaaro = intoxicated. Pause.

Pruthmay = (in the) first (eon); in Satyug. Vussiya = was settled. Sat = truthfulness. Khayrra = palace; city. Tritiyay = in the second eon (Trayta). Dootayrra = difference. Dootiya = the second eon (Dooaapur). Urdho-Urdh = half and half; the ox of morality lost two legs. Aik(u) Ruhhiya = only one leg was left (in the fourth eon of Kulyug). Aik(u) = one God. 2.
Aikaiy Soot(i) = the common thread. Proyay Muniyay = beads are strung. Gaantthi = knots. Bhinn(i), Bhinn(i) = different. Tuniyay = spread. Maala = necklace. Buhou Bidh(i) = in many ways. Khinchiya Soot(u) = pulled out the thread (of His power). Aayee Thaayayn = the beads fall into their appropriate places. 3.
Chuhoun = in all the four eons. Mutt(u) = the home of the yogis. Bikkhrray Thaan = difficult places; attractions of Maya. Anik = countless. Khirrkiyaan = windows for evils to attack through. Khojut, Khojut = while searching. Dooaaray = at Waheguru's Door. 4.
Iyoun = like this. Meetthi = sweet. Pause Second.
MEANING: An extremely sweet lute is always playing in nature, but you cannot hear it because you are so intoxicated (lost) in playing at your own small lute, oh yogi. Pause.
The four Vedas say it aloud, and the six Shastras also say the same thing (that there is only one Creator), but your mind is not convinced. The eighteen Puranas also say in one voice that there is only one Supreme Being, but you do not understand this secret, oh yogi. 1.
(People believed that there was a different supreme power, and people had different characters in each eon; also, there was a different way to realize that power in each eon). They believed that in the first eon, Satyug, the whole world was a city of truthful people, while things changed (were different) in the second eon, Trayta. In the third eon, Dooaapur, the morality of the people was reduced to half of its original level (and the ox supporting the earth lost two of its legs). But in the present eon, Kulyug, when the ox has been left with only one leg, the Guru has shown us only the "One" Waheguru. 2.
Just like the beads of a necklace are strung on a common thread, the whole world (all living beings are connected to the thread of (the common power of) Waheguru to form a necklace. They are tied to the Waheguru thread in many different ways (with varying degrees of freedom), so the necklace (beads) can move along the thread in many different ways. But when Waheguru pulls the thread of His power from the living beings, all of them merge into Him. 3. No matter what the eon is, the same Waheguru has made his dwelling in each of them (is always present there). The world has very tough environment to live in where there are so many entrances for the demons (lust, greed, rage, etc.) and other attractions of Maya, to attack human beings and to rob them of their noble qualities. While searching for some safe place where one can protect himself from such attacks, the real yogi finds the Residence of Waheguru, oh Nanak. 4. This is how the melodious lute plays, and which the yogi finds to be very sweet. Pause Two. 1.12.

MEANING: (The Yogis wear a quilt of rags, and glass earrings; they put ash on their body, and like these things as symbols of their faith, and beg for worldly luxuries from their deity as if they are going to live forever. Explaining that their visit here in this world will be short, Guru Sahib teaches them the reality and the purpose of human life.

Your body, like your quilt, is here only for a few days (for a short period); so, worship the true Lord, day and night, oh yogi. Pause. ike your quilt, your body is also a patchwork of flesh and bones in which the veins and nerves function as threads and stitches, and the bones serve as a big needle for stitching. The stick-like human body is made of water (and other elements). So, what are you so conceited about, oh yogi? 1.

With your body coated with ash, you sit in deep meditation, but you are wearing earrings of discrimination of mine and of others, in your mind. You beg for food, but do not find contentment. Rather than wishing for (union with Waheguru), you wish for worldly luxuries; do not you feel ashamed of your wish? 2.

Your seat (meditative state) is very unstable (your mind keeps wavering all the time). You blow your harp (to tell the world about the arrival of your deity), but you always suffer from depression. You have no understanding of the Great Lord, as a result of which you keep taking births, dying again, and again, oh yogi. 3.

The yogi, whom Waheguru becomes kind to, achieves stability (peace) of mind (high spiritual state), bows only to Him, and prays only before Him, saying, “Your Naam is the quilt and the clothes for me, oh the Lord of the earth.” 4.

This is how I recite the Naam of the Lord of the earth day and night, and have achieved union with Him, oh Nanak. Pause Second. 2.13.

Waheguru's Light (His Soul) is perfectly pure, and immortalizing is His Naam. A devotee becomes immortal (his soul merges into the Supreme Soul) on drinking the Amrit-like Naam, and one is left with no worldly desires. One's body and his mind become peaceful, and the fire of his desires is put out. Such blissful devotees become very famous worldwide. 2.

What can I offer Waheguru when everything is given by Him? I can only offer my life millions of times. He created me by giving me body, mind, and life; and honoured me, an ignoble, by the grace of the Guru. 3.

Waheguru opened the door of His Palace, called me in, and showed Himself as He is. Now the curtain between Him and me has been removed. I am His (slave), and He has taken dwelling in my mind, oh Nanak. 4.3.14.

What harm can anyone, created by Waheguru, cause to the devotee who is protected by Him? Even a poor man can conquer the whole universe (overcome his desires to enjoy the luxuries of the whole universe). Waheguru's greatness is beyond description; how can I describe it? I am simply a sacrifice for His holy Feet (His Will). 2.

Only that devotee is approved by Waheguru in the world who is honoured by Him. Such a devotee is considered to have recited all the ritualistic mantras, endured all the hardships to please God, done all the meditations, and given countless donations (he does not need any of those). 3. Klut(u) = wife. Mithiya = false; short-lived. Bisthaar = developments; relations. Haiyvur = best horses. Gaiyvur = best elephants. Chaalunhaar = perishable. Rung Roop = beauty; luxuries. Koor = flase. Hoyay Jaasi = will become. Dhoor = dust. 2.

Bherm(i) Bhoolay = misled by misgivings. Baad(i) = worthless. Ahunkaari = conceited. Sung(i) = with. Sugul = all. Pusaari = expanse (wealth; rich belongings). Soag = griefs. Herkh = happiness. Birdhani = old age. Shaakut = money-lover. Bihaani = is spent. 3.

MEANING: Do not blame others (for your troubles), and live with the result of your own deeds, oh man. Your own deeds, performed due to the attractions of Maya, become traps for you, as a result of which you are caught in the long cycle of births and deaths. 1.

The holy saints, whose minds have been enlightened by the Words (Shabads) of the Perfect Guru, have realized the above truth about the deeds done by man. Pause.
Man's body, his wealth, and his wife are all short-lived relations that the man develops. All the best horses and best elephants are perishable, and his reign and worldly luxuries are all false (short-lived) because without Waheguru's Naam, everything else eventually becomes a part of dust. 2. The conceited man is misled by his misbeliefs and does not realize that all his developments (expansions) are worthless, as none is going to accompany him at the time of his death. The Maya-engrossed becomes old among happy and sad occasions, and this is how all his life is spent. 3.
Only Waheguru's Naam is immortalizing in the world, and Satguru possesses this treasure. The devotee, whom Waheguru becomes kind to, sees Him in every heart, oh Nanak. 4.18.19.

Birlay = rare. Bisraam = peace. Bhaaou = love. Keertun = praise of God. Aadhaar = support; food. Nihchul = stable. Bayshoomaar = beyond description. 2. Dig(i) = weaken. Doalaiy = wavers. Ta Ka = of that (God). Unt Na Paraavaar = no end to limits. Goopt = hidden. Paasaar(u) = creation. Sooaad(u) = (sweet) taste. Bismaad(u) = amazement. 4.
MEANING: When a devotee sings Waheguru's praise with a fully focused mind in the company (shelter) of the Guru, he attains the high spiritual state in which he feels all comforts and blissfulness, and no ailment or sad situations, and no rebirth or death. Pause.
He feels as if all five kinds of musical instruments are playing the perfect and mesmerizing Divine music in his ears. The holy saints sing praise of the Perfect Waheguru, which is fully detached from the worldly attractions, and enjoy blissfulness in that state. 1.

Only Waheguru's Naam is recited at the holy gathering of the saints, but only a few rare individuals attain a high spiritual state. Singing Waheguru's praise, and love for all become the mental food and support of life in that state. The devotee's mind becomes perfectly stable (does not waver at all) in that state which is beyond description. 2.
In that state, man's mind does not weaken and does not waver; nor does it wander, but some rare devotee attains this state with the Guru's grace. There is no misgiving, no fear, no worldly attachments, or no traps of Maya in that state. Rather, the devotee's mind stays focused on the compassionate Waheguru in the spiritual state above the effects of Maya. 3.
Waheguru is limitless, and there is no end to His Limits. He is hidden as well as visible in His creation. The transcendence of the devotee who is blessed with the presence of Waheguru in his heart cannot be described. Such a blessing is mesmerizing, oh Nanak. 4.9.20.

Bulihaari = to sacrifice. Oat = shelter. Guhhi = took. Kirpa Dhaari = with kindness. Pause.
Paykh(i) = to see. Jeevaan = survive. Nirmul Raas(i) = holy wealth. 2.
Purrdah = secret; dignity. Kubhoon Na = never. Kurrda = grumble. Kirpal = (the) Kind (Waheguru). Suhaayee = supporter. Duyyal = merciful. 3.

MEANING: I offer to sacrifice my mind for the holy saints in whose shelter I acquire all comforts, and who protect me (against attacks of Maya) with their kindness. Pause.
One thinks of Waheguru as soon as he meets the holy saints, and one achieves mental contentment in their company. I have so much reverence for the holy saints that I wish to place my head on their feet countless times while lying down flat. 1.
I wish to wash the feet of the saints and to drink the wash (a feeling of deep reverence). I live by having sight of the holy saints. I always have the wish to serve the saints, which is my holy wealth. 2.

My Guru covers all my weaknesses, and with His grace, I never have to grumble. It is by the munificence of Waheguru that I enjoy the shelter of the Guru, who is very kind and my strong support. 3. Waheguru is unfathomable and never changes with time. He is the source of virtues, but is beyond limits. He has enlightened my thinking, my mind, and my wisdom. Waheguru raises and nourishes all living beings. I feel blessed to see my Guru, who connected me with Waheguru, oh Nanak. 4.10.21.

Word Meaning: Kaaj(i) Na = of no use. Greh(u) = house; household. Maal(u) = wealth. Bikhaiy Junjaal = tasks related to poisonous Maya. Isht = dear. Meet = friends. Jaan(u) = believe. Chhulaiy = deceptive; illusory. Sung(i) Chullaiy = accompany. 1.
Simrut = by reciting. Laaj = dignity. Jum(u) = Angel of death. Pause.
Bin(u) = without. Niraaruth = meaningless; worthless. Roopa = silver. Maati = dust. Daam = money. Sookha = comforts. Eahaan = here; this world. Oohaan = there; next world. Oojul Mookha = pure (unblemished) face; honourable. 2.
Thaakay = exhausted (without success). Vudday Vudayray = ancestors. Kaaj Pooray = serve purpose. Ta Kee = his. Aasa Poorun = wish fulfilled. 3.
Sunteen = the saints. Apaar(u) = not easily available; precious. Pervaan(u) = approved. 4.

MEANING: The household, the reign, and the wealth are of no use to you after your death; nor are the tasks related to Maya, oh man. Believe it or not, all your dears and friends are an illusion. Waheguru's Naam is the only thing that accompanies you. 1.
Recite Waheguru's Naam, and sing His praise, oh my friend. Your dignity will be protected by remembering Waheguru, and the Angel of death cannot question you. Pause.
All deeds other than Waheguru's Naam are meaningless, and gold, silver and money are like dust for you, oh man. Chant Guru's Shabad, which is the source of all mental comforts, and by which you will have an honourable face (will earn respect) in this world and the next. 2.
Your ancestors worked themselves to the bone to earn wealth, but it did not serve its real purpose (mental peace). If someone recites Waheguru's Naam, all his wishes are fulfilled. 3. Waheguru's Naam is the support of the life of Waheguru's devotees, and the holy saints win (achieve) the prime objective of the precious human life (union with God). Waheguru approves everything that His holy saints do (or wish for). I am a slave of the holy saints, and will gladly sacrifice my life for them, oh Nanak. 4.11.22.

Word Meaning: Sincheh(i) = accumulates. Derb(u) = wealth. Kaaj(i) Na = of no use. Uvraan Joag = for others. Verteh(i) = deals. Jayvurri = chain. Aagaiy = next world. 1.
Vidaani = of others. Taat = dependence upon others. Moorray = oh, foolish. Eehaan = here (in this world). Busna = live. Maatay = intoxicated. Ootth(i) Chulna = have to leave. Raach(i) = engaged; engrossed. Soopna = dream; unreal. Pause.
Bivustha = age. Bhur(i) Joabun(i) = in prime youth. Doorgundh = foul-smelling; sensual enjoyments. Tritiah = third stage; middle age. Birdh = old age. Puchhutaayay = repents.2.
Chirunkaal = after a long time. Doorlubh = not easily available. Dayh = human body. Bihooni = without; devoid of. Khayh = dust. Pushoo = animals. Prayt = ghosts which never find peace. Moogudh = foolish. Boojhaiy = understands. Siree = created. 3.
Deen-Duyaal = kind to the downtrodden. Bundh = worldly bonds. Jug = world. 4.

MEANING: The man hurts other people to accumulate wealth, which eventually does not stay with him and is used by others. Not realizing that, tied up by the chains of his own bad deeds, he will be taken to the next world by the Angel of Death, the blind (of wisdom) man deals with the world in ways that boost his ego. 1.
You are here to spend the night of your short life; so, give up your dependence upon others, oh, foolish man. You are deeply involved in the dream-like world and are intoxicated with the liquor of Maya without realizing that you have to leave the world, oh, ignorant man. Pause.
In early life, a man is a child and is blind (unaware of the purpose of human life). But he begins to enjoy the foul-smelling (toxic) sensual pleasures in the prime of his youth. In the third stage of life (the middle age), the man begins to accumulate wealth, and in his old age, when he is about to leave the world, he repents (that he did not worship God). 2.
The man gets the precious human body (which is not easily available) after a long time, only to have it turn to dust again without Waheguru's Naam. If the man does not understand (makes connection with Waheguru) his Creator, his human body becomes worse than the animals, the ghosts (which never find peace), and the foolish (because they are unaware of God and cannot be blamed for not worshipping Him). 3.

(But the man cannot be blamed entirely because he cannot break his worldly bonds on his own), He needs to pray to the Lord. Oh, kind to the poor, and always benevolent, Waheguru, only You can free the man from worldly bonds; he cannot do it on his own. The world is blind (ignorant about You). Be merciful, and kindly connect it with You, prays Nanak. 4.12.23.

Nanak, Sahib untarjaami. 4.13.24.

Word Meaning: Sunjog(u) = putting together (the basic elements). Kaachh(i) = by measuring and mixing in right amounts (just like a tailor does). Iyaana = ignorant. Raach(i) = keeps busy. Saar(i) Smaaraiy = looks after well. Ootth(i) Sidhaaraiy = leaves the world. 1. Jhootth(u) = false. Raatay = imbued. Tay Subh(i) = all those. Mootth(u) = robbed. Pause. Kerm Dherm = religious rituals. Phaiyl = deeds. Puchaaraiy = to please; to convince. Gut(i) = high spiritual state. Bihoonaiy = without. Chulseh(i) = leave the world. 2.
Tootus = are broken. Putul = curtain. Soadhay = studied thoroughly. Fulaa = rewards. 3. Laaveh(i) = make (to recite Naam). Untarjaami = omniscient. 4.

MEANING: Putting all the basic elements together in the right proportions at the appropriate time, Waheguru creates the human body with which the ignorant man keeps himself busy. He raises, nourishes, and looks after it well, but has to leave the world at the end. 1.
Everything excepting Waheguru's Naam is false (short-lived), oh man. Ignoring Waheguru's worship, all those who are imbued in the love of the other (Maya), are robbed by its attractions, oh man. Pause. The filth of the mind cannot be washed away by taking dips at holy places, and all the religious rituals are deeds only to boost one's ego. One does not attain a high spiritual state by pleasing (or convincing) people. People without Waheguru's Naam will cry when they leave the world. 2.
After carefully pondering the Shastras and the Simritis, I have realized that the curtains of ego (between Waheguru and the man) are not broken without Waheguru's Naam. But only that individual recites Waheguru's Naam whom He makes to do so. Such a devotee reaps all the rewards, and all the comforts come to stay in his heart. 3.
But the man is helpless and cannot do anything on his own; he performs only the kind of deeds which Waheguru interests him in; He is omniscient, and knows the nature of the person as to what kind of deeds match his personality, oh Nanak. So, one needs to pray to Him like this: All the comforts are in Your hand, oh Waheguru; kindly protect me. 4.13.24.

Honoured by the Great Guru, Waheguru's devotees sing His praise, enjoying His blissful taste. They feel as if auto-playing Divine music plays in their mind. Pause.

Because of the good fortune based on his noble deeds of previous lives, a devotee's mind, which had been in the dark for many lives, is enlightened with Satguru's grace. His hatred (jealousy) for others is eradicated in the shelter of the Guru, and he gets imbued in Waheguru's love by body and mind. 2.
The benevolent, guard-like Waheguru protects His devotees without any special service or hard work on their part. With His kindness, Waheguru pulls out His devotees which are drowning in the sea of troubles. 3.
Listening to such benevolence of Waheguru towards His devotees, I have also felt the sprouting of excitement for Waheguru's worship in my mind, as a result of which I am singing Waheguru's praise all twenty-four hours. Singing Waheguru's praise all the time, I have attained the high spiritual state with Guru's grace, and am always in deep meditation reciting Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 4.20.31.

MEANING: Captivated by Maya, the foolish person follows the wrong path (engrossment in Maya) in life. He abandons the jewel-like, precious Naam and trades it for cowrie shell-like, worthless Maya. He makes all efforts to accumulate wealth, which is of very low quality in the realm of spirituality, and which leaves him anyway. 1.
Do you not feel ashamed of yourself that you do not think of the omnipresent and the Perfect Waheguru, which is the sea (source) of all comforts, oh unfortunate man? Pause.
We have seen with our own eyes the sad (spiritual) situation of the Maya-worshipper, who finds Waheguru's Amrit-like Naam bitter and the poisonous Maya sweet. He is pleased (happy) with falsehood, deceptiveness, and his ego, and feels as if he is stung by a scorpion when he hears Waheguru's Naam. 2. He longs for wealth all the time, but never sings Waheguru's praise with his mind or his tongue. The foolish does not love the formless and fearless Waheguru, who is the provider for all of us. 3.
Waheguru is the true Emperor and is the King over all the kings. He is the perfect Sovereign, does not owe anyone any favour (or any taxes like some rajahs have to pay to their emperor). The man, who is deeply attached to the world by the bonds of his misgivings, is salvaged by Waheguru's benevolence, oh Nanak. 4.21.32.

I, too, recite Waheguru's Naam day and night as a result of which I will be honoured in the next world (in Waheguru's Court), and will always be blissful, and will not experience any grief. Also, one never suffers from mental sicknesses such as ego and selfishness. 1.
You can study all situations around you carefully if you wish, but you will find that no power other than Waheguru's Naam can salvage you. No other measure accompanies you; one swims across the world sea only with love for Waheguru. 2.
Some people wash their bodies at holy places, but the filth of their minds does not wash away; rather, they get a boost to their selfishness and ego, and suffer from increased indecisiveness. But a person who takes the medication of Waheguru's Naam gets all his troubles eradicated. 3.
Kindly do me one big favour, and never be forgotten from my mind, oh merciful Waheguru. Please fulfil my wish to humbly serve Your slaves (devotees), begs Nanak. 4.22.33.

I have come to Your shelter, oh the Perfect Great Guru (God); there is no one else like You. You are perfectly omnipotent, oh Waheguru, but only that individual recites Your Naam who has Your full benevolence. 1.
I survive only by reciting Your Naam, and will be given room (will be approved) in Your Court, oh dear Waheguru. The suffering of the darkness of the mind of Your devotees is eradicated, and their ill-advice (evil thinking) is uprooted as they get absorbed in Your Naam. 2.

Like my Waheguru, even His Naam-Treasure has no limits. Pause. Waheguru's Treasure is full of jewels-like precious Naam, and is the source of high morality, service to humanity, contentment, and Divine Knowledge. It is also full of comforts, blissfulness, and compassion. Waheguru has given the control of this treasure to His supreme devotees. 1.
The Treasure can be accessed by singing Waheguru's praise, which is a priceless diamond, and which connects the devotee with Waheguru, and which is an unfathomable sea of virtues and blissfulness. The Divine Word of the Guru in praise of Waheguru is the wealth in the Treasure for which the Guru has the key. 2.
Some people live in mountain caves to worship their deities, but for Waheguru's devotees, their heart is the cave where they sit to meditate in a spiritual state above the effects of Maya, and only the Perfect Waheguru dwells there. The devotees enjoy union with Waheguru in that state where there is no happy or sad occasion, and no birth or death (because the devotee merges into Waheguru). 3. The devotee, whom Waheguru is benevolent to, acquires the Naam-wealth by the grace of the Guru. I pray to Waheguru that His Naam becomes my daily dealings and my wealth, oh Nanak. 4.24.35.

Waheguru is limitless; the Vedas do not know His secrets, nor do the other gods like Brahma. The gods have no idea of His limits. 1.
The gods have exhausted their search for the secrets of Waheguru, and Shiva does not know the ways in which Waheguru operates in the universe. None of the goddesses knows His secrets. Waheguru is above the comprehension of all of the gods and goddesses. 2.
Waheguru performs His amazing feats in the ways He pleases; He Himself connects and disconnects people from Him. As per His Will, some of them are misled in their misgivings, while some others worship Him. He Himself gives the understanding to some (enlightens them) about His feats. 3.
Listen to the eternal advice of the holy saints (the Guru), because they preach only what they have seen with their own eyes (have experienced personally). Noble deeds, or sins, have no effect on Waheguru; He is all by Himself (above everything), oh Nanak. 4.25.36.

Word Meaning: Guou = senses. Chaaray = grazes; keeps under control. Sardool = lion; the strong mind. Kaudi = (worthless) cowrie shell. Lukh = millions. Bukkri = goat (humble mind). Hustee = elephant (like conceited mind). Pritpaaay = nourishes. Nudr(i) Nihaalay = blesses with His kind sight. 1.

Kirpa-nidhaan = treasure of benevolence. Preetum = Dear. Bern(i) = describe. Pause. Deesut = visible. Maas(u) = meat; worldly attractions. Bilaayee = cat; appetite for worldly attractions. Kusaab(i) = butcher; ruthless mind. Chhoori = knife. Voottha = came to reside. Phaathi = trapped. Muchhuli = fish. Jaala = net. 2.

Sookay Kaasht = dead trees; heartless man. Huray Chulool = lush green; kind heart. Oochaiy Thul(i) = tall mound; desert (like heart). Phoolay = bloomed. Kumul Anoop = beautiful lotus flowers. Ugun(i) = fire (of worldly desires). Nivaari = removed; put out. 3. Akirtghunaa = thankless; ingratitude. Oodhaar(u) = emancipation. Duyyaar(u) = benevolent. Suhaayee = supporter. Shernaayee = in the shelter. 4.

MEANING: My dear Waheguru is a treasure (source) of benevolence. He has so many virtues that I cannot count them all. Pause.

When Waheguru casts His blissful sight on His devotee, his otherwise weak mind becomes strong like a lion, and rather than yielding to the worldly attractions, his mind acquires full control of his senses (sensual pleasures). Whereas the devotee was almost worthless like a cowrie shell in terms of spirituality before, he becomes worth millions after Waheguru's benevolence. His mind, which once was conceited like an elephant, now nourishes (adopts) the humbleness of a goat. 1.

Blessed by Waheguru, now the cat-like mind, which always had the appetite for worldly attractions, does not care for them even if they are offered to him; and the former extremely ruthless mind throws away the knife to kill his prey (it becomes compassionate and merciful). The Creator Waheguru gets embedded in his heart, and the devotee is emancipated like a fish whose net gets broken in which it was trapped. 2.

His dry heart comes to life, and blooms as if a dead tree has become lush green, or as if extremely beautiful lotus flowers have blossomed on a tall dry mound. Satguru puts out the fire of the worldly desires of the devotee, and puts him in His service (makes him recite Waheguru's Naam and accept His Will). 3.
My Waheguru is always merciful and salvages even the thankless. He always supports His holy saints, and I am in the shelter of His lotus-like feet, oh Nanak. 4.39.50.

MEANING: I survive by remembering Waheguru (reciting His Naam), who is always forgiving, and who protected me as His slave (against the attacks of Maya). Pause.
Waheguru protected me by killing all of my five demons (lust, greed, etc.), and enabled me to control my ten wolf-like senses. He put me in the shelter of the Guru, where the dizziness of my mind due to the whirlpool-like three effects of Maya has been eradicated, and my birth-death cycle has been terminated. 1.
With the recitation of Waheguru's Naam, and by worshipping His Feet (with full reverence), all my mountain-like sins have been burnt like the dry blades of grass. Now, I see Him in His blissful form everywhere. Worshipping Him with deep love and with a fully focused mind, I am enjoying all comforts. 2.

I swam the huge sea of Maya with such ease, as if the sea were like water in the footprint of a calf. There was no suffering for me at all, and now, I have nothing more to complain about. There is nothing strange (or amazing) about the Creator Waheguru's feats (they are normal for Him); He has taken up dwelling in my heart as if the ocean has been held in a small vessel. 3. When one loses support of Waheguru, he feels as if he has fallen (morally) deep into the underworld, but when he is pulled out, he feels blissful with Waheguru's kind sight. Actually, we have no control over our deeds – sinful or noble – oh, Nanak. I just sing Waheguru's praise while enjoying it. 4.40.51.

Suhaayee = benefactor. Saach(u) Dhunaa = eternal wealth. Pause.
Oonay = incomplete. Kaaj = tasks. Mud(i) = in intoxication. Jhooraiy = repents. Bikaar = vices, immoral acts. Jeeuray Kaiy Taayee = to please mind (senses). Gaaful = unaware; negligent. Tusooaa = a very small amount. 2.

Ruvaal = dust of the feet (humble). Hust Kumul = lotus like soft hands. Lurr(i) Laayay = provides shelter. Saachaiy = in the eternal God. Saach(i) = by His eternal Naam. 4.

MEANING: Neither the body, nor the mind is yours (forever), oh man. (Still) engrossed in Maya (worldly attractions), you are deceiving others. (Unaware of the impending consequences of your actions) You are being playful and having fun like a little lamb. But, suddenly, the cycle of time will push you into the trap of death. 1.
You should take shelter of the lotus-like Feet (Naam) of Waheguru. Recite His Naam, which is always with you to support you; Waheguru's Naam is the eternal wealth which can be acquired only in the shelter of the Guru, oh my mind. Pause.
Intoxicated with lust and rage, one's incomplete objective (union with Waheguru) is never achieved, and the man repents all the time. He commits immoral acts to please his body, but nothing – absolutely nothing, not even his body – accompanies him after death. 2.

The man knows many deceitful acts and deceives people, but eventually gets ash in his hair (earns disgrace) because of such acts to earn pennies. He does not remember Waheguru, who created him, at all, and the greed of perishable things stays in his mind, which always spurs him. 3.
But, when Waheguru becomes kind to someone, his mind becomes humble so as to dust off the feet of the holy saints. Waheguru provides His shelter to the devotee with His lotus-like hands when he merges into the eternal Waheguru by reciting His Naam, oh Nanak. 4.41.52.

Word Meaning: Raja Ram = Royal Waheguru. Shernaayay = in the shelter. Nirbhuou = fearless. Bhuyyay = became. Sadh Sung(i) = with the Guru. Pause.
Bussaiy = resides; has been enshrined. Dootur = difficult situations. Paykhut = see. Suglay = all. Kaaj Suvaaray = achieves objectives. Rusn = tongue. Jupnay = recites. 1.
Mustuk(i) = on the forehead. Undaysha = doubt; worries. Kaahay = why. Chooki = ended. Kaan(i) = any obligations; weaknesses. 2.

Amrit = Waheguru's Naam. Mookh Oojul = clean (pure) face deserving respect. Anund Kurhou = enjoy blissfulness. Tuj(i) = by getting rid of. Bikaar = vices. 4.
MEANING: The shelter of the Royal Waheguru is such that a devotee becomes fearless (like Him) when he sings His praise in the shelter of the Guru, and all his troubles disappear. Pause. A devotee, who has Waheguru (His Naam) embedded in his heart, faces no difficult situations. By reciting Waheguru's Naam with the tongue, he gets all his tasks completed successfully. 1.
Why would a devotee worry about anything when Waheguru places His kind hand on his forehead (blesses him)? His forced obligation (punishment) to go through the cycle of births and deaths comes to an end. I would like to offer my life for such a Guru. 2.
One feels blissful when one comes to the shelter of the Guru, which is a manifestation of God. But only that devotee gets to have a sight of the Guru (serve Him) whom Waheguru is kind to. Such a devotee swims across the world sea (gets salvaged) in the shelter of the Guru. 3.
Drink Waheguru's Naam-Amrit, and go to Waheguru's Court with shining faces (with pure, respectable minds), oh, the dear devotees of Waheguru. Give up all your immoral activities to feel blissful, and get emancipation by reciting Waheguru's Naam, oh Nanak. 4.42.53.

Churn = feet; branches (of trees). Tulaiy = beneath. Aakaash = head (hair like roots of trees). Sindh(u) = ocean- (like limitless Waheguru). Ghut = heart. Pergaash = light. 1. Sumruth(u) = capable; omnipotent. Nimukh Na = not even for a moment. Bisraiy = forgotten. Aatth Pehr = twenty-four hours. Ta Kuou = Him. Jaap(i) = recite Naam. Pause.
Pruthmay = first. Maakhun(u) = butter; Waheguru. Paachhaiy = after. Doodh = milk; world. Maiyloo = the unattractive and the disorganized ingredients to create the world. Saabun = soap which cleans. Soodh(u) = pure; highly beautiful and orderly universe. Bhaiy = fear (of loss or of death). Nirbhuou = fearless; human soul (because it is a part of the fearless God). Hoandi = which has existence. Unhoandi = imaginary; false. Hiraiy = robs. 2.
Dayhi = master of the body (soul). Goopt = hidden. Bidayhi = without soul (body). Deesaiy = is visible. Saaj(i) = creations. Jugdeesaiy = Waheguru. Ttuggunhaar = deceiving (Maya). Untthugda = (which should be) undeceivable (man). Vukkhur = merchandise (wealth of Waheguru's Naam). Ootth(i) Laagaiy = gets attached to (Maya). 3.
Sunt Subhaa = gathering of holy saints. Bukhiyaan = explain. Beechaar(u) = ideas; principles. Perm Gur(i) = supreme spiritual state. 4.

MEANING: Waheguru is so capable of doing any and everything (that His feats are amazing). His devotees do not forget His Naam even for a short moment. You, too, should recite His Naam all the twenty-four hours, oh, my mind. Pause.
(Some of His amazing feats include): Wood contains fire (you can ignite fire by rubbing two pieces of wood hard against each other), yet the fire inside the wood stays away from it (does not burn it). Similarly, the ocean spares (does not devour) the land surrounding it in each direction. Contrary to other living beings, the tree has its feet (branches) above (upwards) and its head (hair like roots) beneath. The ocean-like limitless Waheguru enlightens (fits in) every heart. 1.
Normally, butter is created (made) by churning yogurt (made from milk) i.e. milk is there before its essence, butter, but the essence of the universe, God, is there before its creation - the universe. Like soap removes the filth from clothes, Waheguru used His soap-like laws to transform the unattractive and disorderly ingredients (the five classical elements) to create the beautiful and perfectly organized universe (which includes beautiful mountains, springs, rivers, beautiful flowers of many different colours, green crops, animals and birds of many different colours and shapes, and lovely humans of many kinds, and so on.) The man, which is a part of the fearless Waheguru, should also be fearless, but he is afraid of many things including loss of wealth and of life; and the living man is cheated by the false attractions of Maya, which will not accompany him. 2.

The master of the body, the soul, is invisible, whereas, the master-less body (without the soul) is visible. All such situations are created by Waheguru. The mind-captivating, but false Maya (because it does not accompany the dead) deceives humans who should be undeceivable (as they are a part of God). Without the wealth of Waheguru's Naam, the man gets attracted to Maya again, and again. 3.
If you study the Vedas, the Simritis, the Shastras, and the Puranas, you will find that pondering on the virtues of Waheguru in the company of the holy saints is the only way to attain the highest spiritual state, oh Nanak. 4.43.54.

The man is so misled by the captivating Maya that he seems to have been hypnotized by thorn-apple, and he enjoys sensual pleasures without any thought that he will leave the world without his beautiful palace and all his wealth. Nothing that is visible, including his son, his wife, and his wealth, will accompany him. 1.

He suffers big humiliations because of his malicious criticism of others (holy saints), and goes through many lives because of his evil deeds. His deeds of previous lives do not spare him, and he is snared by the frightening assistants of the Angel of Death. 2.
He lies to the people about his (covers his ignoble) deeds, but practises something entirely different. His appetite for worldly possessions is never satisfied, which always spurs him (to try even harder to acquire them). Because of hurting the saintly people, he develops a tuberculosis-like incurable disease, as a result of which, his body gets rotten. 3.
Waheguru, which created and glorified (honoured) His holy saints, also ensures their acclamation in the world. With His kindness, Waheguru protects His saints with deep love, oh Nanak. 4.44.55.
